FRANKLIN L. DODGE, JR.

Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., pivotal figure of the Remus murder case, came out of his Cincinnati hiding place yesterday to be served with a subpena as a defendant witness. Dodge, a former dry agent, is accused by Remus of stealing his wife's love after sending him to Atlanta for violation of liquor laws. Shortly after his discharge, Remus killed his wife for the alleged infidelity.

A HINDU woman, going back to ancient custom and superstition, insisted on performing the ancient rite of "Suttee," which means burning alive on the fire that burned her husband's body.

While frantic fanatics held back British police, the woman threw herself on the fire and lay burning beside her dead husband, while the crowd yelled its delight. In her agony she rolled from the funeral pyre, holding in her arms the husband's body, which rolled into the river.

RESCUED by police, she would not return to her home for two days, but remained in agony on the spot where her husband's body disappeared. Then more police took her by force. Horribly burned, and neglected afterward, she will probably die.

FOR an admirable, truthful account of horrible conditions still existing in India, forced marriage of little girls nine years old to middle-aged men, and other atrocities, read "Mother India," written by an American woman.

READ also Voltaire's "Zadig," which will delight you. It tells how a wandering philosopher cured the "suttee" habit in one part of India. He told the people he admired "suttee," but suggested one amendment.

Before being burned, the widow must spend two hours with a handsome young man with her.

The crowd missed that "suttee."

YOU may not like to see the Union Jack covering so much of the earth's territory, but the widows and the little girls of India

HOPES AT LOW EBB

Impenetrable mystery late today veiled the fate of George Vogel, chain store owner, of 423 School street, Avalon, who has been missing since November 13.

The death and funeral of his favorite son, Robert, was broadcast throughout the nation, but brought no response from the father.

Wheeling, W. Va., was combed last night and today for clues, city detectives having been told that Vogel had been seen in that city. The "tip" produced no results.

ERIE STORY FLOPS

The story of a North Side man that he had news of Vogel's presence in Erie with the former's wife was not verified by the husband. The wife is said to have reported to city detectives last night that she has not been out of the city and had not seen Vogel since last summer.

Vogel's brothers, who are his associates in business, declare his financial affairs do not furnish a reason for his absence. A local insurance agency today confirmed the story that Vogel had borrowed money on large

TO SELL VET AS SLAVE

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 29.—A World War veteran will be sold into a year of slavery here Wednesday. The auction will be public and will follow closely the procedure used in selling slaves before the war between the states.

A. C. Maddox, 21, veteran of the Argonne, is the man who will be sold to the highest bidder on the Court House lawn.

Maddox offered to do any kind of work for a year and to work long or short hours, just so long as his "owner" provides food and clothing for his wife and five children.

Maddox has tramped the streets of Fort Worth and surrounding towns for months in search of work. And while he tramped his five children were going hungry.

The sight of his hungry children and wife, who have remained indoors for several weeks because they haven't any clothes, finally drove Maddox to sell himself into voluntary slavery.

Notice of the auction has been posted in the Court House and promptly at noon Wednesday Maddox will be sold to the highest bidder.

Wife's "Plot" to Deport Remus Told

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service
Staff Correspondent.

COURTHOUSE, CINCINNATI, Nov. 29.—Mrs. Imogene Remus boasted that she and her alleged sweetheart, Franklin L. Dodge, the former dry agent, would have George Remus deported to Germany, "just like he was when he came, with his little bundle on his back," a defense witness, William Mueller testified at the trial of Remus for wife-murder today.

Mueller, caretaker of the 30-room Remus "Cream Palace" on Price Hill that the one-time bootleg king bought for his bride, said he saw Mrs. Remus and Dodge at the home "several times" while Remus was in prison serving a term for violating the prohibition law.

"The beautiful home was stripped when Remus came back," the witness said. "The works of art were gone—the valuable paintings, the marble settees in the swimming pool—everything. They even nailed the door with spikes and Remus had to climb in through the window."

Describing a conversation he had with Mrs. Remus, Mueller said she asked him to remove a clock from the wall and he refused point blank. He said he told her he would not remove a thing from the place.

"Why not?" she asked, according to the witness. "Don't be afraid, Mr. Remus will never come back here. We're going to have him deported. He is going back as he came with his little bundle."

WETS SEEK $3,000,000 FUND FOR DRY REFERENDUM

REMUS FATE DEPENDS ON STORIES TOLD COURT BY YOUTHFUL WITNESSES

KEEPING TRIM

George Remus, in a Cincinnati jail while his trial for the murder of his second wife goes on, keeps himself physically fit and mentally alert by frequent exercise on the jail roof.

THANKFUL? PERHAPS;

At his prison fare Thanksgiving Day, Remus, fighting death sentence, may have had little for which to be thankful. He knew the worst was coming, that Friday and Saturday witnesses— all of them well under 25—would tell their stories, the stories which would free or convict him.

EYE WITNESS

Aubrey Stewart, 20, stood but a few feet away from Remus' car that morning of October 6, when he chased his wife through Eden Park to kill her.

CHAUFFER

George Klug, 25, drove Remus, his employer, to the park and at the latter's order turned his car in front of Mrs. Remus' cab, forcing it to stop.

HE SAW IT, TOO

Thomas Obatico, 12, the trial's youngest witness, too, was but a short distance off. He saw Mrs. Remus run screaming up the road and fall as Remus shot.

IN DEATH CAR

Ruth Holmes Remus, 20, daughter of Mrs. Remus by a former marriage, was riding with her mother, who was then en route to divorce court.

REFERENDUM DRIVE LAUNCHED BY WET FORCES

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—William H. Stayton, chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, asked financial support from 300 Republican "wets" last night for a $3,000,000 campaign fund to conduct a national referendum on prohibition.

Stayton spoke at a private dinner sponsored by George B. Wightman, New York broker. Other speakers were Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University; former Senator James W. Wadsworth and former Representative John Philip Hill, of Maryland.

While the speeches were not made public, it was understood two main points were stressed. One was for a national referendum to be held along the same general plans of the New York 1926 vote, when citizens overwhelmingly voiced their opinion for revision. The second was for the Republican party at the 1928 national convention to pattern its plank after the 1860 one which proposed giving each state the fullest liberty in dealing with its domestic affairs.

Stayton suggested that a plank calling for a national prohibition referendum be placed in the 1928 platforms of both parties. He also wanted the referendum's results to be used as a basis for future action.

CONVENTION FOR PHILA. URGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis is the latest public official joining the imposing list of Pennsylvanians actively urging that Philadelphia be selected as the meeting place of the next Republican national convention.

In a formal statement yesterday he called attention to the city's facilities for entertaining the convention and expressed the hope that the Republican national committee, which meets here December 6 to decide the question, will send the conclave there. Meantime Philadelphia has taken the lead over other cities in the field by opening headquarters here.

For its convention committee, an elaborate suite has been engaged at the Willard Hotel and the vanguard of a delegation of Pennsylvania's foremost political and business talent has arrived. Between now and the meeting of the national committee next week they plan to do a lot of missionary work.

Although remaining more in the background, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon of Pittsburgh is also strongly supporting the move for the selection of the Pennsylvania city, it is asserted. Senator David A. Reed, along with Gov. John S. Fisher, Senator-elect William S. Vare and W. L. Mellon, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and nephew of the Secretary of the Treasury, will form a part of the official committee to appear before the National Committee next week.

CITY TO CHOOSE BEST DANCERS

Danceland, in the Olympic Theater Building, has been selected to choose the Pittsburgh dance couple that will represent this city in the first annual national dancing championship to determine America's best amateur dancing couple, to be held throughout the nation, starting the first week in December.

More than 40 cities have entered competition. The waltz and fox-trot will be used by the contestants. Prizes aggregating $10,000 are being offered the winners.

The young lady and gentleman annexing the title of "America's Dancing Champions" will be booked to appear in the 10 leading theaters, starting with the Paramount Theater in New York. Each city will hold a 10-weeks' local contest, nine weeks of which will be preliminaries, and each of these nights one winning couple will be selected.

may be glad that flag floats over them—also the miserable cattle allowed to starve to death, because brutalized Hindus think it a sin to put them out of their misery—also millions of "untouchables," human beings kept in horrid misery by India's caste system.

JOHN BULL does what he can to help them all, and actually orders his police to shoot starving, dying cattle—while the Hindu mob yells its superstitious fears.

But John Bull will have to answer for one thing at the judgment day. Protecting Hindus from Mohammedans that would gladly massacre them, curbing the exactions, taxing and vices of the rajahs, and diminishing by millions the number of deaths from plague and famine, has caused India's population to rise from 200,000,000 to 300,000,000. That's a serious responsibility.

ALFRED TUCKER, bricklayer, out of work, and his wife, both past sixty, were found dead yesterday with the gas turned on. Near the man's body was a bank book marked "account closed." Potter's Field and the grave are never closed, so the old couple turned in that direction.

RUSSIA has warned Poland to let Lithuania alone. Germany is supposed to have framed the warning for Russia. Germany would like to get back her territory that Versailles gave to Poland.

LITHUANIA'S army swears to die rather than see Lithuania lose her freedom. Poland assures Britain that she will not interfere with Lithuania.

Russia will attend a Geneva parley, which recalls the scene in Job. "When the Sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them."

Russia will demand immediate reduction of land and sea forces. But Lithuanian news, and news from farther south, would indicate bigger armies in Europe, rather than disarmament.

AT LAST comes the new Ford car and information signed "Henry Ford." It will be shown next Friday, with four wheel brakes, fancy colors, if you want them. And Mr. Ford, knowing that this generation demands speed, has given it sixty-five miles an hour.

THIS car, like the other Ford, will make huge fortunes for Ford and create, as the first Ford did, a greater demand for bigger, costlier cars. Also, as Mr. Ford has said, his new car will not interfere with the business or prosperity of any concern that makes good automobiles.

year's hectic pennant race and through all of the dismal world series.

The tears were for Earl (Sparky) Adams, the gamest and most lovable little diamond warrior that ever lugged a bat to home plate. Sparky has wormed his way into the hearts of Cub fans as no player has done in recent years, with the possible exception of Grover Cleveland Alexander, now the property of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Cuyler, it is believed, will soldier under "General" Joe McCarthy, the manager who last year piloted a run-down Cub machine to within a stone's throw of the flag. McCarthy has a knack of handling temperamental folks. Had his talents run in that vein, undoubtedly he would have been a director of opera.

McCarthy's master stroke last year was the appointment of the clownish Charley Grimm, another Pirate castoff, as captain of the Bruins. At once Charley's irresponsible antics were tossed aside as an old robe and he assumed the mantle of dignity befitting a major league baseball captain.

McCarthy knew Grimm could play baseball—if he would. He figured a sense of responsibility would bring it out. It did. Local fans believe Master Joe will get the baseball out of Cuyler that this great star is capable of playing.

Sparky Adams, like the great Alex, was more than a mere ball player. He was a Chicago institution. It was hard to think of the Cubs without thinking of the cocky little lead-off man. Because of his abbreviated stature, Sparky worked the pitchers for more free tickets to first base than any man on the team.

But it made little difference to Sparky whether he "walked or rode." He was a natural hitter and few came over in the groove that didn't receive expert attention from the little infielder. It is certain he will be welcomed and liked in Smoketown. In this connection, Chicago's loss is Pittsburgh's gain.

On the other hand, less sentimental fans were overjoyed at the thought of Cuyler in a Cub uniform. After all, baseball is a hard, practical business with the winning of pennants and world series the big problem in hand. Local experts, despite the loss of Adams, feel that Cuyler will furnish just the needed punch to change the Bruins from a third or fourth place club to a pennant winning aggregation.

life insurance policies just prior to his disappearance.

When Vogel failed to appear yesterday for the funeral of his son, Robert, who died Saturday of peritonitis, the hopes of his family for his safety were at low ebb.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL

An impressive service was conducted by the Rev. O. H. Milligan, pastor of the Avalon United Presbyterian Church, in the Vogel home yesterday afternoon. No mention was made of the missing father.

Floral tributes from high school comrades and friends of the family filled two rooms in the house. After the services the junior class of the Avalon High school, of which the dead youth was president, formed a lane from the home to the street. Down this lane, the casket was carried by eight members of the high school football team, of which Robert was a guard. The cortege to Uniondale Cemetery stretched for six city blocks.

Mrs. Mabel Vogel, wife of the missing man, collapsed at the grave. Mrs. Sophia Vogel, of Beechview, the youth's grandmother, accompanied the procession to the cemetery, although she was unable to leave the automobile of William H. Vogel, another son.

PAY BOOST TO SELVES WORRIES COUNCILMEN

To raise or not to raise—
That is the question worrying Council.

It would not be so bad if the question affected only police, firemen, white wings, park florists, filtration foreman, engineers, assessment clerks and other city employes who want pay boosts. The Mayor could say "No" and blame it on Council, while Council could say "No" and blame it on the Mayor.

VERY, VERY SERIOUS

But the question this year is far more serious, because it affects the members of Council themselves. Four members who were elected in November are, under the law passed by the 1927 Legislature, eligible to increases from $6,500 to $8,000.

The four members—Winters, Anderson, Alderdice and Garland—want the raise. The other five, who would like to get it themselves but can't because the law requires them to serve their terms and be re-elected before they are entitled to a boost, are willing to give it to their colleagues, but are wondering what the reaction will be from the city employes whose wage requests are turned down and from the taxpayers whose levies are boosted.

NO OTHER BOOSTS

The budget to be submitted to Council tomorrow by the Mayor provides an increase of $38,500 in the appropriation for Council and the city clerk, which is reported to include the amount necessary to raise the salaries of the four councilmen. It is understood that no other increases are allowed for in the budget. More than 50 requests for pay raises have reached Council, the latest at yesterday's meeting being requests from the rate and assessment clerks of the Board of Water Assessors, the park florists and the filtration plant employes.

The 1928 appropriation and tax bills—in blank—were present yesterday.

1 Dead, 15 Hurt in Wreck

DAYTON, O., Nov. 29.—(AP.)—One man was killed and 15 persons were injured, some seriously, when a Big Four passenger train, the Ohio Special, New York-to-Cincinnati, and a Big Four freight train collided at a street crossing this morning. The diner and four Pullmans of the passenger train were derailed. The diner and one Pullman upset and the engine and two cars of the freight overturned.

The dead man is Michael Sullivan, 40, of 43 Manning street, Medford, Mass. Sullivan died a few minutes after he was received at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. His skull was crushed.

formed the autopsy. Both said the victim's face was in perfect repose, showing no signs of fear, anger, fright, nor of any strong emotion.

The witnesses said that in cases of sudden death emotions showing on the face at the time were "carried over" into death. This testimony was adduced by the state to break down the defense of the victim's widow, who with Willis Beach is charged with the murder, that the killing was done by two Negroes.

Mrs. Lilliendahl asserts that the Negroes forced her to drive into a lane, attacked her and then shot her husband. The state contends that if such had been the case some sign of emotion would have been found "frozen" on the victim's face.

Frank Harrold, chief county detective, told of questioning Mrs. Lilliendahl for several hours after the crime. She told him, he testified, of her ride with her husband after he drew $25 from his bank, and of the attack she asserted two Negroes made on them.

She said she fainted, and when she revived the Negroes were gone, her husband was dead and her rings and wrist watch were missing. She said that a ring, a watch and $200 had been stolen from her husband. Later, the detectives said, she contradicted herself on some points.

He then identified a woman's pocketbook found in the Lilliendahl car at the scene of the crime. The pocketbook contained four $5 bills, two road maps and other articles. On both the maps there was a pencil mark at the spot where Dr. Lilliendahl was killed. These marks, the detective said, were on the maps when the pocketbook was taken from the car.

City Finds Lost Bonds Left to Poor

Twelve thousand dollars in city bonds of 1907 issue, the interest from which was used to buy bread and potatoes for the poor, as provided in the will of J. D. Hailman, were located this morning when city officials, headed by Mayor Charles H. Kline and City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, opened a safety box at the Peoples Savings and Trust Company.

Mr. Hailman left the bonds to the city with the stipulation that the interest be used for buying food for the needy, but before their maturity all trace of the securities was lost. City Controller John Henderson discovered that Mr. Hailman had turned over a safety box in the Peoples Bank to the city, but the key could not be found. It was finally decided to break into the box and the officials made arrangements with the bank for the search this morning.

The bonds will be turned back into the city treasury and new bonds purchased with the money to carry out Mr. Hailman's instructions.

Mark Coming of First Cross-State Train

Today is the seventy-fifth anniversary of the operation of the first railroad train between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. On the evening of November 29, 1852, at the little Pennsylvania depot at Liberty avenue and Twelfth street, there arrived a locomotive hauling several cars and coaches with weary passengers who had made the trip all the way from the Quaker City.

The train was greeted by waving of trainmen's lanterns and cheering of crowds gathered to witness the arrival of travelers who had journeyed across Pennsylvania in a day.

Two days later regular trains were put into service. One of these, the Fast Line, left Pittsburgh at 3:30 a. m. and made the trip to Philadelphia in 22 hours. It was one of the speediest express trains in the world at the time. The other train left Pittsburgh at 11 a. m. and made all stops

CHARGES OF INTRIGUE SUPPORTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Dr. Alejandro Cesar, Nicaraguan minister to the United States, yesterday read the secret treaty which Mexico made with the Sacasa rebel government as published in the Hearst newspapers and declared it to be authentic.

Immediately after publication of its text in the Morning Herald, Dr. Cesar went to the State Department and was closeted with Secretary Kellogg for almost an hour.

At the conclusion of the conference he refused to make any statement except informally and to write a brief note for the Hearst newspapers.

This note, in the minister's own handwriting, and on the letter head of his legation, said:

LEGATION DE NICARAGUA.

Nobody can deny the full support given by the government of Mexico to the revolution of Nicaragua, headed by Dr. Juan Bautista Sacasa and Gen. Jose Marca Moncada.

(Signed) ALEJANDRO CESAR.

Dr. Cesar then said informally:

"I have seen the original draft of the treaty and it is real. Every possible effort is being made to prevent the United States from building the Nicaraguan canal and at the same time destroying friendship between your government and ours. It simply can't be done."

These statements were issued regarding the article published Monday morning by the New York American and associated Hearst newspapers, revealing the text of a secret treaty between Dr. Sacasa and the government of Mexico.

This treaty provided for the moral, financial and physical support to the Sacasa revolution by President Calles and the Mexican government. In return Sacasa promised that on getting control of the Nicaraguan government he would abrogate treaties providing for an American canal and an American naval base.

Further disclosures by the Sun-Telegraph and associated Hearst newspapers will be published tomorrow. This article will be of an extremely sensational nature, revealing the draft of a secret treaty between Mexico and a world power.

Father, Son Fight to Death With Fists

By Universal Service.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Nov. 29.—Locked fast in each other's grip, both dead, a father and son were found in their room here last night. They had battered each other to death with their fists, their only weapons.

The father, Richard McNally was 74, his son, John, 34.

They had lived together in amity for 15 years in a Methuen street lodging house. No one may ever know what brought on their titanic battle to death.

A maid entering their rooms early today found them.

The father's gnarled old hands were locked, in death, about the throat of his dead son. Bruises, cuts and weltering bumps on their bodies were mute evidence of the terrible punishment they had inflicted on each other.

Smashed beds, overturned furniture, blood-spattered walls, ripped carpets, and other mute evidence testified to the herculean fight they had waged.

The medical examiner said, after viewing them, that the burly son had been the first to die. He was dead an hour, with his father's hands about his throat, before the latter succumbed to the battering he had received.

More Money, Not Teeth Wanted in Dry Acts--Will

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 29.—See by the Arizona morning papers that the biggest bunch of drys ever collected are staggering into Washington to try and keep Congress from nominating Al Smith. If he is elected it will take away millions and millions of dollars now appropirated among them for law enforcement. It's not more teeth that's wanted in enforcement acts. It's more money. Arizona is fat and prosperous and all set for another winter's argument on the dam.

WHAT! NO HOLIDAY? STUDENTS MAKE ONE

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 29.—Refused a holiday to celebrate a football victory, Waynesburg High School students marched out of chapel yesterday and staged a parade through town. They also took the afternoon off and participated in a banquet to the football team last night. They were all back in school this morning.

GANG WAR FLARES IN CHICAGO

By International News Service.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Gangland of Chicago told the world today there is no peace within its ranks.

Bombs hurled in three resorts and the murdered body of a victim "taken for a ride" were mute evidences today that the flight of "Scarface Al" Capone and his cohorts had brought no cessation of hostilities among the war factions of the underworld.

The newest victim of gangland warfare was identified today by cards and papers in the pockets as Ferro Carmen of Chicago. He was shot twice, the bullets, steel-jacketed, lodging in his brain. The body was discovered on the outskirts of Chicago's beer territories.

That the victim was "in the money" was indicated by the fact that a bankbook showed deposits of $5,000 made monthly and receipts indicating he had purchased two automobiles of a type favored by gangsters.

WILL RUSH BLVD. EXTENSION

Determined to push the construction of the Boulevard of the Allies extension as rapidly as possible, the Department of Public Works tomorrow will advertise for bids for the roadway, Director Edward G. Lang said today. The estimated cost is $220,000. The director added that advertisements for bids for the viaduct foundations, estimated to cost about $150,000, would appear next week.

Plans of the art commission to change the plans in some details for decorative purposes will not delay construction, the director said, stating that these plans could be submitted to Council and, if that body wanted to spend the additional money, be advertised independently.

EX-POLICEMAN'S BRIDE

DUCHESS SOPHIE CHARLOTTE

The duchess, divorced last year from Prince Eitel Friedrich, the ex-kaiser's second son, has married Capt. Harald von Hedeman, until recently a Potsdam police officer. Von Hedeman was once an officer of the Royal Dragoons.

JAWORSKI GANGSTER WAIVES

MONTREAL, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—Stanley Bodziakowski, confessed member of the Jaworski bandit gang, wanted in Pittsburgh on two charges of murder in connection with holdups involving loot totaling $174,000, waived extradition when arraigned in court yesterday. He was arrested here Friday by two detectives and a Pittsburgh police officer.

Gunman Shoots Wrong Man; Begs His Pardon

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—Being shot by mistake is just as painful as being shot on purpose, Henry Keller says.

Keller, a night watchman, was walking out of a South State street restaurant last night when a shot seared his leg. Falling to the sidewalk, he looked up to see a man and a pretty woman standing over him, a smoking weapon in the man's hand.

"My goodness, that isn't the man!" the woman exclaimed.

"Excuse us," said the man, and the couple fled.

Keller was taken to a hospital.

Love for Woman, Drugs Huber's Downfall

A tale of a youth's love affair with a married woman 11 years his senior and his downfall through drugs, despite pleadings of his family, has been revealed by relatives of Herman Huber, accused of the murder of Mrs. Nellie G. Mahler in a West End apartment yesterday.

After shooting Mrs. Mahler through the heart, Huber shot himself in the head. He is under police guard at the South Side Hospital, and Homicide squad detectives say he has confessed shooting Mrs. Mahler in a fit of jealousy. Huber, it is expected will recover.

Harking back 11 years when Herman, just 18, had his first job driving a passenger bus in Carrick, Gus and Christ Huber, this morning, told of their brother's meeting Mrs Mahler, wife of a well known Pittsburgh business man. When his parents heard of the affair, the brothers continued, they tried every means to "break it up." Finally, after several years, Huber straightened out, the brothers said, and married another woman. They had a child and apparently Huber was content with a quiet home life. Later he went back to Mrs. Mahler again, they said.

Gus is a building contractor and Herman had been working for him as a carpenter. Yesterday, about an hour before the shooting, Herman telephoned his brother that he would not report for work unless the weather cleared.

"I know there was no murder in my brother's mind when he talked to me," Gus declared. "Herman could not kill anyone in cold blood the way they say he did."

The accused man has three brothers and two sisters besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Huber, Sr., who are visiting in Florida, having intended spending the winter in the south.

CLASSMATES -:- PAY HOMAGE -:- TO YOUNG VOGEL

MANY OFFER TRIBUTE

BELIEVED FOOTBALL VICTIM

"Old Bachelor's" Santa Claus Letter

Editor, Sun-Tele:

Your Toy Mission Auxiliary, I am sure, can help me out of a dilemma and I am enclosing $1 for the purpose. Believing that I could do my share toward collecting a few discarded toys for the Mission, I searched all day, but failed miserably. Nothing was available and I am going to ask you to use the money in buying a few new toys for poor children. After all, I think this is the better scheme because you know what is most needed and can buy to better advantage. So any pretty thing you can get goes with the best wishes for a Merry Christmas from

AN OLD BACHELOR.

WOULD CHANGE HOME CONTROL

An ordinance designed to place the Stephen C. Foster home under the direct control and supervision of the Mayor and to create an advisory committee to advise him as to its management was presented to Council yesterday. The committee would be composed of one member each from the Art Commission, Pittsburgh Chapter American Institute of Architects, Pittsburgh Architectural Club, the Tuesday Musical Club, the Musicians' Club, Pittsburgh Musical Society, Western Pennsylvania Historical Society, the Garden Club of Allegheny County and the Civic Club of Allegheny County.

Try This Before Making Engine Repairs

CHECK the ignition and look the spark plugs over whenever the engine falls short of the fine performance that it once had.

Many times expensive repair bills are incurred when all that was needed was a new set of spark plugs. All spark plugs in time deteriorate, and need to be replaced.

When you buy spark plugs, be sure to insist on AC—the make on which Lindbergh, Byrd and other great flyers staked their lives.

You, too, can have the same spark plugs.

32 degrees colder than a cake of ice, yet easily started with this marvelous new winter medium oil

THIS winter will bring you many days when icy coldness is ready to thwart your starter's good intentions. Are you prepared for them? There are two ways: You can use light, thin oil ... and sacrifice adequate lubrication. Or, you can profit from the most remarkable motor oil development of the year and have easy starting and efficient lubrication—both!

For the first time in automotive and refining history, you can obtain a medium-bodied oil as easy starting as any light, thin oil: Atlantic Winter Medium. And being a paraffine base oil, there is no question as to its capacity to withstand the most severe onslaughts of friction.

Ordinary paraffine base oils have one shortcoming: They thicken at low temperature. But by new Atlantic processes the waxy substances which cause this tendency are removed. Cold does not handicap Atlantic Winter Medium; motor heat does not break down its body.

Use Atlantic Winter Medium—you'll spare yourself both the annoyance of hard starting and the danger of insufficient motor lubrication.

Atlantic 600 Transmission Oil
—a companion for Atlantic Winter Medium

A lubricant for transmissions and differentials that is quite as remarkable as Atlantic Winter Medium is for motors. The extraordinary fluidity at zero of Atlantic 600 Transmission Oil, combined with its stability of "body," makes it an ideal lubricant at any weather temperature. Gears shift easily on coldest days.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Not Like Medicine

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine. Perfected by the famous Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle.

ORPHANS COURT RULING HERE REVERSED

A petitioner in one county may adopt a minor child of another county, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled yesterday in an opinion reversing the Orphans Court of Allegheny County on the appeal of Jacob and Mary Heasley.

Lester Welch, convicted here of first degree murder, was refused his appeal. The Supreme Court handed down a number of opinions, many in appeals from Allegheny county, whose courts were reversed in only four cases, as follows:

Thompson's adoption, Heasley et al., appellants, Orphans Court; McSorley vs. Avalon School District, appellant; Terminal Coal Corporation vs. Pennsylvania Railroad, appellant, and Gibbons vs. Pennsylvania Railroad, appellant, Common Pleas.

DEFENSE ASKS NEW TRIAL IN BANKRUPT CONSPIRACY

"The court erred in sustaining the government's objection to the question put to Witness Joe Rabinovitz on cross examination, 'Do you believe in the hereafter?'" is one of the 42 reasons advanced in a motion for a new trial for Benjamin, Max, Abe and William Sheinman, Meyer Luber and J. Fireman, recently convicted in the Federal District Court on a charge of conspiring to conceal assets from a receiver in bankruptcy. Rabinovitz, a defendant in the same case, pleaded guilty and appeared as a witness for the government.

SYRIA MOSQUE,
December 1st—8:15 P. M.

JOHN McCORMACK has been called "the favorite singer of three continents." There is no singer whose appeal is so nearly universal as that of McCormack. He sings the simplest ballad or the most difficult aria so as to reach the hearts of a multitude. You can hear his singing in all its perfection by going to any dealer in Victor products. You will find there, captured and reproduced on the new Orthophonic Victrola, the haunting lilt of his voice and every tone and modulation that makes McCormack unique. Ask particularly to hear "Just For Today" Partridge-Seaver (1281). You will enjoy this experience!

Gentlemen:-

Owners of the new Marmon Eight are inevitably enthusiastic about its amazing flexibility in traffic and its almost unbelievable economy of operation.

We never hesitate to recommend to all owners, the constant use of AMOCO-GAS because we have found, that this product produces even better results than are claimed.

For a car that unmistakeably outstrips the best of them on the get-away, a car that gets to the top of its speed range with one thrust of the foot, a car that snaps in and out of traffic jams with ease -- in other words, for a Marmon 8- we know of nothing to equal AMOCO-GAS in providing the maximum efficiency of operation.

Very truly yours,

STATIONERY

Of Rare Distinction

There are fine and dainty French papers for women, some of them subtly tinted and accented with colored borders, with plain or fancy lined envelopes. These come in boxes most of which are in themselves worthy of note. Some simulate books; some are of leather; all are decidedly artistic.

American papers, with parchment, kid, or linen finish are popular with many women and most men. Horne's has a splendid assortment of this sort of stationery, in addition to their extraordinary imports.

Prices vary with kind and amount of paper from $1.00 to $20.00 box.

Plea of 20 Neediest Draws Response

Moved to pity by the sorrowful condition of the 20 destitute families whose cases, reported by the city's foremost social workers, were described in The Sunday Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburghers have set about relieving their distress, and, so far as possible, making it a "Merry Christmas" for them. They adopted the most effective method; they sent money. The contributions now commencing to trickle in will continue, and increase in amount as the great Christian festival draws nearer and men and women direct their thoughts more and more to the example of charity set by the Savior whose birthday is to be celebrated.

The need is acute, and nothing will serve more effectively to relieve it than checks and money orders. One inquirer yesterday sought the names and addresses of the unfortunate for whom this plea is being made, saying she would like to pay them a personal visit. The charitable organizations reporting the cases say such a procedure is not desirable.

The public may rest assured that the genuineness of the poverty, of the suffering of the families in question has been fully authenticated, and that funds contributed to their welfare will be spent on necessities under the supervision of experts in such matters.

The organizations vouching for "The Twenty Neediest Cases" are the Associated Charities, the Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor, the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America.

Contributions should be made payable to the "Twenty Neediest Cases Fund" and sent to The Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., or to any one of the charitable organizations named. The contributor may designate a particular case to which the money is to be applied, or leave the gift undesignated, in which case it will be distributed pro-rata among the societies concerned.

The 20 cases represent every sort of misfortune in which monetary relief is imperatively required to save respectable families from despair. There are cases of widows and deserted wives desperately slaving in an effort to keep their children out of asylums and hospitals; cases of old couples overtaken by sickness and accident who, unless aided, will have to separate and go to the poor house; cases of youngsters deprived of most of the joys of childhood, and forced to maintain the family because of the disability of the father. Heart-rending cases, all of them, and deserving the sympathy of everyone.

All of the 20 cases were described in The Sunday Sun-Telegraph. One case will be repeated each day. Here is Case No. 2:

Mr. Z is one of the thousands who have found it impossible to secure steady employment because of industrial condition over which he has no control. Until two years ago he was able to support his wife and seven children, the oldest 14, in standards of health and decency. His wages were always low, but his wife was frugal and he was faithful to his obligations, and with difficulty they maintained their independence.

With the arrival of a serious period of unemployment and another child, the family were bound to accumulate debts, reduce the amount and quality of their food, and eventually seek help.

Case No. 3 will be described tomorrow.

How 20 Neediest Cases Money May Be Sent

Designate the particular case you wish to help.

Checks or money orders should be made payable to the "Twenty Neediest Cases Fund" and sent to The Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., or to the following co-operating organizations:

The Associated Charities of Pittsburgh, Fulton Building.

The Catholic Charities, Diocese of Pittsburgh, Wabash Building.

The Volunteers of America, Volunteer Building, Pittsburgh.

WIFE PUT HIM OUT OF THEIR NEW HOME

After Cyrus H. Young had built a beautiful home at Nutley, N. J., his wife, Mrs. Igna Young, ordered him out, he charges, and now Young, manager of the Young Sales Company, is suing for divorce. He alleges cruel and barbarous treatment. Mrs. Olive P. Johnston, 1726 Davidson avenue, New York, testified before Judge Thomas J. Ford that Mrs. Young humiliated Young in public, was extremely jealous of him, slapped his face, threw things at him and accused him of paying attention to other women—all of which Mrs. Johnston said was untrue so far as she knew. Young lives at Webster Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston were friends of the Young's, the two families visiting each other.

Although she is contesting her husband's divorce suit, Mrs. Hester Stewart Maher admitted to Judge John A. Evans that she had accompanied a man named Dugan to an Oakland rooming house, representing herself as Mrs. Dugan. The room was rented for a week. Joseph R. Maher, the husband, lives at 735 North Beatty street. He says he found Dugan in his home one night.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

ON LOVE—AND OTHER TRIFLES

LOVE is like the Solar System. Nobody ever knows all about it; and just as you think you have got it down to a science, you make another startling discovery, which upsets all your theories.

A man is never quite sure that he wants a lifelong lease on a woman's heart until he discovers that some other man has an option on it.

Almost any woman will voluntarily confess little sins to her hairdresser that she wouldn't even admit to the Lord, in her prayers.

HELEN ROWLAND

No man falls in love, and few are lured into it; most of them are SHOVED into it by fate, boredom, loneliness, or "the woman before the last."

The feat of every woman's life is to keep the "tie-that-binds" just elastic enough to permit a man to feel free to roam, and just firm enough to jerk him back to safety at the psychological moment.

When a woman says "No," she may mean "Yes;" but when she says "Ho-hum!" she means "Goodby!"

A girl, to the modern youth, is merely some place to park his kisses and sort of localize his wobbly emotions.

Two people in love with each other seem to get an awful kick out of "pitying" all the rest of the world.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.
U.S. Senator from New York

Keep Things Out of the Baby's Mouth

ON the train where I am writing this are a number of babies. Really they are an unusual lot, as good looking a group as you would find in a baby show.

DR COPELAND

This morning in the dining car I heard one of the mothers ask for "certified" milk. She is determined that her baby shall have nothing but the very best.

To have good milk, whether certified or not, should be the rule in every household. It is the rule in every household where there is a well-informed mother.

The measure of a civilization is the fate of its babies. Where they are given the best care is where the type of civilization is highest. Whenever a nation awakens to the necessity of hygiene and sanitation, its first efforts are directed to infant welfare.

Watching the babies on this train has made me realize more than ever what a magnetic place a baby's mouth really is. To it is attracted every loose object within reach. It is the center of gravitation.

Only an hour ago I saw an anxious mother pry open her youngster's mouth in order to extract from it what looked to me like a package of needles. That is too indigestible a diet for any child!

Some of the most dreadful accidents with which doctors have to deal are the cases where little children have gotten hold of caustic soda, lye or other corrosive poisons. Terrible burns, not only of the face, but of the mouth and gullet have resulted.

One of the painstaking duties of the mother is to keep her baby safe from every harmful thing that can be brought to the mouth. Frequent surveys of the infant's surroundings are essential to its safety.

Railroad trains are not expected to be immaculately clean. It pleases me, however, to see what pains these good mothers take to keep these little hands clean as possible. It is important to do this, because in the absence of anything else to thrust in the mouth, in goes one fist and sometimes two.

It is too bad to become mysterical over "germs" and to be in a fever of anxiety for fear some harmful beast of this sort may attack the child. It is well to recall, though, that disease is brought that way. On this account, cleanliness is of the greatest importance.

The plaything of a tiny child should be too big too swallow and of such materials that they can be washed and made clean. You don't want your youngster sucking some dirty, filthy object. See to it that clean things are within reach.

Babies are not discriminating. You must be depended upon to see that their discrimination is unnecessary. Within reach of your young hopeful you should leave nothing which you are unwilling to have gravitate to that rosebud mouth. Sure as fate that eager cavity will house every object within reach.

Answers to Health Queries

M. N. Q.—How can I gain in weight? I am a woman of 26, 5 feet 2 inches and weigh only 100 pounds.

2.—What is the cause of cold hands and feet?

A.—By building up the health in general. For further particulars send self addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. You should weigh about 115 pounds.

2.—Due to poor circulation, and with better health this will also improve. Massage and application of heat will give increased comfort in the meantime.

Now They Restore
Off-Color Teeth
To Dazzling Whiteness

Accept 10-Day Test of This New Way That $100,000 Movie Stars Use and Dentists Widely Urge

DON'T believe your teeth are naturally "off color." You can restore them quickly to dazzling whiteness; your gums to healthy coral color.

There is a new way. A scientific dentifrice called Pepsodent that dentists widely urge. It clears off the dingy film that coats and dulls your teeth. The film that absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. That invites germ growth, tooth decay and gum troubles.

You can feel that film with your tongue. A slippery coating on your teeth. Old-time dentifrices don't remove it successfully. That's why brushing thus far has failed you.

Gleaming, glorious teeth are beneath that film. Clearing it off will change your whole appearance.

To prove results, send coupon for 10-day tube free. Or obtain large tube for few cents at your druggist. Do this now for your own sake.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, November 30.

The essences in man's sidereal body are intimately related to the essences of the stars, but man is master of his own soul.
—HAZELRIGG.

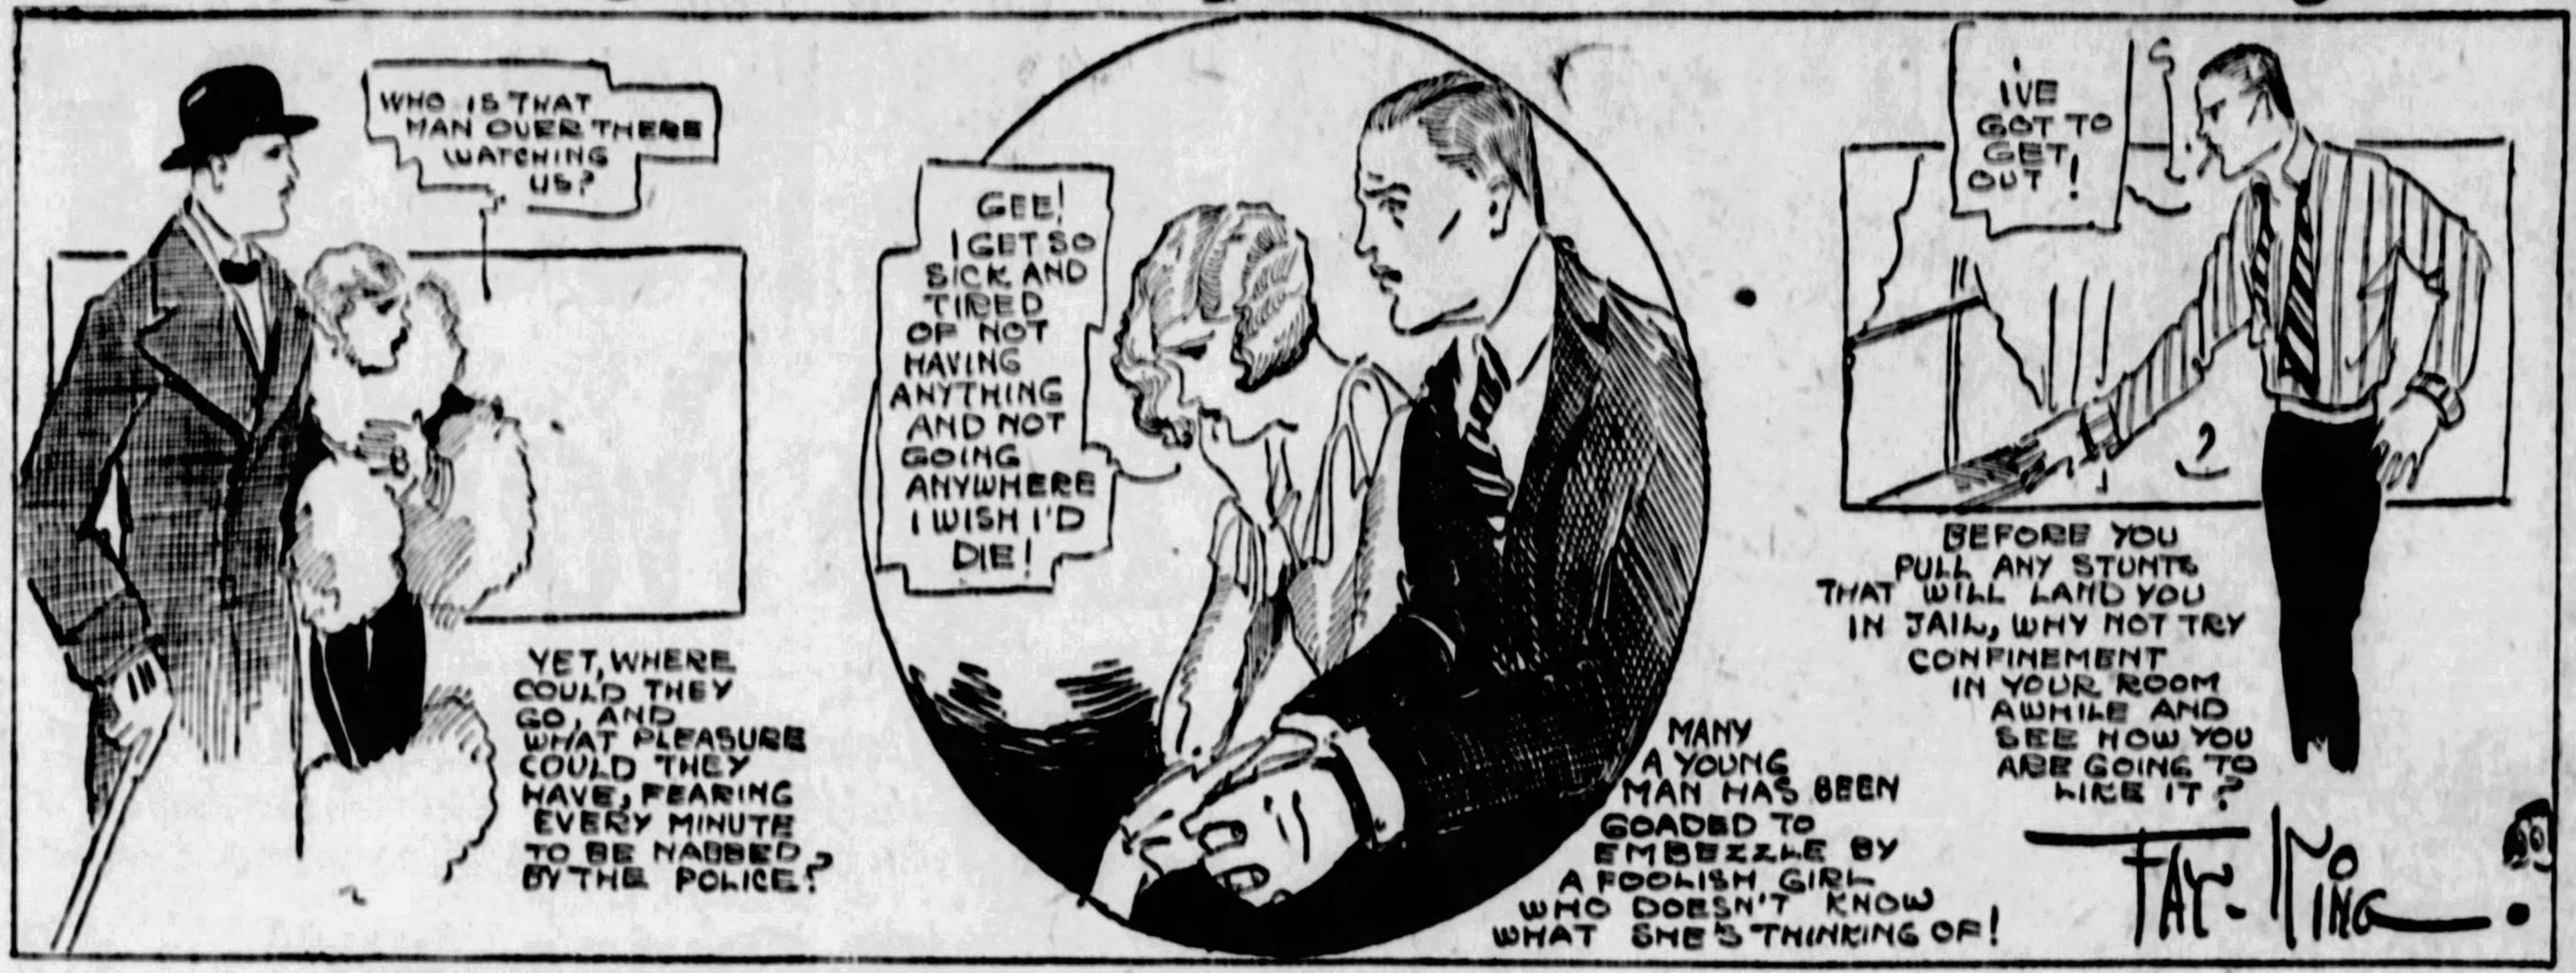
THE general trend of affairs for this day may be variable and unsettled, owing to the affliction of Mercury by the Moon. This holds an admonition against attempting important matters relating to writings, publishings or promotion and urges caution in signing all papers or agreements.

However, a fairly favorable Jupiter gives financial assistance to properly managed affairs. In domestic, social, romantic and artistic affiliations all should flourish.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year calling for good management of the affairs, particularly those pertaining to contracts or writings. Wisely conducted, there may be some financial success, and all pertaining to domestic, social and affectional as well as artistic activities should thrive.

A child born on this day should have splendid artistic and social qualities and should be popular and lovable. But its education should stress the value of veracity and honor.

Fay King Offers Simple Cure for Dishonesty



WHO IS THAT MAN OVER THERE WATCHING US?
YET, WHERE COULD THEY GO, AND WHAT PLEASURE COULD THEY HAVE, FEARING EVERY MINUTE TO BE NABBED BY THE POLICE?
GEE! I GET SO SICK AND TIRED OF NOT HAVING ANYTHING AND NOT GOING ANYWHERE I WISH I'D DIE!
MANY A YOUNG MAN HAS BEEN GOADED TO EMBEZZLE BY A FOOLISH GIRL WHO DOESN'T KNOW WHAT SHE'S THINKING OF!
I'VE GOT TO GET OUT!
BEFORE YOU PULL ANY STUNTS THAT WILL LAND YOU IN JAIL, WHY NOT TRY CONFINEMENT IN YOUR ROOM AWHILE AND SEE HOW YOU ARE GOING TO LIKE IT?
FAY KING

By FAY KING.

"WHY did I do it?" is a question the crook asks himself as well as those interested in his downfall.

And in nearly every case it is safe to say that if he had it to do over again he would not!

Why do men take that step that is bound to mean misery and unhappiness not only to themselves but to those who are dear to them?

Impatience and lack of foresight, it seems to me, are the two prevailing influences.

They cannot wait to earn honestly what they think they want most! They do not stop to think of the consequences at the time when it can help their decision most!

Another factor is often the discontent of some one they love. A wife, or a sweetheart, who does not realize that her constant harping for pretty things and gay times makes him desperate to secure for her at any cost these things she thinks will mean so much to her!

It would seem to me a good plan if these deluded people were to give themselves a test of what is in store for them.

It would be a great preventive! For instance, if a young man, before he does anything which is sure sooner or later to land him in jail, would try locking himself up in his room for a week or so.

Here, in very much more agreeable surroundings and comfort than he will have for a much longer time in hands of the law, he will soon find that he wants nothing so much as just the freedom of walking the old familiar streets. The simple little luxuries of the movies, his favorite magazines and a smoke with his pals.

And during this test the girl who loves him will also learn that she is happier just to see him that she would be with all these things she imagines she wants so much and might have at the cost of his liberty.

FOR THE LOVELORN

Raving Beauty

DEAR MISS GALE:

I quite disagree with you on the smoking, petting and drinking questions, as I know I owe my great popularity to those things. I am quite attractive, so I have been told, am popular with both sexes and am old enough to know how to take care of myself. I wanted to say that unless a girl is very attractive I think she has to drink, smoke and pet in order to be popular.

RAVING BEAUTY.

Yet admit, then, that your only charm for boys is your willingness to pet and drink? Why not try to prove your attractiveness by winning a real popularity without resorting to these measures?

A Friend

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your wonderful column for some time. I am a young girl and I have been keeping company with a young man for about a year. One evening he told me he would steal my heart and then a week or two later he asked me if he could have my heart and I answered him "If you do not break it." The question is, would you think he has proposed to me in that way.

A FRIEND.

No, my dear, don't consider that casual small-talk a proposal. Don't take it for granted that a man wants to marry you until he says so in plain English.

Seemee

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a young girl of a high-standing family. My sisters have friends among the opposite sex, but I do not seem to be able to make the boys like me. If I smile at them or talk to them they think I am running after them, and nothing is farther from my mind. There are several boys of whom I am very fond, though they think I am of no concern. I agree with you on the problem of petting, and I cannot bear girls who chew gum and use bad English. Please print my letter, for I am anxious to know your reply.

SEEMEE.

Are you sure you don't imagine that boys think you are running after them. Be friendly and you will win friends.

Sour, Acid Stomach May Cause Ulcers

When your stomach is sour; when painful gas is causing distress, you can be sure that your stomach has turned acid—that this acid is inflaming the stomach lining, making it sore and raw.

It's a dangerous condition. A double-corrective is absolutely necessary to guard against ulcers, gastritis and chronic acidity.

That's why thousands have given up old-time preparations which merely deaden the pain. They've turned to pure, harmless Bi-nesia, which not only neutralizes acid instantly, thus quickly stopping the pain, but it is also the one remedy which soothes, heals and protects the delicate stomach lining. Bi-nesia tablets or powder cost but 50 cents of any druggist and quick, safe relief and unconditional satisfaction are guaranteed or your money back.

An Adorable TALKING SLEEPING DOLL only 99c
A Full Regular $3 Value

WE have made thousands of youngsters happy with these big sleeping and talking dolls and we would like to include your daughter. Go to your neighborhood BUTLER STORE and ask for a doll card. When you have purchased $10 worth of merchandise the BUTLER MANAGER will give you one of these wonderful dolls for 99 cents. Understand, please, your purchases do not have to be made all at one time. The card carries your record till it amounts to $10, then, as a Butler customer you become entitled to the doll at this special low price. In any other store the price would be about $3.

We are making this unique offer because we want to acquaint more women with the quality and service of the BUTLER GROCERIES. Once you have discovered what a pleasure it is to trade in a BUTLER STORE—the courteous treatment we accord our patrons and the genuine savings we offer, you will become a confirmed Butler patron.

FUNNY FOLK MEET IN BOOK

rocks, in stories, for children. Sometimes they were good, sometimes they were bad. Always, they entertained.

And then came the recent era of comic characters. Artists with varied claims to humor caricatured and exaggerated the drawing of more serious artists. They tickled the funny bone. Children especially liked them.

And now—we have comic peoples, living in houses made on newspaper pages; doing comic things every day of the year, amusing children by the millions, and older folks as well.

Most prominent among all the artists perhaps, are those who draw the Hearst newspaper comics. McManus, who does Jiggs; DeBeck, creator of Barney Google; Hoban, who does Jerry; Hershfield, of Abie-the-Agent fame—these and the dozens more of the Million Dollar staff—contribute daily and Sunday to the merriment of the nation.

They are all represented in their merry antics in "All the Funny Folks." Ask your newsdealer for a copy, and remember, it's only 69 cents. If more convenient to you, write the circulation manager, attaching the coupon and money as directed in an advertisement in this issue of the Sun-Telegraph.

Atlantic City, N. J.

A New Scale of Rates at

CHALFONTE-HADDON HALL
ATLANTIC CITY

UNTIL February 10, 1928 a newly revised schedule of rates prevails. The same luxurious accommodations and gracious, friendly service continues—lowered rates are the only change.

Many of our friends prefer the restful fall and winter seasons at Atlantic City. The weather is delightfully mild and a wealth of recreational facilities are always available.

You will find that these rates are most attractive. Schedule of rates and illustrated folder on request. For immediate reservation phone Marine 4444, (Chalfonte) or Marine 1400, (Haddon Hall) and ask for the Room Clerk.

How long will these repairs hold us up?

IN any industry, "time out" for break-down of power units is an important consideration. From the headquarters of a big power company comes this tribute to Westinghouse service:

.... we expect to get this machine back on the line the first of the month, which will be something of a record, as I do not believe a 20,000 kw. machine was ever completely rewound, as well as the iron re-treated, in 30 days before.

Yet this is typical of the performance of any Westinghouse Service Shop. Westinghouse has men, equipment, resources, to serve you speedily and thoroughly—in motor repairs as well as in power plant repairs—day or night.

VOTE TALLY BOARD ENDS WORK TODAY

The work of the returning board tabulating the vote cast at the last general election will end today. Members of the County Salary board met yesterday in the County Commissioner's office and set the salaries to be paid members of the board. Clerks will be paid $10 a day, watchmen, $7, and clerks $1.50 an hour for overtime. The cost of tabulating the vote, according to Judge H. H. Rowand, will not exceed $9,645.

Growing Children

sometimes require a tonic as do their elders

"Dear, I want you to know now that S.S.S. has been used for over 100 years—it is made from fresh roots and herbs—growing children sometimes need a tonic, as do their elders—it is helping you, and I want you to take it regularly before each meal."

Try S.S.S. and you will be surprised how quickly your appetite improves. If you are tired, run-down and listless you owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished. S.S.S. is time-tried and reliable, and is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

TRAFFIC IN NEW TUBE HEAVY

Taking an exception to a statement made by County Controller Charles C. McGovern several weeks ago that the Armstrong Tunnel was useless and that no one used the tubes, County Commissioner E. V. Babcock at a Commissioners' meeting today read a report on traffic through the tubes. From 7 o'clock the morning of November 11 until 7 o'clock the morning of November 18, 1,481 pedestrians, 4,681 automobiles, 1,204 trucks and 185 horses passed through the tunnel.

JUVENILE COURT NEEDS FUNDS

Juvenile Court is "in the hole" $75,721. Miss Grace L. Stokes, chief probation officer, informed the County Commissioners. In a letter to the Commissioners, Miss Stokes asked that this amount be appropriated to meet present obligations of the court.

The appropriation authorized by the Commissioners to operate the court this year was $372,000. Miss Stokes asserted this amount was insufficient. She informed the Commissioners that outstanding bills amounted to $87,721, and only $12,000 remained from the original appropriation. The Commissioners held the matter over for further discussion.

IS BURIED FROM DREAM HOME

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—For years Frank W. Dittman and his wife, Hazel, have planned the home they were going to build. Finally the contract was let, but Mrs. Dittman fell ill before the house was finished and went to the hospital. When the home was completed Dittman moved into it secretly. Thinking he would surprise his wife by taking her from the hospital to the home they had planned for so long.

But Mrs. Dittman did not live to see the dream house. Her funeral was held from it yesterday.

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT THE NEW FORD CAR

Complete details of the new model will be available this FRIDAY in this city

FRIDAY of this week will unquestionably be one of the most important days in the entire life of the automobile industry. On that day, complete details of the new Ford will be available in this city.

You will be surprised when you get the facts about the new Ford car, for you never have dreamed that such a really fine car could be produced at a low price. As Henry Ford himself says—

"The new Ford car embodies the best results of our experience in making 15,000,000 automobiles. We consider it our most important contribution thus far to the progress of the motor industry, to the prosperity of the country, and to the daily welfare of millions of people."

The new Ford car is distinctly a new and modern car, designed to meet new and modern conditions. It is more than a new automobile. It is the advanced expression of a wholly new idea in modern, economical transportation.

An entirely new car in every respect

The minute you see it—ride in it—you will realize that it is not a mere refinement of the former model T Ford, but a new car from radiator cap to rear axle! Many features of it are exclusive Ford developments. Some are wholly new in automobile practice. There is nothing quite like it in quality and price.

The new Ford car has unusual beauty of line and color. . . . It has a 40-horse-power engine. . . . It will do 55 and 60 miles an hour with ease and has actually run 65 miles an hour on road tests. . . . It is quiet and smooth-running at all speeds. . . . It is remarkably quick on the get-away. . . . It has specially designed mechanical four-wheel brakes. . . . It has hydraulic shock absorbers. . . . It has a standard, selective gear shift. . . . It is quick and easy to handle in traffic and steady and sure on the open road. . . . It runs 20 to 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline, depending on your speed. . . . And it has the stamina and reliability that you need for mile-after-mile and year-after-year service.

The new Ford car has exceptional beauty of line and color. It is, in every respect, a new and modern car, designed and created to meet modern conditions.

The new Ford car will sell at a surprisingly low price

When you think of such features as these, you think instinctively of a car costing much more than the new Ford. The low price is as unusual as the appearance and performance of the car itself.

The low prices of the six body types are undoubtedly lower than you thought they would be when you first heard that Ford was making a new car. They are, in fact, lower than we thought they could possibly be when we started to make this car.

We determined to bring new comfort, beauty, speed, safety, economy and reliability within reach of everybody who drives a car, and then forced ourselves to find ways to make the low prices possible.

The new Ford car is the result of years of careful planning. Every part of it has been tested and retested in actual practice. There is no guessing as to whether it will be a successful model. It has to be. There is no way it can escape being so, for it is the sum total of all we have learned about motor car building in the lifetime of the Ford business.

The new Ford has unusual speed and power. It will do 55 and 60 miles an hour with ease and has run 65 miles an hour on road tests.

Some of the features of the new Ford car

In this connection we call your particular attention to the new engine; the new pump, splash and gravity oil system; the multiple dry-disc clutch; the new pump and thermo-syphon cooling system; the new battery, coil and distributor ignition; the low center of gravity and minimum unsprung weight which combine with the hydraulic shock absorbers to make the new Ford such an easy-riding car; the irreversible steering gear, with the column and the housing of the steering gear mechanism welded into a single all-steel unit; the seamless, all-steel torque tube; the new one-piece, welded, steel-spoke wheels; the three-quarters-floating rear axle in a forged-steel housing of exceptional strength; the theft-proof coincidental lock; and the aluminum pistons which were selected after many tests because of their light weight and heat-conducting qualities.

Steel forgings are used throughout except, of course, for the engine castings. More steel forgings, in fact, are used in the new Ford than in almost any other car, regardless of price.

"The new Ford car embodies the best results of our experience in making 15,000,000 automobiles. We consider it our most important contribution thus far to the progress of the motor industry, to the prosperity of the country, and to the daily welfare of millions of people."

Henry Ford

WE ARE able to sell this new Ford car at a low price because we have found new ways to give you greater value without a great increase in our own costs. Because we own our own ore mines, coal mines and timber lands and the source of most of our raw materials. Because we make virtually every part used in the new Ford car. Because it is the Ford policy to make a small profit on a large number of cars, rather than a large profit on a small number of cars.

There is nothing like it in quality or price

No other manufacturer can possibly duplicate the new Ford car at the Ford price because no other manufacturer does business the way we do. The public made this business possible. We believe we should share our profits with the public by continually giving greater and greater value for the money.

There are good and substantial reasons, therefore, why the new Ford car is the most unusual value ever offered in a low-price car.

By all means, learn about the new Ford on Friday when it is officially announced in this city. You will know then that there is nothing quite like it anywhere in quality and price.

CONSTIPATION SAPS VITAL STRENGTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings quick, natural relief!

Don't permit faulty elimination to undermine your health. It is the cause of widespread suffering and pain. Dizziness, spots before the eyes, headaches, sleeplessness—are just a few of the symptoms of this scourge.

Guard against it. Prevent it in the way that is nature's own method of combating illness. By including plenty of healthful "bulk" in your daily meals.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Kellogg's is 100% bran or "bulk." It accomplishes results no part-bran product can equal. That is why doctors recommend it.

Serve ALL-BRAN often. Two tablespoonfuls daily — in chronic cases, with every meal. Delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey for an extra treat. Mix it with other cereals. Use it in cooking. Appetizing recipes on every package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

Ann Accepts Invitation For Georgie, and Then Regrets the Action.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ann and Georgie Hastings, sisters, live together at Mrs. O'Leary's boarding house. Ann, the elder, works in a factory, and Georgie in an insurance office. Ann is proud of her sister's good looks and charming manners. She thinks it would be a good thing if Georgie married Bill Warren, who has no money but who is madly in love with Georgie. Bill shows Ann the engagement ring he has bought for Georgie. A strange young man drives Georgie home in a smart car, and Ann hears her planning to meet him the next day. She pleads with her sister not to make chance acquaintances and speaks enthusiastically about Bill Warren. The same evening Georgie refuses Bill's offer of marriage. Ann is furious when she hears about it. Georgie resents being bossed and Ann wonders how she could best safeguard her sister.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

THOUGHTS like these filled Ann's head, but they were not uttered. And as the week wore on, Georgie's coldness perciptibly melted. It was a wonder she had been able to remain cold for so long a time.

The one fear that Ann had had was removed. She had wondered whether Bill Warren might take his rebuff seriously enough to disappear, give up, and try to find some other girl.

But Bill was not like that. Ann heard Georgie talking to him over the phone at Mrs. O'Leary's. She was kidding him, laughing cheerfully enough. Apparently they were still on the best of terms, and Bill's determination was unquestioned.

It was on Friday in the factory that Jimmy McCormick came to her desk, shortly after she had begun her work.

"A friend of mine from upstate is in town," he said in his slow, heavy way. "He's staying with me, see, and before he goes back he wants a party. Now I am thinking that maybe you and your sister would like to go' out to Hollis Park tonight with us."

The suggestion was so abrupt that Ann found herself answering in the affirmative before she even had time to consider it.

It was easy enough for herself. Hollis Park was fun—particularly on a Friday night. But she had answered for Georgie, too, without even consulting her.

She managed to get home a little earlier than usual, and Jimmy had told her to expect him with his friend, Rob Jerome, about 6. Then they would all go somewheres and have dinner.

Ann brushed her hair and waited for Georgie. She heard her come running up the stairs at last. Georgie always ran. She was always in a hurry.

Briefly Ann explained the invitation.

Georgie's clear eyes explored her face. "I'm too tired," she said promptly. "Really, I am. I've got a headache. I'm going to take a hot bath and go to bed."

"A headache, Georgie. But you look awfully well. You don't think you'd feel better if you—"

Georgie interrupted with a laugh that was the least bit scornful.

"You're funny, Ann. You object if I go out with anybody in the world except that silly Bill Warren, but when you get hold of somebody else, it's all right."

"I don't think Bill Warren is silly. And this is different," Ann answered.

"Well, if you think so much of Bill, why don't you go out with him yourself!"

Ann didn't answer, but she was a little pale. Then Georgie's petulant expression faded. She became contrite.

"Oh, Ann, I'm horrid. I know it, too. I don't mean to say things like that—mean things. Only I can't help it. Won't you forgive me?"

Forgive Georgie? Who could help forgiving her anything when she could be repentant so charmingly. She looked like a child, her face with its sweetness, its half sorrowful eyes, pleading in a way that would have touched any heart.

"No, it was my fault. You stay right here, and go to bed. I'll get Jimmy on the phone, and tell him you can't come along. We'll find someone else for his friend."

When she did get in touch with Jimmy at last, he told her he was just starting out. She explained what had happened, and Jimmy fell into one of his silences.

"Well, I'll see what I can do," he said at last.

It was nearer 7 than 6 when he reached the house. Ann hurried out to meet him. He was in a cab, sitting up very straight and uncomfortable as if his clothes were too starched for him. Poor Jimmy—he didn't know how to enjoy himself. Pleasure was a painful duty.

Rob Jerome turned out to be a small dapper young man with bright eyes, and in the first minute he gave his measure. He had a line, a wise-cracking humor. It was plain he thought himself tremendously entertaining. Even in the flash of greeting, Ann wondered what he had in common with the silent, stolid Jimmy, with his painful shyness, his blunt honesty.

Sitting in the cab was a girl whom Ann knew—a girl from the accounting department at the factory, Ellen Davis. And if there were one person in the world whom Ann would have preferred not to go out with, it was Ellen.

She was kittenish with men, and catty with women. And for some time it had been clear to Ann that she had taken a mysterious dislike to her. She was very blonde, and she had a way of laughing over nothing.

"I know the cutest little place in [illegible]," she said, "Chinese food—real Chinese food, and little booths—it's lovely."

She laughed as if at a joke, and Rob Jerome joined her.

"Yours for Chow Mein," he said, "so long as it's chow."

They were well suited, Ann thought, but it was a strange sort of party, Jerome and Ellen, talkative, flippant, full of meaningless jokes, and Jimmy and herself, rather silent, as if vaguely uncomfortable in the presence of an empty gayety.

"I guess I'm just serious and dull," Ann thought, but she smiled to herself. And somehow for the first time she was drawn a little to Jimmy's quiet, straightforward personality.

They ordered a quantity of food in the restaurant Ellen had recommended, and now it was clear enough that she was carrying on a tremendous flirtation with Rob Jerome.

The Chinese restaurant boasted an orchestra. Jimmy didn't dance, however. When Rob had danced with Ellen, he dragged Ann off immediately. Circling the room, her eyes fell upon the booth where Jimmy and Ellen were now sitting alone.

Ellen wasn't flirting now. But she was leaning forward, and her eyes were intense, almost feverish. As Ann glanced, she saw Ellen's hand slide across the table, and touch Jimmy's. It was a touch that could be withdrawn swiftly, or take advantage of the least encouragement.

Then Ann realized Ellen's flirtation with Rob had been as meaningless as her laughter. Her face told her secret. She was in love with Jimmy. So that was why she hated Ann!

When Ann returned to the table, Ellen was smiling and chattering away again.

"Don't let's go to Hollis Park. It's always the same thing. I know a swell place to dance."

"But," Jimmy protested, "I don't dance."

"That's all right. Rob can dance twice as much and I'll sit out with you and hold your hand."

She giggled, but there was no mirth in the gaze which she suddenly swept on Ann. In her eyes there was a challenge and a deadly hostility.

CHAPTER VII.

ANN was more bewildered than disturbed.

She had no wish to quarrel with Ellen Davis. But now the memory of a hundred different remarks, glances Ellen had given her, little signs, returned to her memory.

So that was why Ellen hated her—on account of Jimmy McCormick. Funny, how tangled life was! Ellen was crazy about Jimmy, and because he liked Ann instead, she hated Ann.

All at once Ann wished she had not come, wished she had managed to turn down Jimmy's invitation tactfully. The evening was ruined, now that she knew the relationship in which they all stood.

And Jimmy's friend, Rob Jer-

Speech Lost From Fear of Court, Boy Dies

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—Morris Mazelus, a 21-year-old election clerk, is dead from a rare malady of the brain, brought on by fright.

The young man suddenly lost the power of speech on September 26 when summoned before Judge Audendried to explain an apparent discrepancy in the vote count. He died two days ago without regaining his speech.

Mazelus appeared terrified when hailed into court. As he faced the judge the power of speech suddenly left him. A police surgeon diagnosed the case as temporary amnesia due to fright. Mazelus was taken to a hospital, where he lay in a daze for two weeks, refusing nourishment. Until his death his mind functioned only occasionally, and then feebly.

WILD ABOUT HER!

ANN REMARKED, "Bill Warren's wild about you." And Georgie retorted: "Oh, he'd be wild about anybody."

RAID REVEALS GANG MURDER LETTERS

Letters which police claim throw light on the murder of Natali Donnia, 25, killed in a bootlegger war in Sharpsburg last September, were found when an old stone house in Sisca street, Sharpsburg, was raided as a moonshine plant early this morning.

Two suitcases full of letters and papers were found, and among them, police say, were letters pertaining to the Donnia murder.

FIND STILL, MOONSHINE

A 150-gallon still, 100 gallons of moonshine and 58 barrels of mash, confiscated by the police, were turned over to prohibition agents.

Donnia, who, police say, had conducted a still near Verona, fell out with his partner, John Fawdell of Thirty-eighth street. On September 26, as Donnia left a house at Eleventh and Canal streets, Sharpsburg, he was shot from a passing automobile.

COURT ORDERS ACQUITTAL OF BRENTWOOD GROCER

R. C. Crabbe, Brentwood grocer, was acquitted Monday in Criminal Court on a charge of violating the pure food law. E. P. Jones of the State Health Board made the charge, alleging that Crabbe had added water to oysters which he offered for sale. Judge Darr, before whom the case was tried, gave binding instructions for an acquittal. Attorney George P. Murray represented the defendant.

Imported Whisky Vanishes---Law Says 'Too Bad'

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Whisky, illegally held, isn't worth a dime a barrel in the eyes of old John Law, according to a United States Supreme Court decision today.

Lee Gouch of New York sued the Republic Storage Company for loss of 27 barrels of fine whisky which he had stored with it. The New York Court of Appeals held that the whisky had been imported illegally and, therefore, had no legal property value. Gouch, as the law viewed it, stored away 27 barrels of nothing and could collect nothing.

The Supreme Court refused to review the decision.

TWO ACQUITTED IN MURDER

Tobias Murphy and Joe Pandaglia, both of Scottdale, were acquitted of murder yesterday in Criminal Court on a verdict directed by Judge Frank E. Reader of Beaver, because of insufficient evidence. They were tried in connection with the death of Frank Romano, 29, of 1320 Gilmore street, following an explosion and fire in the store of Nick Sollas at 1205 Carson street November 1, 1926. Sollas was acquitted of murder May 5 in a directed verdict. A charge of arson was nolle prossed.

WARN CITY TO GUARD TOTS

An unusual increase in the severity and spread of diphtheria during the past 90 days has led the Department of Health to greatly extend its prevention campaign, so far as that disease is concerned, Dr. R. G. Burns, director, announced today. The increase seems to be general over the United States.

From January 1 to November 1 this year, 1,056 cases of diphtheria were reported in Pittsburgh, as compared with only 475 cases during the same period last year, Dr. Burns pointed out, adding that the rise has been apparent since May and has increased steadily since September. The death rate from this cause is higher than normal, also.

"Protection against diphtheria can be obtained very easily by the use of the toxin-anti-toxin administration, which, long since has passed the experimental stage and universally is indorsed and used," read a statement issued today by the health department, in which parents were urged to have their children inoculated.

The health department, in addition to maintaining a clinic for the purpose in room 642, City-County Building, on Mondays, Wednesday and Fridays between noon and 1 p. m., today announced the establishment of the following 15 sub-stations:

Andrews School, 410 Ella street, Saturday, 10 a. m.

Goodwill Settlement, Twenty-eighth street and Liberty avenue, Saturday, 10 a. m.

Hazelwood School, Second avenue and Tecumseh street, Saturday, 10 a. m.

Heinz Settlement, East Ohio street, Saturday, 9 a. m.

Kaufmann Settlement, 1835 Center avenue, Saturday, 10 a. m.

Kingsley Settlement, 220 Larimer avenue, Saturday, 10 a. m.

Knox School, Manor and Brownsville avenue, Saturday, 10 a. m.

Lawrence Park Play Ground, Twenty-sixth and Butler streets, Saturday, 10 a. m.

North Side Community Settlement, 800 Union avenue, Saturday, 10:30 a. m.

Soho Baths, 2404 Fifth avenue, Wednesday, 9 a. m.

Stevens School, South Main and Sanctus streets, Wednesday, 10:30 a. m.

Washington Park Play Ground, Bedford and Logan streets, Saturday, 10 a. m.

Webster School, 706 Reedsdale street, Wednesday, 10:30 a. m.

Wickersham School, Carson street, near Thirtieth street, Saturday, 10 a. m.

Wood Run Settlement, 3033 Petosky street, Saturday, 10 a. m.

TWINNY TWINS

WIN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA TITLE

Paul Culbertson and his sister, Mrs. Pauline Powell, of Long Beach, were adjudged the "twinniest" twins of Southern California in a contest at the Moose circus, Los Angeles. They look alike, act alike and even think alike, the judges said. Georgia P. Bullock, chairman of the judges, is presenting the twins with a trophy cup.

SAW PLANE "IN TROUBLE"

By ROBERT L. WIPER,
International News Service Special Correspondent.

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov. 29.—That he was the last person to sight the U. S. Army airplane carrying the ill-fated Pilot E. R. Emory and Mechanic William D. Zollman, whose bodies were found in the wreckage of their plane in the Uniontown mountains, was revealed today by J. W. Latchem, prominent Charleroi businessman, upon his return here from a trip which carried him into the dense summit woodland.

Latchem, on a prospecting trip with Ike Haines, of Higginsville, W. Va., had pierced the forests nine miles east of Uniontown on Friday afternoon, when they heard the drone of an approaching airplane.

Much to their surprise the plane flew so low that it only missed by a few feet the tree tops and the mountainous promontories.

Latchem and Haines waved to the fliers and they waved back. The motor of the plane was not functioning properly. Once, while the slow-moving plane was still within view, the engine, Latchem said, "died out" almost entirely but again "pop-popped" back into life.

Once Latchem declared he believed the fliers called down to him, but the attendant noises of the engine drowned out the fliers' voices.

The heavy timber growth prevented the men from keeping the plane in view.

"The plane was so close that we could easily distinguish the faces of the two pilots as they leaned over and gazed down upon us. I have never seen a plane flying so low nor so slowly.

"We believed the plane was about to land," Latchem continued, "but an examination around our location showed that no spot was available for a safe descent."

The plane circled over the men once before it set out on a northwesterly course.

Dentists Convene Here

CARE IN CHILDHOOD

Stress was laid at the meeting of the Odontological Society of Western Pennsylvania on the importance of guarding the teeth of children, that they may be spared dental trouble when they grow up. The boy in the chair is Junior Russell, aged 6, and the attendants are Miss Helen DuFresne and Dr. M. F. Bowers.

one, got on her nerves with his perpetual wise-cracks, his air of saying something funny when he was saying less than anything.

But nothing of what was passing through Ann's mind showed in her face with its quiet, sympathetic expression. She listened to Rob Jerome with a smile, did not let Ellen see that she knew, and managed somehow to draw away from Jimmy and leave him to Ellen.

"If I could ever be fond of Jimmy," she thought, "it would be different. But Ellen really loves him—and he doesn't really love me. He just likes me a little."

She thought of Georgia, and then she smiled, realizing the difference between her and Georgie. If Georgie were her and in her place, she would not let Ellen Davis take Jimmy from her without a terrific struggle. Georgie didn't need to like a man to want to interest him or hold him. She would have fought him just as hard as if she were in love with him.

"But I'm different," Ann reflected, frowning a little as she always did when thoughts of her sister and herself filled her mind. "I suppose all I really want is peace, and all Georgie wants is excitement. And then Georgie's always falling in love—she'd probably be in love with Jimmy for 10 minutes anyway. I probably never will fall in love at all!"

"Why the sigh, little gal?" Rob Jerome demanded. "Remember, I'm strong for you, and there's no use sighing when you think of that!"

The meal was over, and they lingered, drinking more of the flat, tasteless Chinese tea.

"On to Hollis Park!" Rob shouted. "I'm going to make a night of it. I'm a country boy in the big city and I'm out to see life."

"Oh, don't let's go to Hollis Park," Ellen drawled. "It's always the same."

"Well, where would you like to go?" Jimmy asked.

"What about Big Chief dance hall? They've got a swell orchestra there."

"I don't mind," Jimmy answered slowly, "but then you know I don't dance."

"Darling Ann and I will take turns sitting out with you," Ellen answered. "And we'll send home young hopeful there on a stretcher, all worn out from the first exercise he's taken in two years."

So that was why Ellen didn't want to go on to Hollis Park. She wanted the chance to be alone with Jimmy, and the dance hall would offer her that.

But Ann merely nodded. "Perhaps it would be a good idea," she said. Let Ellen win him, let Ellen have her chance—she wouldn't stand in the way!

With the two girls in agreement, Jimmy and his friend yielded promptly enough to the new plan.

From the Chinese restaurant, with Ellen acting as guide, they managed to find Big Chief Dance Hall. It was on the second floor of what had probably once been a warehouse. But in the hall itself, lights and brilliant decorations created a cheerful atmosphere.

They had arrived early and as yet the floor was uncrowded.

Ellen's hand was under Jimmy's arm; already she had the air of having annexed him. So it was that Rob Jerome caught hold of Ann and literally dragged her off in the first dance. He danced well, and he had numerous fancy steps that were interesting to follow. Just the kind of man who would dance well, Ann thought, exactly as stolid, diffident Jimmy was the kind who couldn't dance at all!

They came back to the refreshment booth where Ellen and Jimmy were sitting.

"Go right on," Ellen drawled, "I don't feel much like dancing tonight. Go on with what you were saying, Jimmy. It was awfully interesting. . ."

But Jimmy's brown eyes rested on Ann with an intense and almost sorrowful look, as she joined Rob once more. Across Rob's shoulder she saw him watching her still, not listening to Ellen, chattering desperately at his side.

Was it possible that Jimmy really was deeply in love with her?

In love with her a little, yes; but not really helplessly, burningly in love, Ann decided. And if you weren't in love that way, you weren't in love at all. Why, Jimmy was so silent with her—if he were really terribly fond of her, he'd have told her so in all sorts of ways, wouldn't he?

And the way his face flushed dully sometimes when he stared at her, the way a slight tremor passed over him when she was close to him—things like that were merely indications of his shyness.

But all during that dance, she thought of Jimmy, and though she was afraid of making a fool of herself, of thinking a man in love with her because he was a trifle interested, she knew at last, without knowing how, that Jimmy McCormick really adored her.

Then she felt angry and confused and pleased and disturbed all at once, for she was perfectly sure she could never love him. "If I ever do fall," she reflected, "it will be all at once and right away and I've known Jimmy for two years."

The music ceased. Rob and Ann made their way back to the table in the booth once more.

Jimmy cleared his throat. "Look here, Rob," he said awkwardly. "You've got to see that both these girls have a good time. You take Ellen out next."

Ellen's pupils contracted, and her mouth went downwards in a sharp curve of anger. But her look of hate was not for Jimmy who had said those words but for Ann who had inspired them.

Then all at once, she gave a little sound, a sound of pain.

"What's the matter?"

"Oh, my head—it hurts. It just started throbbing. I shouldn't really have come out. Do you mind if I go home. Jimmy— you don't dance—you could take me home, couldn't you? That wouldn't spoil the evening for Rob and Ann."

* * *

Ann gazed at her with clear eyes. She read the lie easily enough. It was just one more desperate attempt to take Jimmy away, to be alone with him, to do her best to enchant him, if only by the trick of calling up his sympathy.

And naturally it was impossible for him to refuse the request she had just made.

The evening was ending before it had begun, and ending badly. Again Ann wished that she had not come. Well, this way she would probably get home sooner herself. Not much fun dancing with Rob Jerome, especially when she already had read his intention to kiss her, to make love to her, the first moment they were alone.

She watched Ellen get up, her fingers against her head, saw Jimmy's hand protectively supporting and guiding her.

Rob Jerome at her side suddenly gave a snicker. His shrewd, too-wise eyes rested upon them with meaning.

"That dame is some actress!" he announced. "Poor old Jimmy! . . . Well, there's still you and me—and the night's young!"

But Ann was not listening to him. She scarcely heard what he said, or noticed his smirk. She was staring with startled eyes at the occupants of a booth across the room!

To Be Continued.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

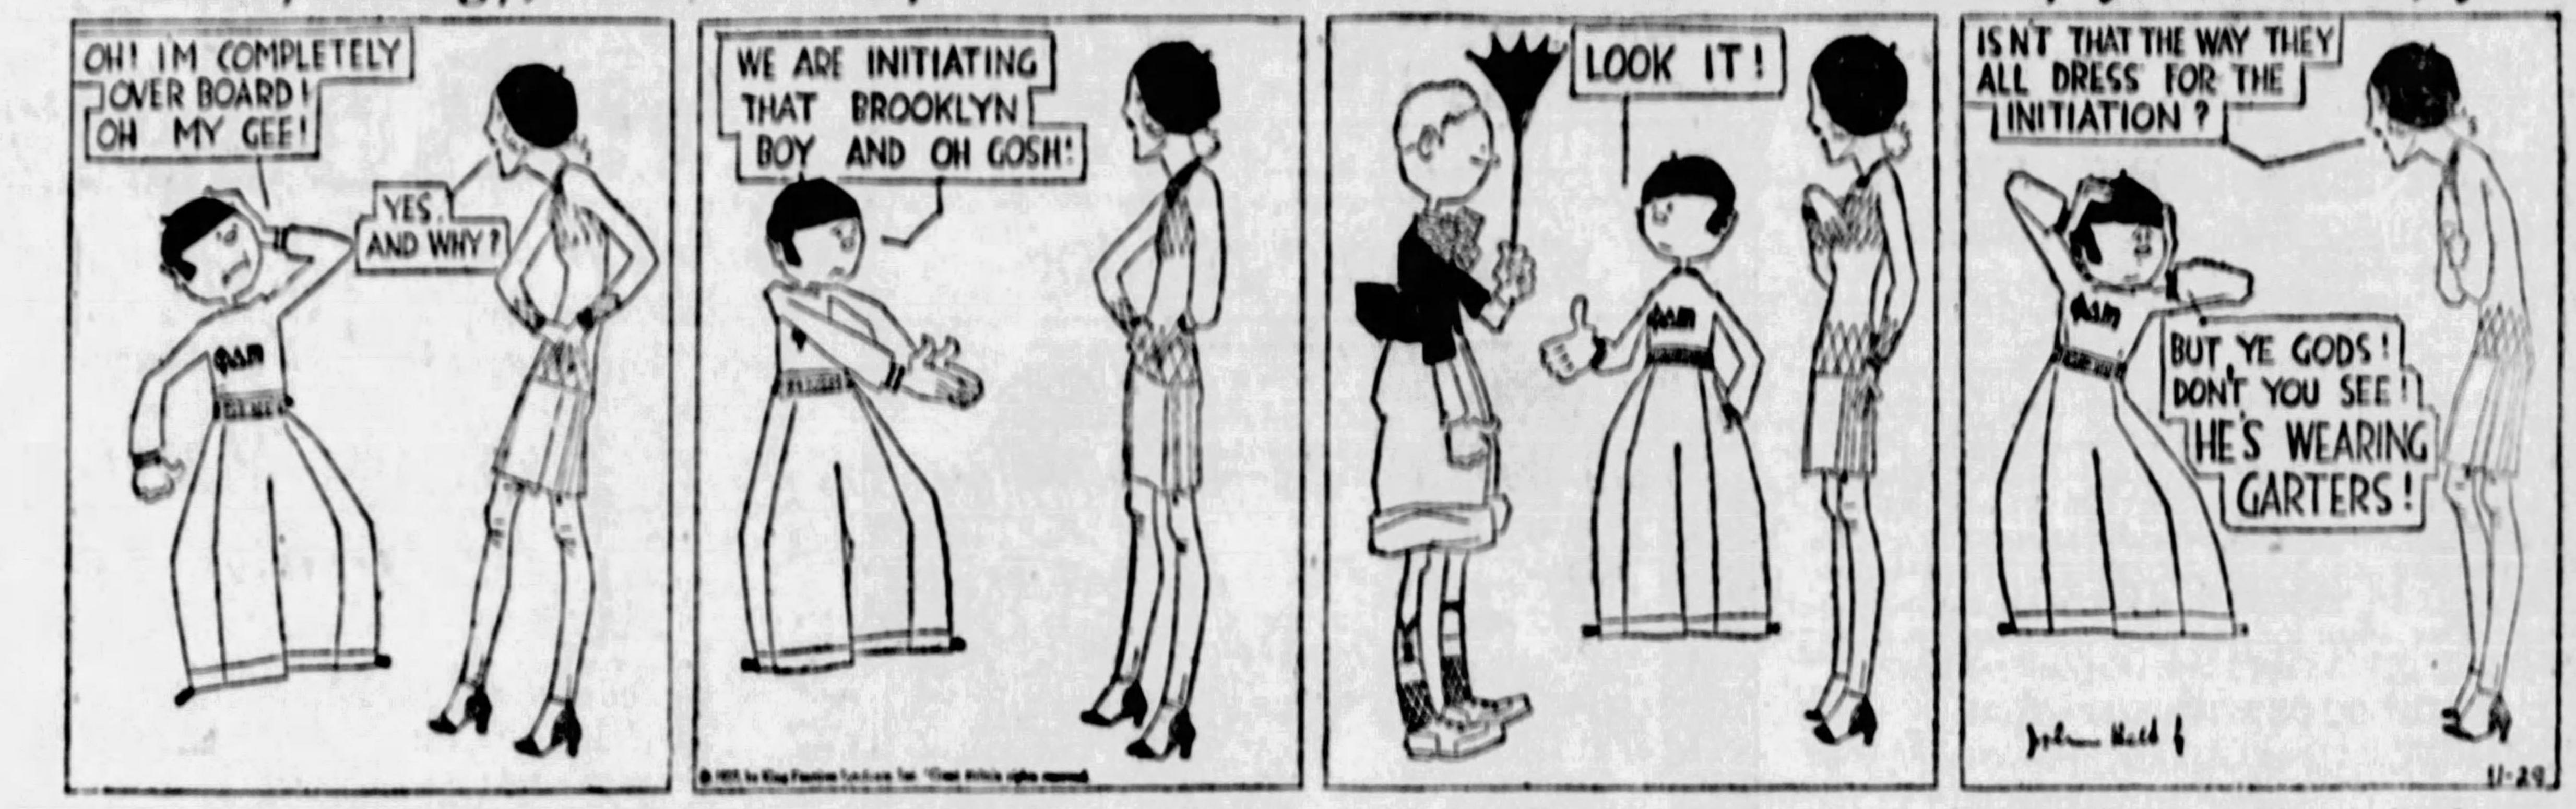
Story by Lloyd Mayer

By John Held, Jr.



OH! I'M COMPLETELY OVER BOARD! OH MY GEE!
YES AND WHY?
WE ARE INITIATING THAT BROOKLYN BOY AND OH GOSH!
LOOK IT!
ISN'T THAT THE WAY THEY ALL DRESS FOR THE INITIATION?
BUT YE GODS! DON'T YOU SEE! HE'S WEARING GARTERS!
John Held Jr

"My dear, I'm all-of-a-BIB-and-TUCKer at this point—I ACtually AM, because WHAT do you s-POSE? That odd YOUTH from BROOKlyn, who Noisy and ARab were so MAD to get to JOIN their fraTERnity, has suddenly entered my LIFE again because ARab suddenly proDUCED him the other afterNOON and I vow I NEARly had hysTERics because I mean he decided to accept a PLEDGE to ARab's and NOIsy's FRAT, my dear, so he is one of their NEophytes at this point and I've never in my LIFE seen anybody look so THORoughly luGUBrious as he did in this riDIC'lous GET-up which all the odd souls who they are sort of inITiating into the fraTERnity have to WEAR—you know the type! And, my dear, it was SIMply SCREAMing because they made this PIPsqueak sort of CRAWL round to MY house the other night and proPOSE to me—can you BEAR it, my dear? I mean he ACtually was comPELLED to LIT'rally CRAWL TWO BLOCKS on his HANDS and KNEES while ARab and NOIsy sort of beLABored him in the REAR with those fraTERnity PADdle effects which HURT like the DICKens, my dear, I mean I HONestly think BOYS are AWfully sort of BRUtal that way because I bet you ANYthing that if you carried a thing like that too FAR the person you were inITiating would prob'ly never be able to sit DOWN again for the rest of their LIFE, my dear—I mean I ACtuallly DO!"

A Bit of Gallantry in Quite the Victorian Manner Produces Amusing Diversion

LILLIAN met us at the door of her small suite, her hands outstretched in friendly greeting.

"This is mighty sweet of you, Phil, to include me in your party," she told Mr. Veritzen, and there was no trace in her voice or eyes of her delicately malicious comprehension of the reason for the invitation which he had given her. But my employer's answer revealed that he did not understand her gibe, and that, as I feared, he had overheard her telephone query to me, "Is the lifeboat needed?"

"My dear," he said impressively, "it is I who should extend thanks to you. Don't you know that you are as eagerly desired on any party of mine as ever lifeboat was by shipwrecked mariner?"

Not by the flicker of an eyelash did Lillian betray her recognition of the thrust.

"You're such a poetic old darling, Phil," she replied pertly, "that I think you deserve a kiss for your neat phrasing."

She grazed his neck in the merest excuse for a caress, dodged his arm immediately and expertly outflung to encircle her, and darted to the doorway between her living room and tiny bedroom.

"I'm all ready except my hat," she flung back at him in nonchalant dismissal of the episode. But from under my demurely lowered eyelashes I saw that she had scored in the little exchange of wits. She had struck the one note he dreaded to hear—that of his advancing age—in her quip and for an instant the lines around his mouth had deepened and his brows contracted.

Lillian had run, immediately she had shot her bolt, without waiting to see its effect upon him. He sent a furtive glance at me, and evidently reassured by my discreetly lowered lashes that I had not noticed his momentary discomfiture, he flashed an audacious call after my friend.

"Don't think I'm going to permit that exit," he said. "No director in the world would stand for that futile imitation of a kiss. Come back here and do it properly."

She reappeared in the doorway, smartly hatted and gloved and with a modish motor cloak thrown around her. Lillian has the rare art of wearing clothes, and she also possesses the common sense to let someone else whose honesty and taste she can trust, do her buying for her. Years ago she lived in the same house with a woman who afterward became an assistant to a world-renowned creator of styles. When the employer, whose business ability was in inverse ratio to her artistic flair, became bankrupt, the woman, with very little capital, started a dress shop upon an unfashionable but busy street, keeping her affiliations with the sources of supply which had fed her employer's exclusive establishment. Here Lillian found her again, and immediately put herself in the other's capable sartorial hands. As a result she, and Marion also, were always smartly clothed, at reasonable prices and with the least possible waste of Lillian's time, every hour of which spelled dollars.

I gave her strong, handsome face, her steady yet mirthful gray eyes, her silvery hair, and her erect youthful figure the meed of admiration which she always calls forth from me. I saw the same tribute in Philip Veritzen's face as she made a grimace at his command.

"It wouldn't be possible to kiss you properly, Phil," she said audaciously. "You're not that kind of person. Besides, the bell-boy is at the door, I am sure. I phoned for him before I put on my things, and I must consider my rep-p-u-tation. Of course you have none to consider, but your friends aren't all in that highly fortunate and desirable condition."

She was at the outer door before she had finished, and throwing it open she stepped into the hall outside. Mr. Veritzen, who had taken a swift step toward her, stopped short, and with a grin of acknowledging surrender, thrust his hands outward toward her, as she looked back, laughing over her shoulder.

"Kamerad!" he exclaimed, and Lillian's little triumphant laugh had not yet died upon her lips when the bell-boy appeared to carry down the drawing board which she had stipulated she must bring with her upon her outing.

Peanut Cookies

Cream together a scant half cupful of butter and a half cupful of sugar. Add a beaten egg. Mix together a saltspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of baking powder and a generous half cupful of flour. Mix well. Add a quarter cupful of milk, a teaspoonful of vanila and a half cupful of chopped peanuts. Drop the batter from a spoon onto a buttered baking sheet. Place a half peanut on top of each and sprinkle with a saltspoonful of sugar. Bake 10 to 12 minutes.

HOW TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Makes One Look Younger.

Men and women who used to be called Grandpa and Grandma are now setting the styles by darkening their gray hair at home.

For instance, J. A. McCrea, a well known Californian, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture in five minutes that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. Merely take a half-pint of water, add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at trifling cost. Apply to the hair twice weekly with a comb. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."

Lose Fat

In the Right Way

For 20 years, slender women have been telling others the easy, pleasant way to reduce. It is the right way, based on a modern discovery made by able scientific men. It has proved so efficient that for two decades it has held the top place in this field. Now you can see the results wherever you look. Slender figures are the usual, fat is the exception.

That right way is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. It is a substance employed in the body to regulate nutrition. Its purpose is to turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat.

There are no secrets about it. The formula appears in every box, also the reasons for results. Thus users know just why it acts, and they have no fear of harm. The use requires no abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. People simply take four tablets daily until the weight comes down to normal in a natural way.

Consider what Marmola has done for so many and so long. See what it has done in your own circle, because one user tells others. Now learn what it means to you. Watch the new beauty that it brings, the new vitality and health. You owe that to yourself. Order it now—before you forget it. Don't longer suffer an abnormal figure when so many have found a corrective.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Every Woman Should Know About This.

It is as much your duty to be attractive as to keep a well-ordered house.

Why shouldn't every girl and woman strive to be attractive? It is not merely vanity; the modest knowledge of pleasant appearance is a mental prop that enhances whatever charms of personality its owner may have.

Let us suggest here, a recently discovered Toilet Accessory known as Mibalm Liquid Vanishing Cream.

Never before has there been offered a toilet preparation which fills such a long-felt want; never have women been so anxious to try a new product and never have they been so well pleased, and acknowledged its superior value over the old style solid vanishing creams.

MIBALM LIQUID VANISHING CREAM is a snow-white lotion, makes an ideal powder base. It is soothing, healing and mildly astringent; you can buy it at all the leading Drug and Department Stores, you can always get it at May's.

Two Weeks Left to Win Birdhouse Prizes

Boys and girls of the Sun-Tele Birdhouse Club, selling New Reader subscriptions, have two more weeks and a few days to hand in their sales blanks, if they want them counted in the prize-giving competition,

For December 17 has been made the closing date for the subscriptions insofar as the 28 cash awards are concerned. Subscriptions received thereafter will be duly credited to the salesmen or saleswomen and the 50-cent commission will be paid. Members of the club can work all winter on the plan if they wish.

But the end of the prize-scheme, which promises to fill the pockets of many of the boys and girls, has been decided by J. M. Aylward, manager of the club, so that the checks can be in the hands of the winners before Christmas.

There are hundreds of members who will have considerable Christmas money due to the New Reader scheme. Daily, members who have used up their supply of blanks have called, telephoned or written for more. There are still a number in the hands of the club manager, and he will be glad to send them out upon request.

The address is Birdhouse Manager, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., or telephone Grant 6501. For list of prizes see comic page.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Lull in Social Whirl Gives Local Society Leaders Time to Do Christmas Shopping

After weeks filled with an almost bewildering multiplicity of teas, balls, luncheons and weddings, the momentum of the social whirl has decreased. This comparative lull will continue, probably, until the school set arrives in town for the holiday season, and then there will be parties enough for the most frivolous minded. The next several weeks, with perhaps but one important event scheduled for a day, will give the society folk an opportunity, at least, to do some Christmas shopping and to attend to their pet charities.

Of course in this season of many deb affairs, no week could pass without at least one "coming out" tea or debutante ball.

Elizabeth George, the second daughter of the William D. Georges, of Sewickley, will be the debutante of this week. At the tea her mother will give for her in the family residence on Thursday afternoon, her aunt, Mrs. J. H. Morse, of North Andover, Mass., will assist in receiving the guests. Mrs. Morse, who is Mrs. George's sister, will arrive in Sewickley today, and will be a guest for some time in the valley.

The tea will be quite a large affair, I hear, and the list of aides is to be a long one as has been the case in nearly all the debuts this season.

Elizabeth is to be honored at a dance during the gay holiday season. Her parents will give a ball in her honor on December 28 in the Allegheny Country Club.

Janet McKinney, daughter of the W. C. McKinneys, of Forbes street, was to have made her bow to society today at a tea to have been given by her mother in the Twentieth Century Club. Because of the illness of her mother, Janet's debut date has been postponed. She will be honor guest today, however, at a buffet luncheon her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Edward McKinney, of Inverness street, will give in her home.

Another change has been made in debut plans. The C. P. [illegible]llings had expected to bring out their daughter Alice this season and had settled on December 26 as a tentative date for her bow [illegible] the social world. Her parents have decided, however, to bring [illegible] out next season. Alice is a junior this year at Smith College.

Nan Bunton, daughtr of the C. C. Buntons, expects to attend the Southern Club charity ball to be held in the Hotel Schenley December 30.

A great many out-of-town guests, with a large number from Washington, will attend Nan's debut on December 21 in the Pittsburgh Country Club. Mrs. Clifford Mills Budd, an intimate friend of the debutante's mother, you remember, will entertain at a tea in her honor on December 12 in the Hotel Schenley.

Jane Edson, daughter of Mrs. John Joy Edson, will probably be a debutante in a season or two. Jane, who is a student at Miss McClintock's School, Boston, spent Thanksgiving with her family.

Mrs. Albert Pressley Burchfield and her daughter, Mary, are hostesses this afternoon at a tea in the Twentieth Century Club. They are not having any particular guest of honor.

Mrs. Burchfield and her daughter are receiving in the ballroom of the club, which is banked with cibotium ferns and crotons, together with large clusters of yellow chrysanthemums. One tea table has been placed in the dining room, and is decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and pompoms with clusters of green grapes, and the other table, on the third floor, has a centerpiece of pink roses, with lilacs and green orchids. The yellow chrysanthemums are the predominating flowers in all the rooms, the whole clubhouse being used for the tea.

Mrs. Burchfield is wearing a handsome gown of deep brown transparent velvet, with a hat of matching color and material, while her daughter's frock is of sage green satin. She is wearing a green velvet hat to correspond.

Although I haven't heard of any entertainments planned for the Yale Puppeteers, who will give a program in the Carnegie Lecture Hall Friday night as a benefit for the Pennsylvania College for Women, there undoubtedly will be at least a supper party. For when any of the Yale boys come to town, there is almost always something planned for the diversion by the society matrons. The Puppeteers come from Dr. Baker's Little Theater of the university.

Perhaps it was the numerous young people who took part in last night's performance of the Stage and Play Society in Carnegie Music Hall that served as the attraction, but the large audience was noticeably youthful, and from all appearances, very much enjoyed the plays and the players. The society's plays are always well done, and the members take a great deal of pride in seeing that there is "finish" to their performance.

On last night's program there were, you recall, three short plays. "Our Kind," written by Louise Saunders, was directed by Mrs. Haines Allen Machesney, and was presented by a short cast including Mrs. Wilmer Marshall Jacob, Rodman McClintock and Carroll Hamilton Fitzhugh, the latter being, you know, the president of the society. Walter B. Edmundson had directed the cast for "Action." Esther Ely was the only girl in that cast, and the men included Charles F. C. Arensberg, Henry Fisher, James Macfarlane, Carey Williams, Joseph M. Scribner, James Graham, Joseph Kelly, John C. Sherriff, and Frederick S. Ely, who took the place of Oliver Evans. An all-feminine cast played "When the Whirlwind Blows," written by Essex Dane.

Mrs. Machesney and Mr. Edmundson were the general stage directors for the performance.

Mrs. Sheldon Benjamin Hayes of "The Breezes," Washington, Pa., has announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Kathryn Miriam Hayes, and George James Brinkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Brinkman of Margaretta street, which was solemnized Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the First Baptist Church by the Rev. Dr. C. Wallace Petty.

A dinner Thursday night will open the December social activities of the Pittsburgh Country Club. A special dinner is planned for Saturday night and a buffet supper Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Riester, of the North Side, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marian Elizabeth Riester, to Edgar V. Schaefer, son of the late Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Schaefer.

DATE CHANGED FOR HOME ANNIVERSARY

The New Future Home Association has changed the date for its anniversary celebration from Thursday of this week until Friday. The change was made in order to avoid conflicting with the meeting of the Chartiers Women's Club's Association, of which Mrs. J. C. Deneen, president and founder of the New Future Association, is a past president, and Mrs. A. J. Reber, a member of the Association board, is president. The Rev. Dr. A. J. Bensall, who was present at the opening of the home 12 years ago, will make the invocation at the anniversary exercises, music will be furnished by the West View Forum Club and an address will be made by the Rev. Stillman Foster, pastor of the Crafton Heights Presbyterian Church. The reception committee includes Mrs. J. A. Gearhart, Mrs. J. D. Bowers, Mrs. Walter C. Earnest, Mrs. M. S. Ely, Mrs. J. H. K. Lightcap, Mrs. F. C. Sawers, Mrs. John A. Konle, Mrs. M. B. Mosley, Mrs. Garnet Cooper, Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton, Mrs. A. J. Reber, Mrs. William Bader, Mrs. W. B. Ray and Mrs. John H. Fricke. The home has cared for 417 women and 55 children within the year.

Nearly 100 members of the Homewood Women's Club lunched at Webster Hall yesterday and followed luncheon with their annual trip to the international art exhibit. Miss Margaret Lee, who gave the members guidance through the gallery and a most helpful, entertaining talk, was guest of honor at the luncheon. Mrs. W. J. Stoup pronounced the invocation and Mrs. George L. Carson, the president, spoke of the club's two Christmas parties, one for the members' own children and the second for the children of the community which will be given in the club rooms December 12 and 14. Miss Lee's talk was a delight to the group which followed her eagerly from gallery to gallery. She pointed out what she called "thumb prints" of the various artists, showing the women how they might again recognize the work of these men. She also stressed the fact that the pictures have been chosen, not always for their beauty, but to show what is being done in the art worlds of the various countries represented. The international will close Sunday.

It was a happy combination yesterday that gave to the Pittsburgh Literary and Musical Club vocal solos by Miss Ruth Simon, accompanied by Miss Bertha Gross King, and vocal solos by Mrs. King, accompanied by Miss Simon. Mrs. King also contributed piano numbers. The papers, which furthered the club's study of Italy, were on "Old Etruria and Modern Tuscany," "In and About Rome," and "Standard of Living—Macaroni and Health," and were given by Mrs. Harry W. Golden, Miss Lillian Sprague and Miss Grace Leggate, the article on Rome being her own impressions written by Dr. Frances McDonald Wallace and read by Miss Sprague. Mrs. Mary J. Cowley read letters from Mrs. Walter Ure, who is touring France, and Mrs. Olive W. Kendall, a former president, who is now living in Scarsdale, N. Y.

The Turkey of the future depends upon its women, Miss Hadije Selma Ekrem, Turkish lady of rank, told the Woman's Club of Sewickley Valley yesterday afternoon. In beautiful English, Miss Ekrem gave many interesting facts concerning her native land and she especially emphasized the numbers of women who have gone into various professions. In the Constantinople Chamber of Commerce there are 15 women. Women are working, not so much for the monetary return, as in the joy of their freedom, she said.

Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of The International Institute, gave to the Woman's Club of Mt. Lebanon yesterday a graphic and informing account of the activities of her organization. She explained that it is that branch of the Young Women's Christian Association, which co-operates with other social agencies in assisting foreign-born people through the interpreting service of the institute. Social workers are employed who have command of the native languages of the people being assisted. Miss Campbell told how the institute organizes clubs for newcomers who are lonely, such as the "French War-Brides," and reference was made to the co-operation with the Red Cross for relief of sufferers from the recent explosion. Complementing Miss Campbell's talk, Michael Smirnov played solos on the Russian balalaika and was accompanied by Alexander Grech, and Miss Elizabeth Herrick presented a Cossack dance in costume.

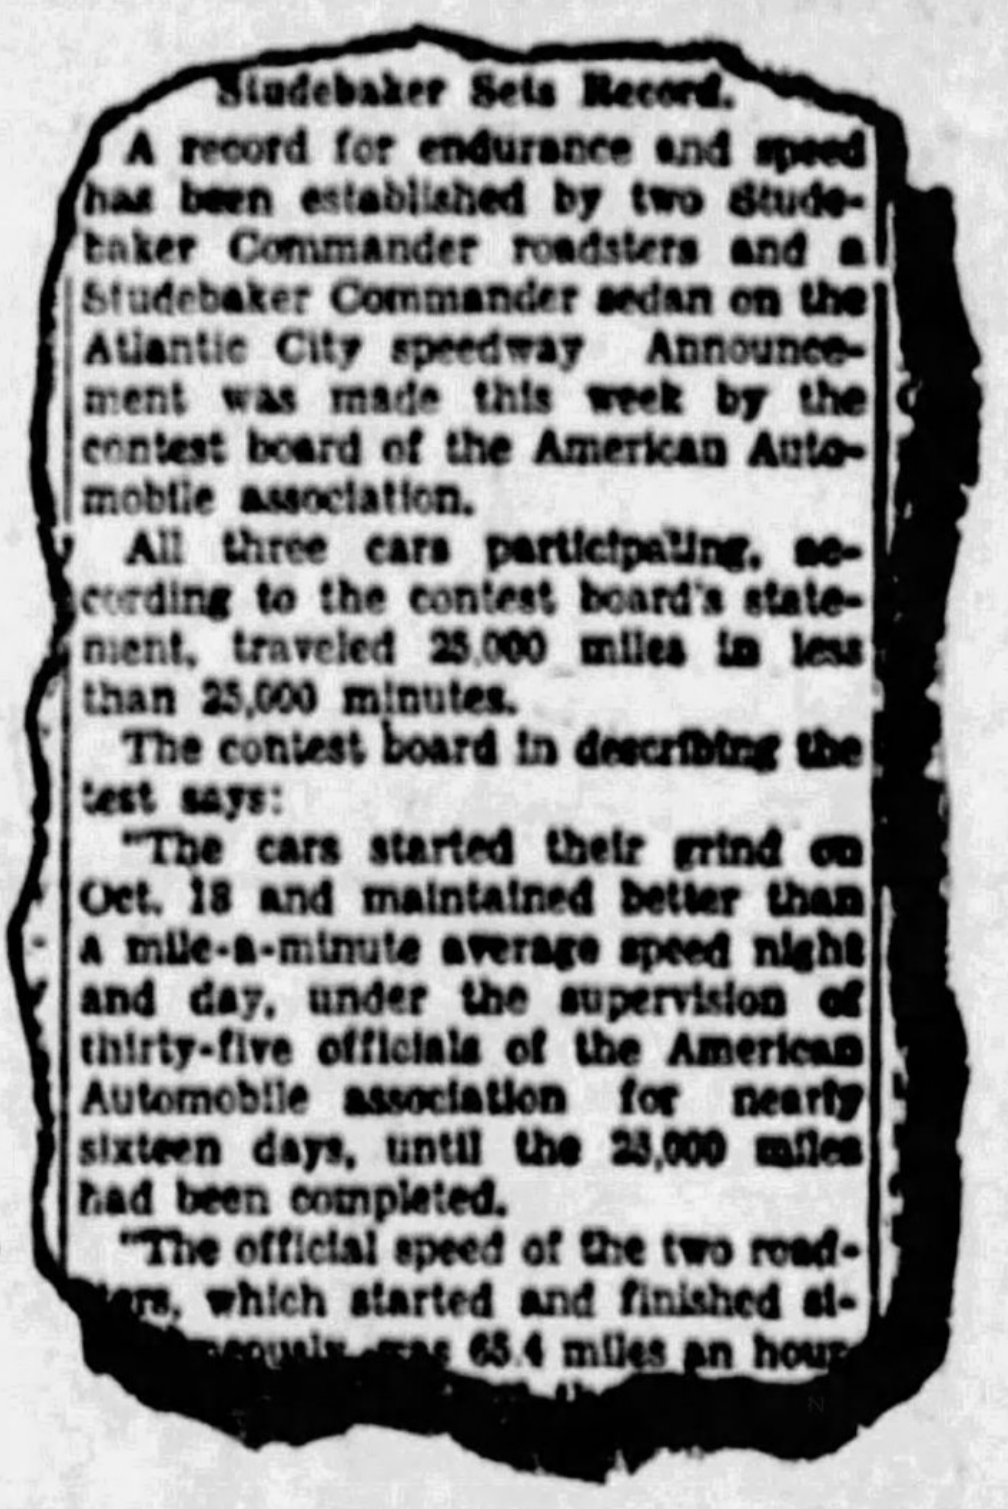
25,000 MILES in less than 23,000 MINUTES



Studebaker Sets Record.
A record for endurance and speed has been established by two Studebaker Commander roadsters and a Studebaker Commander sedan on the Atlantic City speedway. Announcement was made this week by the contest board of the American Automobile association.
All three cars participating, according to the contest board's statement, traveled 25,000 miles in less than 25,000 minutes.
The contest board in describing the test says:
"The cars started their grind on Oct. 18 and maintained better than a mile-a-minute average speed night and day, under the supervision of thirty-five officials of the American Automobile association for nearly sixteen days, until the 25,000 miles had been completed.
"The official speed of the two roadsters, which started and finished simultaneously, was 65.4 miles an hour
From the Chicago Daily News, November 12th

Such speed may not interest you . . . but the endurance of The Studebaker Commander—proved by this amazing demonstration—should appeal to the "pocketbook nerve" of every automobile buyer!

PITT TEACHER IS HONORED

A membership in the Royal Spanish-American Academy of Arts and Sciences of Cadiz, Spain, has been awarded to Miss Dorothy Torreyson, of 793 Braddock avenue, Braddock, a graduate assistant in the Spanish department of the University of Pittsburgh. The membership is the second to be awarded to an American woman since the organization of the academy. The membership was granted in recognition of a thesis on Spanish-American women poets submitted by Miss Torreyson for her master's degree at the university this fall.

COUNTY SET FOR DEER HUNTERS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 29.—Although the price of hunters' licenses increased from $1.50 to $2 this year, enough sportsmen in Allegheny county bought licenses to prompt the county to call on the State Game Commission for an additional supply of license forms before opening of the deer and elk season on Thursday.

Eight other counties also have requested special issues of licenses.

Despite the requests for special issues in nine counties, the Game Commission believes the total number of licensed hunters will fall approximately 20,000 short of the 521,000 who held licenses last year.

YOU don't have to move out of your kitchen to make a wonderful dessert or salad—if you have a package of Knox Sparkling Gelatine on your pantry shelf. Take down a can of fruit—or vegetables—combine them with Knox Gelatine—and you have a dessert or salad that will tempt the most jaded appetite! Keep this recipe handy:

COFFEE JELLY

Take a cup of left-over coffee, reheat and dissolve in it one tablespoonful Knox Sparkling Gelatine first soaked in one-half cup cold water, add the juice of a lemon and a small amount of sugar. This may be varied by beating into the thickening jelly the white of one egg, and a most delicious Coffee Sponge is the result.

EVANS TO DIRECT INDIANS

POPULAR ARBITER GIVEN POST

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—William George "Billy" Evans has thrown aside the duds he wore behind the plate for the 20 years he was an American League umpire to become the first general manager of the Cleveland baseball club under its new ownership.

BILLY EVANS.

Billy's selection was announced last night by President Alva Bradley, head of the Cleveland syndicate that bought the team.

He will assume his new duties at once and one of his first tasks will be to assist Bradley in finding the right manager for the team next year.

In addition to general manager, Evans also bears the title of vice president. He will have many of the executive duties formerly handled by the president. He will not assume direction of the team, however, that remaining with the manager.

Evans said last night he wants to strengthen the team, that he has four capable men in mind for the managership and that he has been promised the finances to get the best one. He did not name the prospects. Manager Jack McCallister has been released unconditionally.

With the official conclusion of his services as an arbiter sealed, Billy Evans looked back today to a game between Youngstown and Niles, O., at the latter place more than 20 years ago.

All-Star Bids Are Out

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 29.—Following his return from Chicago where he attended the Notre Dame-Southern California game Saturday, and conferred with Coach Hanley, of Northwestern, with whom he has been jointly named to select an all-star eastern team to play an all-West aggregation at San Francisco on December 26, Coach Andy Kerr, of Washington and Jefferson, said yesterday that invitations had been sent out to the men desired as players on the all-star outfit to make the trip to the Coast. He declined to name the men invited, but asserted the personnel would include the leading players of the eastern sector. If a sufficient number of acceptances is not received from the men invited, invitations will go to other outstanding players.

Kerr said that no formal acceptances have yet been received. While newspaper dispatches assert that Bruce Caldwell has been given permission to go West and had accepted, Kerr said his formal acceptance had not been received, although he had been assured by Tad Jones, Yale coach, that Caldwell would be permitted to join the all-East squad.

Kerr believes that the team to be taken to San Francisco will be the most powerful ever taken for a game in California.

GIANTS TO TRAIN THIS SPRING IN AUGUSTA, GA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(INS.)—The New York Giants will train next season in Augusta, Ga. The Augusta authorities have agreed to build a new park—a plant that will have modern, up-to-date facilities. The park will be ready when the first squad of Giants report on March 1.

McGraw announced that he would send his pitchers and catchers to Hot Springs two weeks previous to the opening of the regular training season. The regular squad will report direct to Augusta on March 1.

The Giants will be the only major league club in Georgia this year.

Promoter Ties Up Purse

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Humbert Fugazy, local boxing promoter, succeeded in serving an attachment of $8,450, together with interest since July 25, against Paulino Uzcudun, the Basque boxer, yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Louis Ressler served the attachment on Bert Stand, dapper secretary of the Boxing Commission, making it compulsory for the solons to withhold the Spaniard's entire purse of $11,477.67 he received for his troubles with Johnny Risko last week until the matter is adjusted.

The signor alleges that he had advanced Uzcudun the eight and one-half grand previous to his engagement with Harry Wills at Ebbets Field last July. The money, Fugazy added, was to be returned to him in one chunk after a second fight the Spaniard was to have fought under Fugazy's colors.

Instead of fulfilling his promise to meet DeKuh, Paulino, according to Fugazy, took him for another of his famous buggy rides and then hoofed it over to his arch rival, Tex Rickard's group of performers.

BUD TAYLOR BARRED FOR CANCELING BOUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., generally recognized as world's bantamweight champion, was suspended indefinitely today by the New York State Athletic Commission for withdrawing from a scheduled fight next Thursday with Tony Canzoneri. Taylor reported an injured hand, but suspension in such cases is required by the commission's rules regardless of the circumstances.

Taylor has been replaced by Ignacio Fernandez as an opponent for Canzoneri.

BALTIMORE C. C. GETS PRO GOLFERS' TOURNEY

DETROIT, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—The Baltimore Country Club was awarded the 1928 National Professional Golfers' Association tournament at the annual business meeting of the association here today. The tournament will be played on the Five Farms course. The date has not been decided upon.

French Lick, Ind., and Fresh Meadow Club of New York City were the only other bidders.

HAVE you never bent over a tidy red tin and caught that marvelous P. A. fragrance? Only a great tobacco could smell as good as that. You prove how good it is on the very first fire-up. What a taste, Men!

Cool as an immigration-officer. Sweet as getting in. Mild and mellow as you expect a smoke to be, yet with that full-bodied flavor that makes every puff a pleasant experience. I wish I could put the taste right on your tongue, but you'll have to do that.

P. A. in a pipe is cool and long-burning, right to the bottom of the bowl. This one brand is bought by more men than any other tobacco in the world. There's only one way to account for that—P. A.'s quality!

The sooner you get started, the better. A load of P. A. in the bowl of your pipe will be a load off your mind. And I don't mean that for any wise-crack. No matter what your present program is, try Prince Albert on the word of a friend. I'm telling you straight, you'll make no mistake.

ADAMS TO STRENGTHEN BUCCOS

HARMON STOPS YOUNG SAYLOR

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1927 BEST IN PITTSBURGH

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

INASMUCH it had long been evident that Outfielder Hazen Cuyler would not be retained by the Pittsburgh baseball club for next year but would be traded at the earliest opportunity during the off season, the majority of even the warmest friends of Kiki in this city and vicinity will not hesitate to approve the big deal made here yesterday as one that not only strengthens the Pittsburgh club but also puts Cuyler himself in a desirable berth.

In trading Kiki to the Chicago Nationals for Second Baseman Earl (Sparky) Adams and Outfielder Floyd (Pete) Scott, the Pittsburgh management at one stroke accomplished its aim of plugging up the lone weakspot in the Pirate infield in a manner to satisfy the most exacting Pirate followers and also gave the lie to the persistent report that Cuyler would be traded for revengeful purposes and would be deliberately sent to a tailend or near tailend team as a further punishment for his alleged differences with the local club officials.

HAD Cuyler been sent to Boston or Philadelphia, he could hardly have received such a salary as the $11,000 he has been drawing in Pittsburgh, but the Chicago club is a money maker and can well afford to pay Hazen the stipend which he has been getting here.

So it is a good deal for Pittsburgh, and a good deal for Cuyler, leaving nothing to be desired by Kiki's following here.

Getting down to an analysis of the deal on a straight baseball basis, the trade shapes up as a most satisfactory and helpful one to Pittsburgh for the reason that President Dreyfuss and Manager Bush have succeeded in getting the one factor that was needed more than any other to strengthen the local team and patch up the one spot that was glaringly weak.

NUMEROUS games during the regular season and more than one game in the world series as well were lost at second base. Not that George Grantham was not trying his hardest and giving the Bucs his best at all time, but simply because Grantham is not a second baseman and could not make certain plays at that position of which a natural second sacker is capable.

With Adams at the midway things will be different. The new Pirate is a masterful performer around second base. In fact, Hornsby, Frisch and Critz are the only National League second basemen who can be rated above him, and even Critz is not as valuable as Sparky on the offensive. Adams is very clever at swinging double plays, and the lack of a player of that kind at the midway has cost the Corsairs many a game.

AND the value of Adams does not stop at his fielding skill, for as an offensive man he will also help the locals greatly.

For one thing, he supplies what the Pittsburgh club has sorely needed—a second-place hitter. He is a hard man to pitch to, he can bunt.

NOTES of the BOXERS

ANDY TOMOSKY of Wilmerding boxes Johnny Brennan of Camden, N. J., at Wilmington, Del., tonight. On Friday night he meets Harry Crisp in a return bout at Akron, the semi-final to a meeting between Jimmy Slattery and Joe Lohman.

They've dug up poor old Homer Smith for Jack Gross, the very promising young heavyweight of Philadelphia. The pair will meet at the Armory Club in Philadelphia tomorrow night.

Emmett Rocco, the Ellwood City heavyweight, now under the management of Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, former featherweight champion, meets Jack McAuliffe, of Detroit, at Youngstown tonight and next Monday night boxes Battling Levinsky, of Philadelphia, former American light-heavyweight champion, in the 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden. Levinsky, who is in the midst of a brilliant "comeback" campaign, last night added Joe Lohman, of Toledo, to his list of victims in a 10-round bout at the Arena, Philadelphia.

Johnny Urban, of Lawrenceville, brother of Jack Burke, stopped Alex Sklar, of New York, in the first round of a bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, last night, the referee halting the battle. Billy Angelo, of McKees Rocks, back in the game after a layoff, stopped Tommy Devlin in six rounds at Philadelphia.

Ace Hudkins swings into action against Herman Auerbach, of Los Angeles, tonight.

Panthers Drill For Battle On Coast

After a vacation of four days, the Pitt gridders will resume drill today in preparation for their post-season game with Stanford. Practice will be continued until December 20, at about which time the Panthers expect to start the coast jaunt.

Head Coach Jock Sutherland returned from Chicago yesterday. His trip west was for the business of investigating coast routes and for the pleasure of witnessing the Notre Dame-U. S. C. game.

Two Pullmans and a baggage car will make up the "Pitt Special."

BAD BODY BEATING ENDS GO

By HARRY KECK,
Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

YOUNG SAYLOR'S fistic bubble burst last night. He entered the ring against Willie Harmon of New York in the main bout at Motor Square Garden with the record of never having been defeated, and his manager, Jim Buchanan, wisely tossed in the towel at the end of the fifth round to save him from further punishment after he had suffered a deep cut over his right eye in that round and had taken a severe body beating from the start. It was a rude shattering of Saylor's ambitions, at least for the present. With the setback went glimmering the proposed meeting between the Charleroian and Joe Dundee, the world's welterweight champion, which had been planned for last night and then postponed until December 12, pending the outcome of last night's tussle. The club now will try to match Dundee with Harmon, although the pair have met twice before.

Saylor never had a chance against Harmon. Willie went to work hammering his right fist to the short ribs in the first clinch of the first round and had Saylor wincing with pain. He reddened Saylor's body with the first punches and toward the end of the round also was digging into the body with his left. Meanwhile Saylor was so busy trying to tie up Harmon's busy right that he could not use his vaunted left for attacking purposes.

The second round was a duplicate of the first and at the start of the third Harmon let fly a left hook to

SPARKY ADAMS

Yep, fans, it's Sparky himself, a Pirate bugaboo who will turn his skill into a Pittsburgh asset beginning with the 1928 season. Too long has Sparky been foiling the Buccaneers. Not content with spoiling basehits, the wee marvel of the infield has a mean habit of scoring runs in clusters. Although Pirate fans will regret to see Hazen Cuyler leave they will get some consolation in knowing that the uncertain infield will be strengthened through the acquisition of Sparky, an 18-karat jewel.

Figures in Big Trade

FLOYD (PETE) SCOTT

Cubs' utility outfielder who comes to the Pirates in the big swap featuring Ki Cuyler and Sparky Adams. Pete and Glenn Wright were teammates at Kansas City. The new outfielder has much native ability; in fact, he is of the versatile stripe for Pete can go under the bat and do a good job. He is swift and a dangerous righthand batter.

HAZEN (KI) CUYLER

Star outfielder of the Pirates ever since he became a regular, is shown above. He will help to uphold the Cub banner next season as a result of yesterday's swap.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Headed by their owner, President Horace Townsend, the Pirate hockey squad arrived in town this morning for their engagement with the Americans at Madison Square Garden tonight.

It is understood that the Pittsburgh official came here for a conference with Col. J. H. Hammond, who runs the New York Rangers for Tex Rickard. Townsend would not divulge whether or not his mission was for the purpose of swinging a deal with the American group leader, although it is generally understood that his trip here was for no other reason.

Two of the Pirate players were missing from the squad. Mickey McGuire and Harold Cotton were left at

MEMORIALS FOR PITT TEAMS IN SIGHT

By JESS CARVER.

LASTING tributes to the valor and glory of past and future Pitt football teams, that have made gridiron history, not only in local precincts, but throughout the land, can be set up in the stadium in which they played, and all for the cost of a few bolts and a few pounds of bronze and the active aid of those who cheer and toast the Panther varsities.

Too soon are the deeds of gridiron heroes forgotten, and their records left to wither and fade with the paper on which they are written. A few outstanding events, of course, always stand out in the memory of men, such as Gibby Welch's runback of that Nebraska kickoff and the stirring dashes of Davies, Bohren, DeHart of a few years ago.

It seems only just that the teams of each year should have some memorial, however simple, to keep them ever in the minds and recollections of the thousands and tens of thousands who cheer them in

GOVERNOR DENIES COMMISSION SHAKEUP

HARRISBURG, Nov. 29.—(INS.)—Reports that a "shakeup" is impending in the State Athletic Commission were branded as without foundation at the Governor's office here today.

The Governor's office announced that there was no basis for reports that Frank Weiner was to be succeeded by Bryan Hayes of Philadelphia on the board, or that Harry Farrell also was slated to be ousted.

Reports that a shakeup was impending are believed to have originated in Philadelphia.

"It's All For Best," Ki's Statement

"I think it is all for the best, but I regret that I am leaving Pittsburgh and I would like to have my friends know that I feel this way," said Hazen Cuyler last night as he talked over long distance telephone to the Sun-Tele concerning the big trade which involved his services.

"The Cubs will get the best I have, and I hope to show President Veeck and Joe McCarthy that they did not make a mistake in the transaction. Also I would like to

DEKUH GETS WIN OVER BELGIAN HEAVY

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Jack Humbeck, Belgian heavyweight, making his first American ring appearance, lost a bitterly fought 10-round bout to Arthur DeKuh of Italy last night.

WHAT FANS THINK OF CUYLER TRADE

JAMES FRANCIS BURKE, general counsel for Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce—All things considered the trade is another evidence of the shrewdness of Barney Dreyfuss. Regardless of his merits, it has been apparent for some time that Cuyler must go for the sake of harmony. He will be of great value to the Cubs, but our team will be materially strengthened in one of the few places where it has displayed weakness. Its present personnel looks like another champion next year.

ROBERT GARLAND, councilman—It's a wonderful thing; I'm more than delighted. With the addition of such fine players as Adams and Scott, especially Adams, Pittsburgh is going to have another championship team next year. We've got to keep pace with the Panthers, you know. It's wonderful!

WILLIAM FERGUSON, automobile mechanic, 87 Helen way, Allentown—Don't think much of it. They gave away a mighty good ball player.

JAMES (RED) MASON, manager of boxers—I do not like the trade. I never have considered Adams a good infielder and do not figure him any improvement over Hal Rhyne. I think the club could have done much better in the way of putting through a deal for Jess Petty or some other outstanding player. I am surprised the Pirates did not get a large sum of money in addition to

STAR MAY BALANCE LOSS OF KIKI

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

KI CUYLER, Pirate star, goes to the Chicago Cubs in exchange for Sparky Adams, second baseman, and Pete Scott utility player.

In landing the right sort of player to give proper co-ordination to an otherwise great infield, the Pirate management seems to have added strength to the local club through the medium of the big deal completed with the Chicago Cubs last night.

While it is true that the Cubs secured one of the game's greatest players in Hazen (Ki) Cuyler, brilliant outfielder, the team value of Earl (Sparky) Adams, for several seasons the Bears' steadiest player, should be of untold value to a club that stands in need of an athlete who day to day can play the keystone sack like it should be played.

The third party in the deal, Floyd (Pete) Scott, is a swift outfielder who has been used as a utility man by Manager Joe McCarthy of the Cubs. There may be no regular berth for Scott, but he will help the team even in a substitute role.

Few players have enjoyed as much popularity with the fans as has Cuyler during his comparatively short career in Pittsburgh. The character of the star in his daily life was known to men, women and children whose response was astonishing. But while these folks will regret the departure of the attractive diamond performer they will be glad to know that Cuyler appears to be due to have a very pleasant berth with the Cubs.

CUYLER COMPLIMENTED

Messrs. Dreyfuss and Bush paid Cuyler a high compliment to President Veeck and Manager McCarthy of the Cubs. They expressed the wish that he succeed in his new berth; moreover, they sent the outfielder to a team that is very rich in world's goods. The Cubs made more money than any other National League club this year, and it is likely that Cuyler, before he signs for 1928, will receive a liberal boost in pay. As he was drawing a princely sum in Pittsburgh it can be seen that he will not lose in a financial way.

The coming of Adams to the Pirates means that George Grantham will toss aside his infield glove in favor of a first sacker's mitt. Thus the Pirate first defense will be composed of Capt. Traynor, Wright, Adams and Grantham. When this quartet perfects its teamwork it will be quite up to anything the Heydler circuit can offer.

No one will dispute the contention that Cuyler's passing will leave a big hole in the Pirate pasture, but the improvement in the infield should balance the books. There may be a big problem ahead for Bush in lining up a regular outfield, but he will have the two Waners as sure-fire hits, with several others from which to select the third man.

Adams' passing is likely to weaken the Chicago infield, but Cuyler will add punch to the whole team as well

Ty or Tris May Play For N. Y. In 1928

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Possibility that either Ty Cobb or Tris Speaker will be seen next season in the toggery that well-dressed Giants will wear was seen yesterday in a rather indefinite statement of John J. McGraw, skipper of the Polo Grounds' athletes. McGraw made the remark to newspaper men that the Giants had passed up Sarasota as a training camp and will do their spring conditioning at Augusta, Ga.

Clark Griffith of the Washington club sought waivers some time back on Tris Speaker, and no club claimed the Texan.

Griffith is now endeavoring to see if clubs might be interested in Speaker on a salary that is reasonable. He recently queried McGraw on the subject and the Giant boss is thinking the matter over.

Questioned in regard to Cobb, McGraw said that he had not definitely turned down the idea of getting the Georgian, nor was he making any particular move at this time.

This Is Enough To Chase Away London's Fog

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—An English fighter last night had the strange experience of knocking out somebody.

Phil Scott of England, accustomed to assume frequent horizontal positions, knocked out Monte Munn of Nebraska in the last round of their 10-round bout at the St. Nicholas Arena here.

The end came after two minutes and 52 seconds of the tenth round. They were in close quarters, with Munn in a bad way, when Scott started to flail the kidneys. Both men slipped to the floor, Scott being on top.

Phil immediately rose, but Munn, who had taken severe punishment throughout the fight, was unable to rise and was counted out.

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

HIS work was spotty at times, yet Victor Aldridge snapped into it on many occasions. The Hoosier Schoolmaster was the only Pirate hurler to offer a two-hit classic, Victor's victims being his former mates, the Cubs. Aldridge reeled off the pretty nine innings in the Oakland Orchard on July 9.

VIC also registered a three-hit masterpiece, the Cards taking the count on this shortage of blows. Added to Aldridge's string of successes were two four-hit specials. Remy Kremer pitched two three-hit encounters against the Reds and Dodgers.

THE National League had three one-hit parties, while the American League could not produce one of these affairs. Charlie Root, Virgil Barnes and Red Lucas were the heroes of the contests wherein a single blow was recorded by the [illegible]ny.

[illegible]NT RHEM, young Redbird [illegible]harpshooter, who is not wanted [illegible] the Pittsburgh management, [illegible]hed in with two two-hit games [illegible]y in the season. Flint, it is re[illegible]rted, strayed off the path later and [illegible] a result he is supposed to be on [illegible]he block.

RHEM does not have the actions of a "bad boy." Perhaps the rather strait-laced owners of the Redbirds were a bit too severe on the youth. In all events he has just about as much stuff as any righthander who has come into the National League in the past five years. Donie Bush could handle Rhem and get a lot of winning games from the recruit.

WOULDN'T it be quite a treat for the fans of the National League if Rabbit Maranville were to bob up at second base for the 1928 Cardinals? Stranger things happen—and don't forget that Bill McKechnie thinks a lot of Maranville on and off the field.

AN INFIELD composed of Bottomley, first; Maranville, second; Thevenow, short, and Frisch, third, would be close to par for the National League course. Frisch is almost in Traynor's class as a hot-corner tender, and Maranville, playing the keystone sack for the Pirates in 1924, set a new style of play which was the talk of the league. Neither Frisch nor Critz, with all the cunning and clever didoes, have eclipsed Maranville of that season.

TOMMY THEVENOW'S leg is supposed to be almost O. K. again. The wonder worker of the shortfield means much to the Redbirds, while Sunny Jim Bottomley is one of the best at his position. An airtight infield would do much to solve McKechnie's problems.

THE Redbirds seem to have picked up a potential star in Outfielder Orsatti, fleet Italian, who advanced from the Houston farm to the bigger home of the Cards. Orsatti is a clever, nervy youngster who worked as a "double" for Buster Keaton before he entered professional baseball.

THROUGH the SPORT LENS

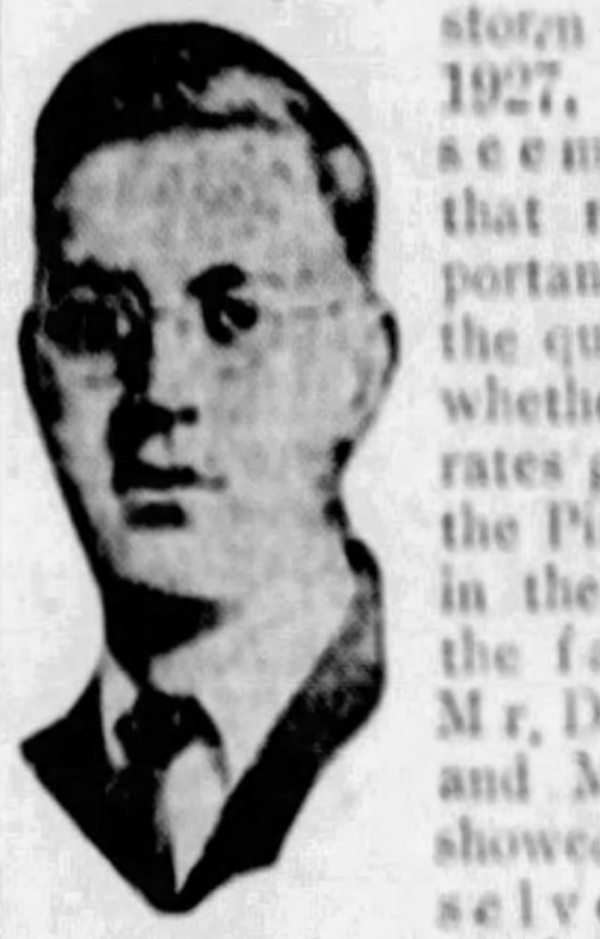
by HAVEY BOYLE

BARNEY DREYFUSS, owner of the Pirates, and Owen Bush, manager of the team, negotiated yesterday a trade for Hazen Cuyler, Pirate outfielder, storm center of 1927, and, it seems here, that more important than the question of whether the Pirates gained or the Pirates lost in the deal, is the fact that Mr. Dreyfuss and Mr. Bush showed themselves to be gentlemen.



HAVEY BOYLE.

There was a chance to wreak further vengeance on the unlucky outfielder of the Corsairs, but Mr. Dreyfuss and Mr. Bush rose above such petty stuff to further what they consider to be the best interests of the team, primarily, and also magnificently buried any malice toward Cuyler.

The most devout Cuyler fan in Pittsburgh can find no fault with the transformation of regalia which finds Cuyler a member of possibly the wealthiest team in all baseball, in a position to accumulate riches through a fat contract.

The way was open for Mr. Dreyfuss and Mr. Bush, through the peculiar structure of baseball law, to send the worthy and misunderstood Cuyler to a salt mine of the baseball realm there to have his baseball fragrance wasted on desolate air, but this human temptation (human in view of the fact that revenge is considered sometimes as entirely ethical), was mastered by Mr. Dreyfuss and Mr. Bush in a manner that reflects great credit on both of them.

THERE is still the sincere belief that both Mr. Dreyfuss and Mr. Bush seriously bungled the Cuyler affair from the day the unfortunate star was fined, but in all fairness it must be said that both rose to laudable stature in consenting to see the boy go to a club with a bright future instead of insisting that he go to a club where his undoubted talent would bring him improper return for his great worth.

INSTEAD of having mourners, Cuyler now has celebrants. He joins a team, owned by Mr. Wrigley, ambitious to own a pennant winner, and ready to fortify such worthy ambition with hard coin of the realm. It means that Cuyler will get a big increase in salary, and beyond doubt, be an important cog in a machine that may roll onto a pennant denied them after a gallant effort last season.

IN PURE money value, it is the belief here, subject to correction by wiser men, that the Pittsburgh club gave up more than it received—in the acquisition of Sparky Adams and Pete Scott. Cuyler in the open market likely would bring more in cash return than both together.

But under the circumstances, which made it incumbent on the Pirates to trade Cuyler at almost any cost or sacrifice, and the added fact that the Pirates were obviously in need of a second baseman, Pittsburgh fans will be logical enough to see that the Pirate officials made a wise move.

ADAMS, capable of playing second base, satisfactorily, and capable also of filling in at short and third base, will prove valuable to the Corsairs. Scott, of course, who held no steady job with an outfield inferior to the Pirates, is not possibly so hot, but with an imperative necessity of disposing of Cuyler and with an imperative necessity of getting a second baseman, who can object to the deal just consummated?

NOW that Cuyler is gone, both Mr. Dreyfuss and Mr. Bush are bound to revise earlier conceptions of this boy who while not wholly perfect, still looms as one of the heroic figures of baseball. This boy who can hit, run and throw, does not chew, drink or smoke, and I believe has translated dang for damn, certainly cannot remain the terrible ogre that a fantastic fanaticism on the part of his bosses caused them to eye him once upon a time.

THERE are still bruises on the fan anatomy from inept and clumsy blows struck by Mr. Dreyfuss and Mr. Bush, but that, with Cuyler down and ready to be socked for a kayo blow in the shape of a sentence to a lowly club, these once arch-enemies of the boy decided to let him get up, dance around for awhile to collect himself, must stand, in all fairness, as a monument to the inherent sportsmanship of these two officials.

The fact that they gave him a chance is testimony, it seems to me, that in the first place they bungled the job. Repairs being partially made, who is the one to hold back a certain admiration?

BENEFIT CARDED

A benefit for the Belleau Wood Memorial Fund will be held by the Pittsburgh detachment, Marine Corps League, comprising virtually all former Marines in Western Pennsylvania, on Thursday night at German Masonic Hall, Pressley and Madison streets, North Side. ## IRISH COACH LINES UP BOAT FOR TRIP

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Knute Rockne, of Notre Dame, that hardy old Viking whose conquering football expeditions throughout the length and breadth of the land annually lend color to the fall campaign, will widen the field of his travels.

The popular coach whose football schedules, squads and scores all run to large proportions is going about his new crusade in a big way. Rockne, it was learned from the Cunard Steamship Line offices yesterday has signed a contract chartering a boat for a six weeks' period during the coming summer. He will lead a tour to the 1928 Olympic games to be held in Amsterdam.

Although many college students are expected among the passengers of the good ship Rockne, the powerful Notre Dame team of 1927 will not, it is understood, be represented as a unit.

While football followers are not comparing the weather beaten coach to young Lindbergh, as seems to be expected of distinguished Americans planning trips to Europe, the gridiron lovers do feel in a way that Rockne will do no little good for the game as an unofficial ambassador. It is being pointed out that other sports such as tennis, baseball and boxing are represented abroad annually by no end of prominent personages.

On a continent where soccer football, first cousin, or perhaps the father of the American game, forms the national sport of so many countries, there is bound to be some curiosity over the forceful personality whose brilliant teams yearly play such a prominent part in the great American sport.

SPORT COMMENT

can hit to right field behind the lead-off man when the latter gets on first base, and in a general sense he will be an ideal man to follow Lloyd Waner in the batting order.

There will be two "pests" instead of one for the pitchers opposing Pittsburgh to face at the top of the order, and with Paul Waner, Wright, Traynor and the rest following, the Picaroon attack will be more formidable than it has been for some time. And don't overlook the fact that Adams scores an average of 100 runs a season and steals an average of 25 or more bases.

WITH Grantham back on first base, Adams at second, Wright at short and Traynor at third, the Pittsburgh infield will be about as smoothly-working a combination as can be found anywhere in the big leagues.

True, Adams is no youngster, as he was 31 years old last August 26, but he is still as good as he ever was, and for two or three years at least he will fill Pittsburgh's midway wants to a nicety.

You will often hear the argument raised that when a club gives two players for one, it is not receiving in either of the incoming players the individual value of the man let go. But this case is different, for it all depends on what a club needs, and the Pirates get exactly what they needed in Adams. The deal would have helped the Bucs for that reason even if an additional player had not been obtained with the little second sacker.

AND Scott is likely to prove a handy man as well. He is big, strong fast fellow, who can "murder" left-hand pitchers and even if he is not given a regular berth but is held only for utility and pinch-hitting purposes he will be a handy man to stick in when the Pirates are facing a southpaw.

The Cubs took a big gamble in the deal, for the success of the trade from their angle depends upon Freddie Maguire, obtained from Toledo, making good in their infield. It was the Bruins' infield that caused most fans to doubt their pennant chances last season, and was that weakness that finally caused their downfall. Now they have parted with their best infielder to strengthen the outfield.

How it will work out in Chicago is a question, but that is a matter that concerns only the Cubs themselves. Pittsburghers are in a position to sit back with a smile of satisfaction and wait the coming of the 1928 season with even better grounds for pennant confidence than they had last year, for there is another deal or two to be made yet that will make the home team even stronger.

ALL around it is a good deal for Pittsburgh, a good deal for Cuyler, and if the Cubs can patch up the hole caused by the loss of Adams it may prove a good deal for the Bruins, too.

President Dreyfuss and Manager Bush in placing Cuyler with a club where he will have a better chance both in a financial and a playing way than if he had been sent to a tail-ender is to be commended. They not only made a deal that should please Pittsburgh fans because it strengthens the Pirates, but they exploded the false impression that it was a vindictive urge that prompted them to get rid of Kiki.

No player ever was given a higher recommendation to his new employers than the two Pirate chiefs gave Cuyler to his new employers when the deal was completed.

their all too brief hour of glory.

There are 36 sections in the stadium as it now stands. More may be added later, if a second tier is ever built. Why not dedicate a section each year to the team of that season, and have a bronze tablet affixed to the concrete wall in the front of each section, and engraved thereon the names of each player on the squad and record of the team, and the donors of the plaque.

It would be a simple matter for the various fraternities and clubs to take over the job of placing the tablet each year, and to arrange for the dedicatory ceremonies. It is suggested that they be held at the Penn State game on Thanksgiving Day, between halves or before the start of the game Thanksgiving Day.

For the next two years, providing the plan should be adopted, double ceremonies could be arranged and tablets to the 1925 and '26 elevens be placed.

It wouldn't be such a bad idea to set aside two sections and dedicate them to Pop Warner and Jock Sutherland, the two coaches who have done the most toward putting Pitt football on the plane it now occupies, and whose teams are directly responsible for the existence of the stadium.

CARNEGIE TECH will arrive back home tomorrow morning after the Tartans' first invasion of the Pacific coast. Tech tied the Oregon Aggies, a well rated Pacific Coast Conference eleven, in a thrilling battle Saturday, and played fine football in the doing.

Tech's feat in tying the Aggies is doubly impressive when it is considered that they entered the game badly crippled after the gruelling game the week before with University of Detroit's Titans here at Forbes Field. Wertenberger, Moorhead, Allen, Cowan and English were battered for fair by the Titans, and it was feared for a time that they would be unable to take the field against Oregon.

W. VA. SCHOOL TEAMS WON'T PLAY FOR TITLE

WESTON, W. Va., Nov. 29.—No post-season game for the West Virginia schoolboy title will brighten a passed football season this year. This is the ruling of the board of appeals of the athletic association of the state, but was really caused by the unwillingness of the two leading teams, Morgantown and Parkersburg, to play such a game.

The task of deciding the title was much simplified by the very unexpected downfall of Ceredo-Kenova at the hands of Hinton High, which was the outstanding contender. A game between Parkersburg and Morgantown would have settled it, had they consented to play.

Three other teams, Keyser, Ravenswood and Chester have also come through the season undefeated, but their records do not justify them to title recognition.

THE Siano Club, picked as one of the strongest contenders for the P. & O. League championship, opened its season last night in an impressive manner by defeating the St. Richards passers, 32 to 27, before a packed house at Columbus Temple.

If the form shown by the contesting teams in the opening battle is a criterion of the league's strength this league is likely to rank among the leading independent circuits operating hereabouts this year.

St. Richards is a setup for no club, with two stars as Wassell and Liggett at forwards. This pair kept the Sianos on their toes from start to finish and are certain to be heard from before the season ends.

The Sianos came up to expectations in their opener, flashing an attack that is likely to carry them far in the P. & O. League race. Catzio, former Fifth Avenue High star who is a newcomer, came through with three field goals to place the game on the Sianos' ledger. Sheehan and Waddell as usual played their brilliant game on the defense.

JACK SCHNIEDER, constable of the First Ward, has a team on the floor this season that is composed of "shooting fools." This light first-class quintet appeared in the preliminary battle at Columbus Temple last night and all it did was to register 72 points, while its opponents gathered 2.

The Schneiders will appear in all preliminaries to the Sianos this year, meeting the best clubs in their class. They showed a remarkable attack for a first-year quintet, their opponents finding their scoring activities stopped from the first whistle.

MICKEY GROSS is expected to enter the Broadway Club of Beechview in the Allegheny County League at a meeting of the managers, scheduled in Kaufmann's tonight. If Mickey succeeds in lining up two stars he has been seeking, Beechview will be the eighth representative in this strong circuit.

DRIBBLES

Tomorrow night the Red McMahan Club of the South Side will meet the Jolly Club of Crafton in the preliminary to the B. L. Succops' P. & O. League clash.

The Mieles are keyed up to high pitch for their battle at Columbus Temple Friday with the Siano Club. The two clubs are rivals for the title in the P. & O. League and their battle is certain to bring out a capacity crowd of divided supporters.

Two hard games face the Heinz House quintet this week. Tonight they meet the Knickers in Lawrenceville and Thursday clash with Homewood at Homewood.

The Goldensons will make their initial start in the P. & O. League tonight when they invade Beechview to meet St. Catherines. The Goldensons as a result of their showing against the Braddock American Legion, are picked to win the first-half championship of the P. & O. League.

The Knickerbockers of Lawrenceville will be out to score their third straight victory when they meet Heinz House in a West Penn League battle at Forresters Hall tonight. Coach Yans Wallace has warned his players not to regard the game lightly despite the fact that Heinz House has yet to score a league victory.

St. Michael's Lyceum of the South Side would like to arrange games at home and abroad with first-class teams. Call Hemlock 9141 after 7:30 p. m.

The Penn Cadets are booking games at home and abroad with strong junior and midget teams. Call Sterling 9527 for dates.

The St. Richards Club of the P. & O. League will open its home season on Wednesday when it clashes with the J. J. Mieles, last year's champions. The game is scheduled for the Holy Trinity floor.

The Lefty Gallagher Flyweights will present a strong light first-class team this winter in Day, Shaw, Markowitch, Kist, Vanchin and Bussang. Workouts are being held every night on the Woods Run School floor.

home. Cotton is laid up with leg injuries.

Tonight's setto with the Americans marks the Pirates 1927-28 debut at the local arena. Both clubs are trailing along in last place in their respective groups, but as is usually the case when a New York club meets a Pittsburgh entry a fast and interesting battle is in the offing.

The Pirates are not in the best of shape, although on their arrival they appeared to be in fine spirits and confident of triumph. The Bucs leave immediately after the game for home to make ready for their game with Boston at Duquesne Garden Thursday night.

The probable lineups:

| Americans. | Pos. | Pirates. |
|---|---|---|
| Millers | G. | Worters |
| Simpson | D | Langlois |
| Reise | D | Smith |
| Burch | C | Milks |
| Darragh | W | McKinnon |
| R. Green | W | Arbour |

American spares—Bowcher, Boucher, Bouchard, Himes and Barry. Pirates—Drury, White, Rothschild, McCurry and McKinnon.

CUYLER

as lending marked improvement to McCarthy's outfield. Then, again, McCarthy seems to be one of the best managers in the game in handling players. Cuyler, therefore, should prosper under Joe's guidance.

Another big factor in the coming of Adams is seen in the possible solution of the second notch of the Pirate batting order. This position caused Bush much concern as early as the spring training period and later the Cuyler controversy came from it. Adams is well qualified to bat either at the top of the order or in second place.

FANS' OPINIONS

Adams and Scott for a player of Cuyler's known ability.

P. J. MORAN, contractor, 2542 Fifth avenue—I cannot see where the Pirates profited by disposing of a ballplayer of Cuyler's type. Cuyler's work with the Pirates never will be forgotten despite his departure from the club.

W. D. MILLER, Hickman-Williams Co.—I don't think much of the methods of the Pittsburgh club. Cuyler wasn't given a fair chance by the management and I think he is better off as a regular with the Cubs than as a marked man with the Pirates.

J. L. THOMPSON, Realtor—I don't believe the Pirates made a good trade. They should have made an effort to obtain Hughey Critz. You cannot take it away from Cuyler, he is one sweet ballplayer. There is nothing in baseball he couldn't do to perfection. However, we must wait to see the result before passing final judgment.

DR. HARRY M. GOEHRING, Osteopath—Dreyfuss pulled a smart deal. He traded one smart player for two smart ones and got rid of a player who wouldn't take orders and in return obtained what he most needed, a good second baseman. The Pirates now have a well-rounded club.

ROBERT J. ALDERDICE, councilman—I think it splendid! Sparky Adams is the best infielder in the country, to my mind—and goodness knows the Pittsburgh club is in dire need of a good second baseman. While I'm sorry to see Cuyler leave the Bucs, for he is an excellent player and I've always admired him, I feel certain that the Dreyfuss outfit will benefit by the trade.

HAYDEN GENTRY, treasurer, Nixon Theater—I think Chicago got the better of the deal. I've always admired Cuyler and I'm afraid that when Chicago plays here I'll be rooting against the Pirates. It was the best trade Pittsburgh could have made, however, and Adams is a sweet player. Cuyler's heart was broken by the treatment accorded him here and so was almost worthless to the club.

KARL E. DAVIS, graduate manager of athletics at Pitt—I am glad that the trade, if it had to be made, was made at an early date, as it should relieve Cuyler of much mental anxiety. Cuyler is a great player, but his differences with the management decreased his worth to the team. I think Adams and Scott should contribute much to the success of the Pirates in 1928.

ED PRENDERGAST, Pirate fan—Cuyler has moved big emotions. Then he had to "take it on the button," due to a misunderstanding, and he didn't cry about it. Sparky Adams and Pete Scott may equalize—on paper—the trade. Some fans we know still will pay out the golden dollars to "just see Cuyler throw one to the plate."

R. A. DARRAGH, Paper Products Company, Terminal way, South Side—While the Pirates are somewhat strengthened at second base, the management has sacrificed one of the greatest ball players ever to enter the big leagues. I believe the deal is a poor one for Pittsburgh. I am mighty sorry to see a player of Cuyler's type leave the club.

ELMER F. BLAKESLEE, University of Pittsburgh athletic director—It is my opinion that the Cubs-Pirates trade will work to the advantage of both teams. There is no doubt but that Cuyler is a great player and he should strengthen the Bruins even as Adams will add to the effectiveness of the Pirate infield. You might add that I think the Pitt Panthers are the greatest football team in the world.

H. H. BREITENBACH, assistant cashier, Union Savings Bank—The trade should benefit both clubs, but I think the Pirates made a mistake in not making an effort to obtain Fresco Thompson of the Phils. Adams should make an ideal lead-off man and a star second baseman.

DR. L. G. BEINHAUER, Jenkins Arcade—I believe Cuyler is a victim of circumstances and will be a better ball player with the Cubs than he was with the Pirates. The trade strengthens second base in the Pirates' infield, a position that showed room for considerable improvement last year. Personally, I am sorry to see Cuyler leave the Pirates.

CRAIG B. JACOBS, advertising—It was a great trade. Chicago got the better of the deal any way you look at it, but the addition of Adams and Scott will greatly strengthen the Pirates. While I hate to see Cuyler leave, I believe he will feel better with the Cubs. Adams is a great player and will fit in Pittsburgh's lineup nicely; Scott won't do us a bit of harm.

D. E. BENJAMIN, Sun-Telegraph sports photographer—The Pirates needed a good second baseman and they got one, so what's all the shouting for? When you get what you want in a trade, it's a good deal, isn't it?

JOSEPH E. BUMBERA, bond salesman—I think it's a great trade—for Chicago.

PAUL KNOX COLLINS, former president of Pittsburgh Stove League—I am very sorry to see Cuyler go, but I must say that I like the deal from a Pirate viewpoint, because it strengthens the club by providing it with a second baseman who was urgently needed. I think perhaps Pittsburgh might have received more in exchange for Cuyler if it were not for the fact that it needed a second baseman more than anything else and therefore had to grab the best man that could be obtained. I regret to see Cuyler leave Pittsburgh and believe he will strengthen Chicago, a rival pennant contender, but at the same time I think the Pirates have been bolstered.

GLENN G. GOE, purchasing agent of National Tube Company and Dormont Stove Leaguer—In my opinion, the deal is all that could be desired from a Pittsburgh viewpoint. I do not see how the Pirate management could have done any better, and I believe that in obtaining Adams they have bolstered the club where it needed strengthening most. Of course, all local patrons regret Cuyler's leaving, but you can't keep what you've got and at the same time get what the other fellow has, too. I believe it is a good deal for the Pirates and that it leaves the club sitting pretty for next spring.

CANUCKS BUY SKEETERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(AP.)—Negotiations for the purchase of the Jersey City Internationals by a million-dollar Montreal corporation have been completed, John Conway Toole, president of the league, disclosed yesterday. The transfer of the franchise, effective for the 1928 season, is expected to be ratified at their meeting here Monday.

Walsh Names Welch Kern All-Americans

GIBBY WELCH, captain and sensational halfback of the Pitt Panthers, who has been named on every All-American team announced to date, kept his slate clean today when he was listed on the mythical eleven chosen by Davis J. Walsh, International News Service sports editor. Bill Kern of Pitt, at tackle on Walsh's second eleven, is the only other West Penn gridder to win a berth on any of Walsh's three full teams.

The honorable mention list includes Donchess of Pitt, at end; Roberts of Pitt, at guard; Aschman of W. & J. and Meilziner of Carnegie, at center; Nagan of Pitt, Roepke of Penn State, Amos of W. & J. and Flenniken of Geneva, in the backfield. Walsh's three All-American teams follow:

| | FIRST TEAM. | SECOND TEAM. | THIRD TEAM. |
|---|---|---|---|
| E | Oosterbaan, Mich. | Mathews, Tex. Christ. | Born, Army |
| T | Sprague, Army | Kern, Pittsburgh | Sprott, Texas A. & M. |
| G | Webster, Yale | Baer, Michigan. | McMullin, Nebraska |
| G | Bettencourt, St. Marys | Butcher, Tennessee | Reitsch, Illinois. |
| G | Smith, Notre Dame | Wright, Washington | Hanson, Minnesota. |
| T | Hibbs, South. Cal. | Douds, W. & J. | Smith, Penn. |
| E | Nash, Georgia | Cole, Dartmouth | Shiver, Georgia |
| HB | Welch, Pittsburgh | Presnell, Nebraska | Flanagan, Notre Dame |
| HB | Drury, South. Cal. | Marsters, Dartmouth | Gobert, Marquette |

FIGHT

the chin that dropped Saylor along the ropes. Saylor took a count of nine and when he got up did a Chicago Gene Tunney on his bicycle. Harmon kept after him and continued the body beating and it appeared just a question of time before Saylor would sag down from the blows.

Late in the fourth round, Saylor began to pick up a bit of confidence and started to use his left hand with some semblance of his real ability, scoring often, but Harmon had the round by a wide margin through his heavy punching.

Saylor continued to lead in the fifth round until what he claims was a butt opened a deep cut over his right eye. In a jiffy both Saylor and Harmon were painted like Indians with the blood from the wound. Harmon dug in harder and tried to finish the bout, but found Saylor fighting back at the bell.

As the round ended, Referee Joe Keally, followed Saylor to his corner to determine the severity of the eye injury. Manager Jim Buchanan looked it over also, and, without consulting with Saylor, immediately tossed in the towel. It was a wise bit of seconding. The cut was so deep that Dr. Briney, the commission physician, had to sew it up in the dressing room later and Saylor was so far behind he had no chance to catch up except by scoring a knockout and his chances in this direction were virtually nil. Some there were in the crowd who booed the stopping of the bout, but they evidently were not aware of the seriousness of Saylor's injury.

Both Saylor and Harmon weighed 147 pounds at 2 p. m.

KATKISH, BANY WIN

Jack Katkish, of Lawrenceville, sadly off form, slugged his way to victory over Walter Dickerson, of California, Pa., in the eight-round semi-final. He floored Dickerson for a count of seven early in the first round, but was unable to repeat thereafter. Dickerson fought a game, clever bout and often made Katkish miss badly and a number of times the latter found himself off balance and sprawling to the floor. Dickerson finished with a bad right eye. Katkish weighed 145½ pounds and Dickerson 141½.

Jack Bany, of McKeesport, defeated Eddie Carver, of the South Side, in the six-round second bout, a hard-fought affair. Both weighed 127½ pounds. Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, 146½ pounds, stopped Scrappy Whitelaw, of the Hill, 117½, in 50 seconds of the first round in the opener, Whitelaw's seconds throwing in the towel after he had been floored five times and had taken a count on only the first visit to the floor.

Martin Dietz alternated with Keally as referee, and the judges were Frank (Bull) Brown and Jim McLaughlin. A. C. Couch was back on the job as timekeeper. The gate was not up to expectations. Announcement of the Kiki Cuyler trade from the ring drew jeers from the fans.

state that I hope Mr. Dreyfuss, Donie Bush and the rest of the Pirates continue to have luck."

Shortly after the Pirate-Cub deal was completed, Mr. Dreyfuss in talking with William Wrigley, Chicago owner, over the long-distance telephone paid Cuyler a high compliment.

"In all our dealing a harsh word never passed between Cuyler and me," Dreyfuss stated later.

Shakespeare Returns to Nixon With Otis Skinner as Falstaff In "The Merry Wives of Windsor"

By GEORGE SEIBEL

GEORGE SEIBEL

SHAKESPEARE is not dead—and theatrical astronomy still has stars of the first magnitude—these truths were impressed upon the audience at the Nixon Theater last night, when "The Merry Wives of Windsor" was revived with a cast of exceptional excellence. Falstaff, immortal wit and rogue, was played by Otis Skinner, who has all the sly unction required for that character. Mistress Page herself came to life in the person of Mrs. Fiske, who is one of our best comediennes when she has no problems to solve. And Mistress Ford proved alluring as presented by Henrietta Crosman, a perennial Pittsburgh favorite. In fact, these two ladies made the infatuation of the fat knight quite credible; his stupidity was explained and excused by their irresistible fascination.

"The Merry Wives of Windsor" is pure farce, with just a fringe of romance in the love story of sweet Anne Page, and a touch of festivity in the fairy revels of the last act. Only the speed of the action and the rollicking spirit of the characterization make it go down—for surely the real Sir John of "Henry IV" was never so slow of wit as he in this comedy, nor was ever any husband, even in Boccaccio, so ridiculously jealous as goodman Ford. Well, speed of action and the spirit of characterization were not lacking in the performance last night—a revival that will be memorable in our theatrical annals.

It was memorable not only by reason of the cast, but also by a richly adequate production. Shakespeare without scenery and Shakespeare in modern costume is still Shakespeare, but such a typical Elizabethan street scene as the square in Windsor helps the illusion wonderfully—although the streets of that day were never so clean nor the flowers hardly so well tended. The taproom of the Garter Inn, the chamber in Ford's house, and the park of Windsor with Herne's Oak at midnight, were the other settings, all of them in period and full of atmosphere.

Yet, as to atmosphere, it need not be reckoned with in this play. "The Merry Wives" is a farce that can be understood easily enough by anyone who doesn't know the difference between Ben Jonson and Ban Johnson. It is simply fun, fast and furious, the faster and the more furious the better. This tempo was caught by all the players—especially by Mrs. Fiske and Miss Crosman, by Rodolpho Badaloni as Dr. Caius and Hannam Clark as Sir Hugh Evans. Eleanor Gordon was Mistress Quickly, an admirable foil to Falstaff, while William C. Masson was the host of the Garter Inn with all the bluff bravado belonging to the part. Of minor roles special mention must be made of Burford Hampden as the loutish Peter Simple, and Tracy Barrow as the red-nosed Bardolph. Owen Meech was the Shallow, France Bendtsen was the Slender, Henry Mowbray was the Page, and Lawrence H. Cecil was the Ford—and all played well.

That leaves the romantic lovers, Master Fenton and sweet Anne Page. Elaine Temple is a figure of girlish grace such as Shakespeare himself never saw, for the women in his plays were taken by boys, but Miss Temple is also an actress of rare charm. Geoffrey Wardwell looked and played the lover to perfection, so that every one could join with a good heart in the joyous revels at the close of the last act.

The audience appreciated the play in spite of the occasional archaisms and obsolete words—for which the exceptionally fine diction of Mrs. Fiske and Miss Crosman made full amends. How did the superstition that Mrs. Fiske is inaudible arise? She has voice enough, surely, and knows how to use it. And such acting as she and Miss Crosman imparted to their parts goes far to make old-fashioned phraseology seem fresh and vigorous.

In the midst of this merry medley the Falstaff of Otis Skinner moves with some of the dignity of a courtier and a philosopher even in his most undignified scenes. There is a knightly quality about his lubberliness, his escapades have a romantic flavor despite their unsavory course, and he takes his drenchings and cudgelings in such good humor that one is almost sorry for him. Mr. Skinner has added a very notable figure to our Shakespearean portrait gallery—and it is set worthily in one of the finest Shakespearean productions of many years. The spacious days of Queen Elizabeth are made to live, and the greatest comic figure in all literature still evokes hearty laughter 300 years after it sprang from the master brain of Shakespeare.

NORWORTHS NAG IN DAVIS

Matrimonial argumentation in the wee sma' hours gave the audiences in the Davis an hilarious quarter of an hour yesterday, as carried on by Jack Norworth and Dorothy Adelphi in pajamas and bed. Their little comedy, "The Nagger," is one of the funniest seen here for some time. Another gem of excruciating farce was "My Hero," a take-off on enlistment, presented by James Mullen and Anna Francis, who manage to be very funny without ever being offensive. Then the Mosconi Brothers, assisted by Gay Nell and Dorothy Van Alst, gave a dance revue with capital burlesquing of the Tunney-Dempsey fight and a tennis match between Babe Ruth and Suzanne Lenglen. W. H. Groh staged a thrilling volley ball game with his assortment of canine comedians called the Piano Hounds. Burns and Churchill have stony faces, difficult dances and amusing sallies. Mary Marlowe imitates a parrot and a dog convincingly, and kept from singing "Me and My Shadow." The Rubye Lathram team performed some startling aerial feats. "Paid to Love," the photoplay, is a picturesque romance with George O'Brien and Virginia Valli in the leading roles.

When it's Christmas—and they're in love—and there is going to be a surprise—people get that "Jingle-Bell Look." ELEANOR HALLOWELL ABBOTT tells about it in a whimsical tale all bubbling with happiness as Christmas stories should. Enjoy it tonight

IN DECEMBER—GOOD HOUSEKEEPING
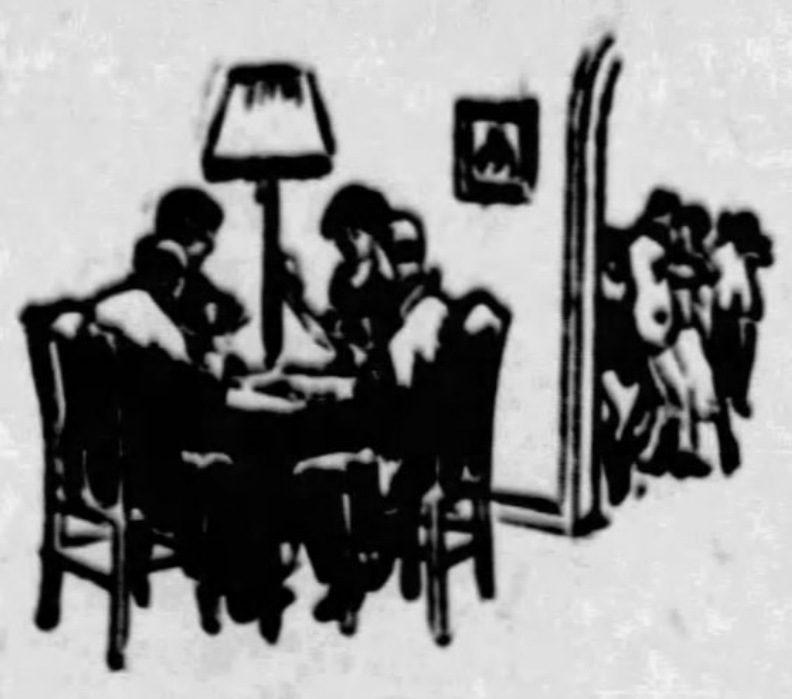
—OUT TODAY!

BRUCE BARTON'S "The Baptism of Jesus," illustrated in gorgeous colors by Dean Cornwell, is the first of a series on the Holy Land by this famous twain. A forerunner of the holiday time is CONINGSBY DAWSON'S "Mother of God," which gives a deeper meaning to Christmas.

The "Light" of the Party



The best thing about Mrs. Brown's party cost only 15c—and that was the electric light. Plenty of lights are necessary to the success of any party, and Mrs. Brown's lights for the entire evening cost less than a single favor.

The smallest item of the family budget is the electric bill.

ARBUCKLE SEEN IN ALDINE

Roscoe Fatty Arbuckle won a lot of applause when he walked onto the Aldine stage yesterday afternoon. Perhaps some of it was stimulated by a little speech, preceding his appearance, made by Walter Kane, another performer on the bill, who urged that the former screen comic be accorded an enthusiastic reception. Fatty "monologued" himself into a number of laughs, put over a few more with the assistance of Kane and sang, or, rather, "gave," a song. He looked about the same as he used to on the screen, only, though, there was still plenty off it, his avoirdupois appeared less. Paul Burns and the above-referred to Kane presented an act of funny nonsense and some old jokes. But Burns was a clever comedian and the pair won lots of applause. The Parisian Trio, in a novel and entertaining offering, mixed chalk drawing, acrobatics and music. The male member of the trio climbed up and down a stepladder, balancing a table, sofa and a couple of chairs on his head. Jim and Betty Morgan presented a refreshing musical act. Jim played the piano and violin and Betty sang. The Seven Steppers gave a peppy dance presentation, with "the seventh stepper" winning most of the acclaim. One of those South Sea romances—"The Isle of Forgotten Women," featuring Conway Tearle and Dorothy Sebastian—was shown on the screen. Short features completed the bill.

Romantic Film and Acts In Grand

The program presented in the Grand yesterday included "Rose of the Golden West," on the screen, and Canzano, accordeon artist; Foster, Fagan and Cox, "The Three Humming Birds," and Rose and Arthur Boylan, dancers, on the stage. Canzano pleased with his melodies. The vocal and instrumental numbers of the trio were enjoyed and the Boylans put individuality into their snappy exhibition of stepping. "Rose of the Golden West," which has as a background the freeing of California from local misgovernment by United States intervention in the days when it was under Spanish rule, also has a love romance as a concurrent theme. This is made to synchronize so that the heroine contrives to make her marriage bells a signal for the landing of United States Marines. Mary Astor is just the type as the senorita heroine and Gilbert Roland is a handsome don and hero. The bill also includes a Lloyd Hamilton comedy, "New Wrinkles," and an overture by the Grand Orchestra, directed by David Broudy.

"Paris Flappers" Is Bill In Academy

"Parisian Flappers," a Mutual burlesque, is this week's attraction at the Academy. Stella Morrissey, heads the cast and introduces two amusing specialties. Flossie Devere plays a soubret role and gives a specialty, "Dance of the Veils." Frank Anderson, Sam Lewis, Dick Richards and George Stella cause laughs with their foolery. One of the features is an animated tableau curtain showing 16 girls. Hinda Wassau, a dancer who has been seen here before, appears in new numbers and displays novel costumes. "Pep" Bedford and the Wee Wee girls are seen in specialties.

"THE SPIDER," IN PITT, OPENS ITS FINAL WEEK

"The Spider," which has been a success in the Pitt for two weeks, opened the final six days of its engagement there yesterday. This is a mystery comedy which has novel features that add much to the amusement of the audience. William Courtenay is at the head of a numerous company, which includes—well, you'd be surprised.

M'CORMACK'S PROGRAM HAS IRISH FOLK SONGS

John McCormack, popular singer, will give one of his characteristic programs Thursday evening in Syria Mosque. It will include several arias, a group of Irish folk songs, a group of English selections and the old favorites that have endeared him to many. He will be assisted by his accompanist, Mr. Schneider, and Lauri Kennedy, cellist.

THERE'S a bigger demand than ever this year for Volland books. Children love them. Parents enjoy them. Teachers recommend them. The new books this year go still further in public favor. In all, there are 95 big and little Volland books for big and little boys and girls—the happiest books published.

Many dealers display Volland books in a special book-rack. All dealers have Volland books, or can get them for you without delay. Give your gifts from the Volland line and thus be sure you are giving real Christmas joy.

THE P. F. VOLLAND COMPANY
Joliet, Illinois

Actor and Dog Pals

JOSEPH SCHILDKRAUT'S pal is his wire-haired fox terrier, Rocky. They're often together in the DeMille studio, where Schildkraut plays one of the parts in "The Blue Danube."

Jimmy Lyons Tops Program In Sheridan

Jimmy Lyons, comedian, is passing out an entertaining monologue in the Sheridan Square the first three days of the week. He jests about many things locally, but his humor takes away the sting. Other acts include the Orange Grove Entertainers, jazz musicians and singers; Jinks and Ann, in a novelty skit, and Golden and Golden, harmony singers. Also on the bill are Luley, Henri and Crooker, billed as "Just Three Rubes." These boys offer acrobatic stunts, country dances and songs. The photoplay is "Paid to Love," featuring George O'Brien and Virginia Valli. It is the story of a girl whose beauty rocks a kingdom—one of those mythical kingdoms that has been popular ever since "Graustark" was created. News pictures and a film comedy also are on the bill.

MEIGHAN'S UNDERWORLD PHOTOPLAY IN OLYMPIC

The photoplay feature in the Olympic this week is Thomas Meighan's production, "The City Gone Wild." It is a picture with an underworld theme. There's lots of crooks, gun-play and mystery in the drama. Meighan has the role of a criminal attorney, who is powerful enough to bring a truce between two rival gangs. Auriole Craven, dancing violinist, is seen and heard as one of the Vitaphone features. Miller and Farrell, society entertainers, and a setxet of singers complete the Vitaphone bill. News pictures are shown.

NEW FORD CAR IS SURPRISE

Four-wheel brakes, standard selective gear transmission, extraordinary acceleration, a speed of 60 miles an hour and more, a virtually vibrationless engine, and unusual beauty in line and color are among the outstanding features of the new Ford cars, the first of which will be shown in Motor Square Garden Friday. The generator, oiling system, steering gear and rear axle are of new Ford design, it is announced. Its 40 horsepower engine has been so designed that it runs 20 to 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

This car, which is to succeed the Model T, will be shown on Friday by Ford dealers in many of the larger cities. Pittsburgh Ford dealers will have displays.

For months factory models of the new car have been undergoing severe performance tests in and around Detroit. One of these factory models recently made a road run of 120 miles in 124 minutes on an ordinary paved highway near Detroit.

Local dealers, in commenting on the forthcoming show, said their first view of the new Ford car had substantiated Henry Ford's statement that "there is nothing quite like it in quality and price."

"Mr. Ford's statement had prepared us for a surprise," said a local dealer, "but the new Ford car is better even than we had hoped for."

BARTON, O., WOMAN SUCCUMBS AT 96

BARTON, O., Nov. 29.—Mrs. Susan A. Shears, 96, one of the oldest women in the Ohio valley, died at her home here last night.

"Les Miserables" Is Film In Cameo

"Les Miserables," a French-made photoplay of Victor Hugo's classic story, is the current feature in the Cameo. The production is entertaining and well acted. However, there is a lack of continuity in the manner of its presentation on the screen. This may be due to the fact that it has been cut down from its original 11 or so reels to meet with American presentation conditions. Gilbert Gabrio, French actor, gives a very creditable portrayal of Jean Valjean, the ex-convict, who "stole a loaf of bread." The juvenile actress, who plays Cosette, the child, also does an outstanding characterization. Adventure, thrills and romance abound. There are many good scenic effects. Another "Collegians" picture and the news reel also are shown.

HARRIS OFFERS NOVEL ACTS

Comedy, novelty and music are the chief ingredients in the current vaudeville bill in the Harris. Harry Keesler, Margaret Matheson, Mae Swanson and Evelyn Brown, a versatile quartet, top the program, mixing song, dance and comedy. Leons' Ponies is an act that specially appeals to juveniles, although it amuses grownups also. Kirk and Lawrence, assisted by a couple of dummy horses, win laughs with their "Days of Buffalo Bill." Sylvester and Vance give a comedy skit that shows some originality in its lines. Carr and Dowling play the piano, sing songs and chatter nonsense. The Genaro Girls, billed as "Acme of Flexibility," also are on the bill. The screen feature is "Black Jack," starring Buck Jones. The story theme is the lust for gold and it involves two men, a girl, a key to a lost mine and a gang of desperadoes. There's lots of fast riding and fast shooting. Barbara Bennett is the heroine. An organlogue and news pictures are on the bill.

Billy Gilbert's Show Given In Gayety

Billy Gilbert's "High Hat Review," presented in the Gayety yesterday, had Gilbert in the featured comic roles. Eddie Lloyd was his principal assistant in the laugh parts, which were alternated with specialties of a vaudeville nature, including singing and dancing by principals and chorus. Gilbert burlesqued the magician, the cigar store patron, the man who didn't understand what "it" is in the song, "It," sung by himself by Dolly Ashton, Armond Monte and Mr. Gilbert, as well as appearing in most of the scenes throughout the show. Other principals included Margie Catlin, Belle Barron, Billy Bena and George Murray. Of course the radio has to be spoofed and there are various other travesties, including "The Wise Ones," a series of surprise episodes showing how easy it is to be mistaken.

HUGO PICTURIZATION CAMERPHONE FILM

The picturization of Victor Hugo's classic, "Les Miserables," is the photoplay feature in the Cameraphone. This production was made in France and includes hundreds of players in the cast. Many of the scenes were filmed on the actual locations of the story. The leading role, that of Jean Valjean, the convict, is portrayed by Gilbert Gabrio, French actor. A capable cast of principals are in his support. News pictures, a film comedy and special music also are on the bill.

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 29.—Five thousand public school children of Mercer county will be given the Schick test in an immunization campaign against diphtheria, County Medical Director S. J. Dickey announced.

Sousa and His Band Score As Penn Headliner in Bill of Leader's Compositions

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

John Philip Sousa, whose official rank is lieutenant commander, whose musical status is designated as "march king," and whose familiar standing is that of America's leading bandmaster, was accorded a hearty greeting yesterday by a crowd that filled the Penn Theater, where Lieutenant Commander Sousa and his band of 60 are filling an engagement for the week. It really was a high testimonial for Director Sousa and at the same time convincing evidence that the public taste for music actually reaches a plane higher than is expressed by jazz, popular as the syncopated melody seems to be.

Unless you look the band very carefully over you will fail to detect the presence of a saxophone. That instrument, of course, is represented, but it merely is part of the band instead of being all of it. It doesn't even get a solo part in the program, that being reserved for the cornet. It doesn't even get a trio part, slide trombones being given that honor. It doesn't get to the front of the stage at all. That's just how old-fashioned and wholesome the Sousa program is.

The selections, all of which met with the heartiest approval of the audience, were five popular marches composed by Sousa, opening with the "Washington Post," and including "El Capitan," "Semper Fidelis," "U. S. Cavalry" and the stirring "Stars and Stripes Forever," as well as Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," the latter including a cornet solo part that was exceedingly well rendered. It closed with accompaniment by Dick Liebert on the Penn organ, the effect being magnificent as the organ and band music blended into a mighty harmony under the direction of the skilled leader.

While all the selections were popular "Stars and Stripes Forever," fittingly reserved for the finale, was greeted with the most applause when the card announced that selection to the audience. Its lively martial air and catchy melody was played with such feeling that the audience was swept into enthusiastic outburst as the final note was played with the United States emblem, the eagle, descending from the stage flies.

Lieut. Commander Sousa conducted with dignity as well as ability. There was no arm-waving or gymnastics. It was all done with an easy grace that was quite refreshing.

During the program there were two soprano solos by Marjorie Moody, whose singing of Herbert's "Italian Street Song" and "Comin' Thro the Ilye" gave much pleasure.

The feature picture was "Topsy and Eva," starring the Duncan Sisters, who also appeared in the musical comedy of the same title, presented as a musicalized version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It proved quite amusing in its film form, which had undergone such screen elaboration as to inject features not seen in the stage vehicle.

There also were the Leibert organ recital, song by Fred Dempsey, an overture by the Penn Orchestra, conducted by Don Albert, news pictures and a novelty film, "The Death Trap."

Lieutenant Commander Sousa, who was greeted by combined high school bands on his arrival yesterday, will visit high schools several mornings this week to instruct the bands.

GEO. WHITE'S "SCANDALS" SCORES AGAIN IN ALVIN

George White's "Scandals" last night repeated the hit which it scored in the Alvin last week, when it was first presented there. The large list of stars, Ann Pennington, Willie and Eugene Howard, Tom Patricola, Buster West, Harry Richman and others, have many opportunities to distinguish themselves in this gorgeous review and they make the most of their chances.

Worker Gives His Budget; What Wife Who Works Says

By B. C. FORBES

THIS column "started something" when it published the budget of a Seattle department store clerk receiving $27.50 a week and unable to maintain his wife and one child without going into debt every month. His request for suggestions has brought a deluge of letters from all classes, multimillionaires and struggling day laborers, who declare they would be in Paradise could they earn $1,430 a year.

It is very evident that precious little prosperity is being experienced by many families on farms as well as in cities.

Another point emphasized is that young men should strive to steer clear of lines of work which can be done equally well by women.

Also, some of the letter writers criticize the complaining clerk for getting a family before getting enough pay to support one.

F. L. RICHARDSON, lawyer of San Diego, Cal., writes:

"Perhaps if he had been as eager to get an income as he was to get a family he would have succeeded better. However, this is probably beside the question.

"The reason that this man is not making better wages is because he is in a business that is probably as competitive, as far as women are concerned, as any business.

"Men that are brought in direct competition with women in business are at a great disadvantage, especially if they have families to support. Not many women in business have families to support. Most of them spend their money on themselves.

"However, the changes taking place in economic conditions will eventually force an increasing number of married men into business. In the Seattle man's case this would be a solution of his problem."

A 26-YEAR-OLD Seattle draftsman, who has a wife and two children and who receives, not $27.50 a week, but $108.34 a month, sends his budget, compared with the other, and showing how he makes ends meet. Thus:

HE adds:

"You will note that no allowance has been made for medical or dental attention, insurance or savings or amusements.

"I have made application for several night jobs, but so far without success. Often I come to the office at 5 a. m. and many times work through till midnight to make sure that my company's mission drawings are presented on time and in the best manner possible. I am not kicking, for I am happiest when I am 'buried' in work.

"There is much money to be had, but we must go and get it. It will not come to us. Though broke, financially, at present, my mentality and ambitions are working overtime. My aim is mighty high—and, what is more, I AM GOING TO REACH MY GOAL."

SEVERAL urge the clerk to consume less and to reduce his expenses in other directions. One married woman writes:

"I am the wife in a similar family, although we have two children instead of one and we must contribute $35 a month toward the support of my parents. A teacher's salary is not sufficient.

"The solution of our problem was my return to the business world. My salary has made university tuition possible for my husband, and by going nights, Saturdays and summers, my husband will soon have his degree. This means a position in high school, with an increase in salary sufficient to make ends meet. When he has his new rating, my office days are over.

"I feel that many a man needs just a little assistance to put him over the top. Perhaps if this other Seattle wife felt as I do she would find a way to help financially and thereby give her husband a chance to find himself."

DON'T you agree that that sounds sensible?

CANADIAN FORD STOCK JUMPS $65 SHARE

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—Common stock of the Ford Motor Car Company of Canada, the only enterprise of Henry Ford in which the outside public now has an interest, opened on the New York curb market today with a block of 180 shares at $700 a share, an over night gain of $65. The stock had sold as low as $393 a share earlier in the year.

Recent accumulation of the stock, which ordinarily changes hands in lots of 10 to 25 shares, has been stimulated by expectations of large earnings through the sale of the new Ford car, which is being placed on the market this week. Yesterday, 600 shares changed hands between 601 and 635, the top and final price representing a net gain of $45. Earlier in the summer, weekly transactions in the issue ranged from 200 to 1,000 shares.

STOCKS RISE AS MONEY RATE IS CUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—Resumption of the upward price movement in today's stock market coincided with the lowering of call money rates from 4½ to 4 per cent. Violent advances of 5 to 17 points took place in some of the high priced specialties, while many of the rail and industrial leaders moved up a point or two.

Speculative interest centered largely in shares of automobile accessory, steel and other companies likely to benefit from Henry Ford's business. Midland Steel Products preferred, which is understood to have an order for automobile frames, soared 17 points to 229, or more than double the year's low of 106, Stewart Warner Speedometer moved up more than 4 points to a new top and there was a brisk demand for Timken Roller Bearing and Briggs Body, other reported recipients of Ford orders.

With about $300,000,000 to be distributed this month in the form of dividends and interest, operators for the advance anticipated a sustained investment demand. United States Steel common, which sold down to 144 yesterday, crossed 147 today and General Motors crossed 127 after showing splendid resistance to selling pressure just above 125. New 1927 peak prices were recorded by Radio Corporation, American Bank Note, Greene Cananea Copper, American Republics, Montgomery Ward, New York Dock and about a dozen others.

Pacific Coast first preferred, which ordinarily changes hands in odd lots, jumped 15 points; Warren Bros. 8, and Rossia Insurance, Commercial Solvents, Houston Oil, American Tobacco, International Harvester and several others sold 4 to 7 points higher. Mack Trucks was in brisk demand, climbing nearly 4 points by early afternoon.

The closing was strong. Brisk bidding for speculative leaders was supplemented in late dealings by large purchases of shares which recently have come into promience in connection with aggressive pool operations. National Biscuit moved up 7 points to a record peak. Total sales approximated 2,600,000 shares.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—The bond market continued steady today, with trading embracing a wide variety of issues, but in moderate volume.

St. Paul Railroad issues were briskly accumulated in further response to the Supreme Court decision favorable to the issuance of new securities under the road's reorganization plan. Most of these bonds, with gains ranging from fractions to 1½ points, were at their highest levels of the year.

Other railway liens were quiet, with some profit taking in those which have been active recently. Industrials were featured by firmness of Inland Steel 5½s, which sold around 103¾. Public utility mortgages were dull and featureless.

The foreign group had an undertone of firmness. Chilean Republic 6s were in moderate demand, and some of the German obligations improved fractionally. New York bankers have made a short-time loan of $3,000,000 to the Westphalia United Electric Power Corporation of Germany.

United States government issues were quiet and easy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

NEWS AND VIEWS

Coolidge Reports Bulls Stocks.

Reports from Washington that President Coolidge's annual message will attempt to dispel talk of business depression and will predict prosperity for the near future had a stimulating effect on the market this afternoon and there was urgent covering in several sections of the list. In addition to the Coolidge report, there was a recession in call money rates to 4 per cent as against loan renewals this morning at 4½, this incident bearing out comment that the tightening money market noted Monday was a temporary development arising out of the corporation settlements and dividends attending the month-end.

—I—

Vanadium Corporation.

Slack in the automotive and steel industrie this summer has affected earnings of Vanadium Corporation of America. Nevertheless Vanadium will close the year with earnings comfortably in excess of dividend needs. Net this year may be estimated at close to $3 a share on the 376,637 capital shares, against $3.26 a share in 1926. Recent buying of the stock that sent it to a new high for the year above 58, compared with a low of 37, is based on the expectation that automotive and steel industries will show marked improvement in 1928 and that this will reflect on Vanadium's earnings. The steel and automotive industries are Vanadium's largest customers.

—I—

Woolen Exports.

Youngstown Optimistic.

Youngstown dispatches say steel makers feel the trade in general will be stimulated by the new Ford car, primary steel producers holding the opinion that Ford orders will develop in a large way for first quarter deliveries. Makers of flat rolled materials, it is thought, will be benefited especially. Much optimism prevails in the area regarding first quarter business. Makers of fireproofing metal materials are said to be benefiting from the prolongation of the construction season in the northern states.

Fog Again Halts Wool Sales.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—The wool sales scheduled for today were postponed owing to fog.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 5 to 8 points and quickly sold about 13 to 17 points net higher on covering or rebuying by some of yesterday's sellers, who were influenced by relatively firm Liverpool cables and a feeling that the market had been fairly well liquidated on yesterday's decline.

January advanced to 19.11c and May to 19.52c, but this rally met southern and local selling and the market was several points off from the best at the end of the first hour.

Private cable advices attributed the relative firmness of Liverpool to month-end trade calling, combined with Bombay and Alexandria buying and a cessation of liquidation.

Buying here by Liverpool supposed to represent the undoing of straddle accounts helped to absorb early offerings and after easing off to 18.93c for January and 19.31c for May or about 2 or 4 points below yesterday's closing quotations, prices rallied on covering. Trading was quiet later, the market holding steady at 19.00c for January or about 5 points net higher at midday.

BUTLER MAN UNDER BAIL IN LOTTERY TICKET CASE

Walter R. Wolfsperger, arrested Monday at Butler by Deputy United States Marshal Edward Holden, is at liberty on $1,000 bond, charged with unlawfully causing lottery tickets to be transported from Binghamton, N. Y., to Butler. He was arrested by State Police and will have a hearing before the United States commissioner.

THIEF SEEKING EXIT ENTERS CELLAR; HELD

Sam Green, Negro, 12, mistook a cellar door for an exit, and was captured late last night after robbing the cash register of several dollars in Andy Rogan's saloon, Third avenue and Dickson street, Homestead. Rogan cornered the Negro after firing five shots.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—Trading on the curb market today was of an almost sensational character in many stocks, fluctuations extending over a wide range, and the volume of business in the active issues was on an extremely large scale.

Ford Motor of Canada again held the most prominent position in the market starting with an overnight gain of 65 points to 700 following an advance of over 40 points in Monday's trading. This movement was a direct result of the public announcement of the coming presentation of the new Ford model.

New high records were made in a long list of issues, including Dominion Stores, which rose 6 points, Aluminum, which advanced 6 points, American Solvents participating preferred and Bohn Aluminum and Brass. Firestone Tire, which had been in urgent demand for some time, rose 15 points to 150, and Washington, D. C., Railway and Electric rose 25 points to 470. Realty Associates of Brooklyn was another strong feature, moving up 4 points. Libbey, Owens Bottling gained 3 points and Maryland Casualty followed yesterday's advance with a further gain of 6 points to above 189.

Continental Oil was an active feature in the petroleum group, reflecting renewed absorption and a number of other oil stocks, including Standard Oil of Indiana, Humble, Vacuum and Gulf Oil made gains ranging from fractions to 2 points.

Some of the utilities also were strong. Associated Oil and Gas moved up over 2 points and Midwest Utilities rose 2 points. St. Paul new issues were strong, the preferred moving up about a point.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Scores Gain

Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company common forged to the front on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today after a period of quiet which had lasted several weeks, following the announcement that the shares would be split up on a three-for-one basis. Price of the issue had ranged around 105½ to 106 during the resting spell.

Near the close Monday the stock developed a noticeably strong appearance and scarcity of the shares at anything like the 106 price was evident. In today's market the early sales were fractionally above 107, with subsequent transactions carrying the quotation to the best price on the shares this year. The stock was ex-dividend the usual quarterly payment of $1.25 early this month. No official statement regarding dividends on the new stock has been made, but there have been rumors in the street that the disbursement on the new common will be at the rate of at least $2 a year, which would be equivalent to $6 on the old stock, against the previous basis of $5 a year.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass developed a strong tone following its rise yesterday to 215. First sales of the issue today were at 220 and subsequent transactions were around that figure. Other glass stocks were quiet.

Blaw Nox Steel lifted its record moderately on a few scattered sales with the Street continuing to hear rumors of favorable dividend action. Fireproofing preferred slipped back a fraction, but only a few shares of the stock changed hands.

Lone Star Gas relinquished its market leadership and while there was a fair turnover of the shares around yesterday's closing price, the activity of the past week appeared to have died down.

Arkansas Gas turned active during the afternoon when several hundred shares changed hands on an advance from the $9 level at which the stock has been holding for some time. It was reported officials of the company were conferring in New York with Cities Service interests, who are expected to close for purchase of the Arkansas company's gas properties at any time now. Regular quarterly dividend of 12 cents a share was declared by the Arkansas directors today.

Just as the market closed Blaw Knox Steel jumped nine points to $110 a share.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—Unexpected lower quotations at Liverpool brought about an early setback today in wheat values here. The Liverpool weakness was ascribed to liberal tenders on the December delivery and to pressure of offerings from Argentina. Opening at ⅝c to 1c decline, Chicago wheat subsequently showed some further setback. Corn, oats and provisions were also easier, corn starting at ⅝c to 1c off and failing to hold rallies.

According to some advices from Buenos Aires current here today, Argentine wheat prospects are good and the crop figures out a total of about 245,000,000 bushels. This was more bearish even than latest previous estimates and together with unlooked for declines at Liverpool gave a distinct advantage at times to sellers in the Chicago market. It was also stated that Argentine offerings to Europe had increased and were 3 pence to 6 pence cheaper.

In addition to Argentine news today effective toward depressing world wheat prices, it was pointed out that supplies in Canada are heavy and the movement to the seaboard proceeding at a rapid rate. On the other hand, trade gossip emphasized that Europe is actively absorbing wheat and flour, that Italy's crop has been reduced and that large European requirements are confirmed.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

LEAGUE VOWS SWEEPING VICE WAR

Leaving the case of William L. King, resigned secretary of the Citizens League of Pittsburgh, who is sought on a warrant charging conspiracy to indict, to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, the members of the league's executive board pledged themselves to stage a new and vigorous campaign against vice here, it was announced at the close of a two-hour meeting held last night in the North Side community house.

Fourteen members of the board, William J. Kane, new secretary and Attorney Ralph H. Smith, counsel for the league, were present. The first work of the organization, in the future, is to enlist the citizens of the county in their program. Next they will expose and proceed against public officials who connive with violators of the law and support those active in the performance of duty.

Third, the league plans to investigate and make public the records of political candidates and every form of irregularity and extravagance by public office holders. The last issue is to hold open forums to discuss matters connected with the league's objectives. The Rev. Dr. J. Alvin Orr, league president, announced that future campaigns of the league will not be made public before action is taken, this being done at the request of Mr. Kane.

Eleven additional bench warrants for the arrest of King, were mailed yesterday to as many western cities. Previous warrants sent to cities in which he once resided have netted no trace of him. King is believed to be in hiding by Chief George W. Murren, who yesterday sent out the additional warrants. Chief Murren did not divulge what new clues he might have.

RADIO IS BETTER WITH BATTERY POWER

Enjoy your radio set

WHEN you turn the switch on your radio set you expect to receive a program from your favorite station that you can enjoy. You expect to hear the music just as it is played—without hum or buzz or other funny noises. If your set is battery powered you'll hear the programs at their best, particularly if the batteries are Evereadys.

Eveready "B" Batteries are noted for their long life, but no Eveready Battery lasts nearly so long as the patented Eveready Layerbilt No. 486. This big "B" battery is made up of layer on layer of active materials—more of them than in any other battery of equal size. That's why it lasts longer and why it gives you more for your money. For economical "B" power, for clear reception and freedom from battery worries use the Eveready Layerbilt, built and backed by the

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of Sarah Elizabeth Stratton who died November 29, 1918.

Her smiling ways and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall.
She had a friendly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet her,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp her hand in the Better Land
Never to part again.

HOMES OF TODAY

With a Touch of Tomorrow

A new era in home building is expressed in this beautiful new stone residence in a location providing restful quiet together with accessibility. It is essentially a place where anybody could be happy.

Suggesting its inviting comfort and livability, we mention the attractive living room, with hand-hewn ceiling beams and artistic log-burning fireplace, library, dining and breakfast rooms and kitchen, four bedrooms with two baths, numerous wardrobes and storage spaces, servant's room and bath.

A home of perfect details and most modern appointment, included in which are a wrought iron circular staircase, parquet floors, Mosaic tile in hall and lavatory, enclosed radiators, metal casements with leaded glass, tile and marble sills, Kelvinator, ventilating fan, and many attractive and unusual features not to be found in the average home.

From the two-car "built-in" heated garage to the colorful slate roof it is complete. This is an excellent opportunity to secure a splendid home at a very remarkable figure.

OFFICIAL—PITTSBURGH

NO. 757.

AN ORDINANCE—Amending a portion of Ordinance No. 16, entitled, "An Ordinance fixing the rentals of storerooms, stalls and stands in the Diamond Market House, and providing the regulations pertaining to said storerooms, stalls and stands," approved by the Mayor, January 23rd, 1923.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That a portion of Ordinance No. 16 entitled, "An Ordinance fixing the rentals of storerooms, stalls and stands in the Diamond Market House, and providing the regulations pertaining to said storerooms, stalls and stands," approved by the Mayor, January 23rd, 1923, which reads as follows:

"Stalls No. 8, 30, 31 and 44—8x10 or 80 square feet at the rate of $8.75 per square foot, or........$700.00 each per annum,"

Shall be and the same is hereby amended to read:

"Stalls No. 8, 30, 31, 8x10 or 80 square feet, at the rate of $8.75 per square foot, or........$700.00 each per annum.

Stall No. 44, 8x8 or 64 square feet, at the rate of $8.75 per square foot or, ........$560.00 per annum."

Section 2. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

Passed in Council, November 21, 1927.

Approved November 25, 1927.

NO. 758.

AN ORDINANCE—Granting permission to Celia Samuels to construct a retaining wall on sidewalk space in front of her property located on Crotzer avenue, at the northeast corner of Barr avenue.

Whereas, in accordance with Ordinance No. 305, approved June 22, 1927, the City of Pittsburgh is grading, paving and curbing Crotzer avenue, from Preston street to Clearview avenue, in conjunction with the Borough of Crafton by authority of Ordinance agreement No. 209, approved March 28, 1927; and,

Whereas, Celia Samuels, the owner of a piece of property on the northerly side of Crotzer avenue, extending from Barr avenue eastwardly a distance of 94.24 feet, desires at her own cost and expense to construct a retaining wall to prevent the slope or the fill from extending over on to her property, and further to have an open space between the building on the property and the street, and desires to have said wall constructed on the sidewalk space of Crotzer avenue so that the northerly face of the wall shall be the northerly line of Crotzer avenue; now, therefore,

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, that Celia Samuels, owner of property fronting 94.24 feet on the northerly side of Crotzer avenue at the northeast corner of Barr avenue, is hereby granted permission to construct a retaining wall along the sidewalk space of Crotzer avenue so that the northerly side of the wall shall be the northerly line of Crotzer avenue, and erect thereon a substantial iron fence of a type approved by the Director of the Department of Public Works, City of Pittsburgh.

Section 2. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance be, and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

Passed in Council November 21, 1927.

No. 759.

AN ORDINANCE—Annulling contract entered into between the City of Pittsburgh and Booth and Flinn Company, for the grading, paving and curbing of Traymore Avenue from Sebring Avenue to Crimson Street, contract countersigned by City Controller July 13, 1927, and providing for the payment to Booth and Flinn Company of the sum of $6,164.69 in full payment of all their claims under said contract.

Whereas, The grading of Traymore Avenue under said contract has been started and a considerable amount of work on the contract carried out, and

Whereas, Property owners abutting the street have requested a change of grade, which request has been investigated, and the Department of Public Works is of the opinion that conditions have changed since the original grade was established, and same should be changed, and

Whereas, Under the terms of the petition ordinance the grade cannot be changed unless requested by 100 per cent of all abutting property owners on the line of the improvement which it is impossible to obtain, and

Whereas, in order to change the grade it becomes necessary to cancel the present contract between the City and Booth & Flinn Co. in order to permit changing the grade, repeal the present improvement ordinance and provide proper legislation for the improvement of the street in accordance with a new contract ordinance, and

Whereas, The Booth & Flinn Co. have agreed in writing to the annullment of said contract conditioned upon payment to them of the sum of $6,164.69, which they have agreed to accept in full payment of all work done and material already furnished and in full satisfaction of all their rights under said contract, now, therefore,

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, that the contract entered into between the City of Pittsburgh and the Booth & Flinn Co., for the grading, paving and curbing of Traymore Avenue, between Sebring Avenue and Crimson Street, contract countersigned by the City Controller July 13, 1927, be and the same is hereby annulled and cancelled.

Section 2. That the said Six Thousand One Hundred Sixty-Four and 69/100 ($6,164.69) Dollars be paid to the Booth & Flinn Co. in full payment of work done and materials furnished and in full satisfaction of all their rights and claims under said contract.

Section 3. That the Mayor be and he is hereby authorized and directed to issue and the City Controller to countersign a warrant in the sum of Six Thousand One Hundred Sixty-Four and 69/100 ($6,164.69) Dollars in favor of Booth & Flinn Co., and charge same to Contingent Fund Code Account No. 42.

Section 4. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

THE BUNGLE FAMILY

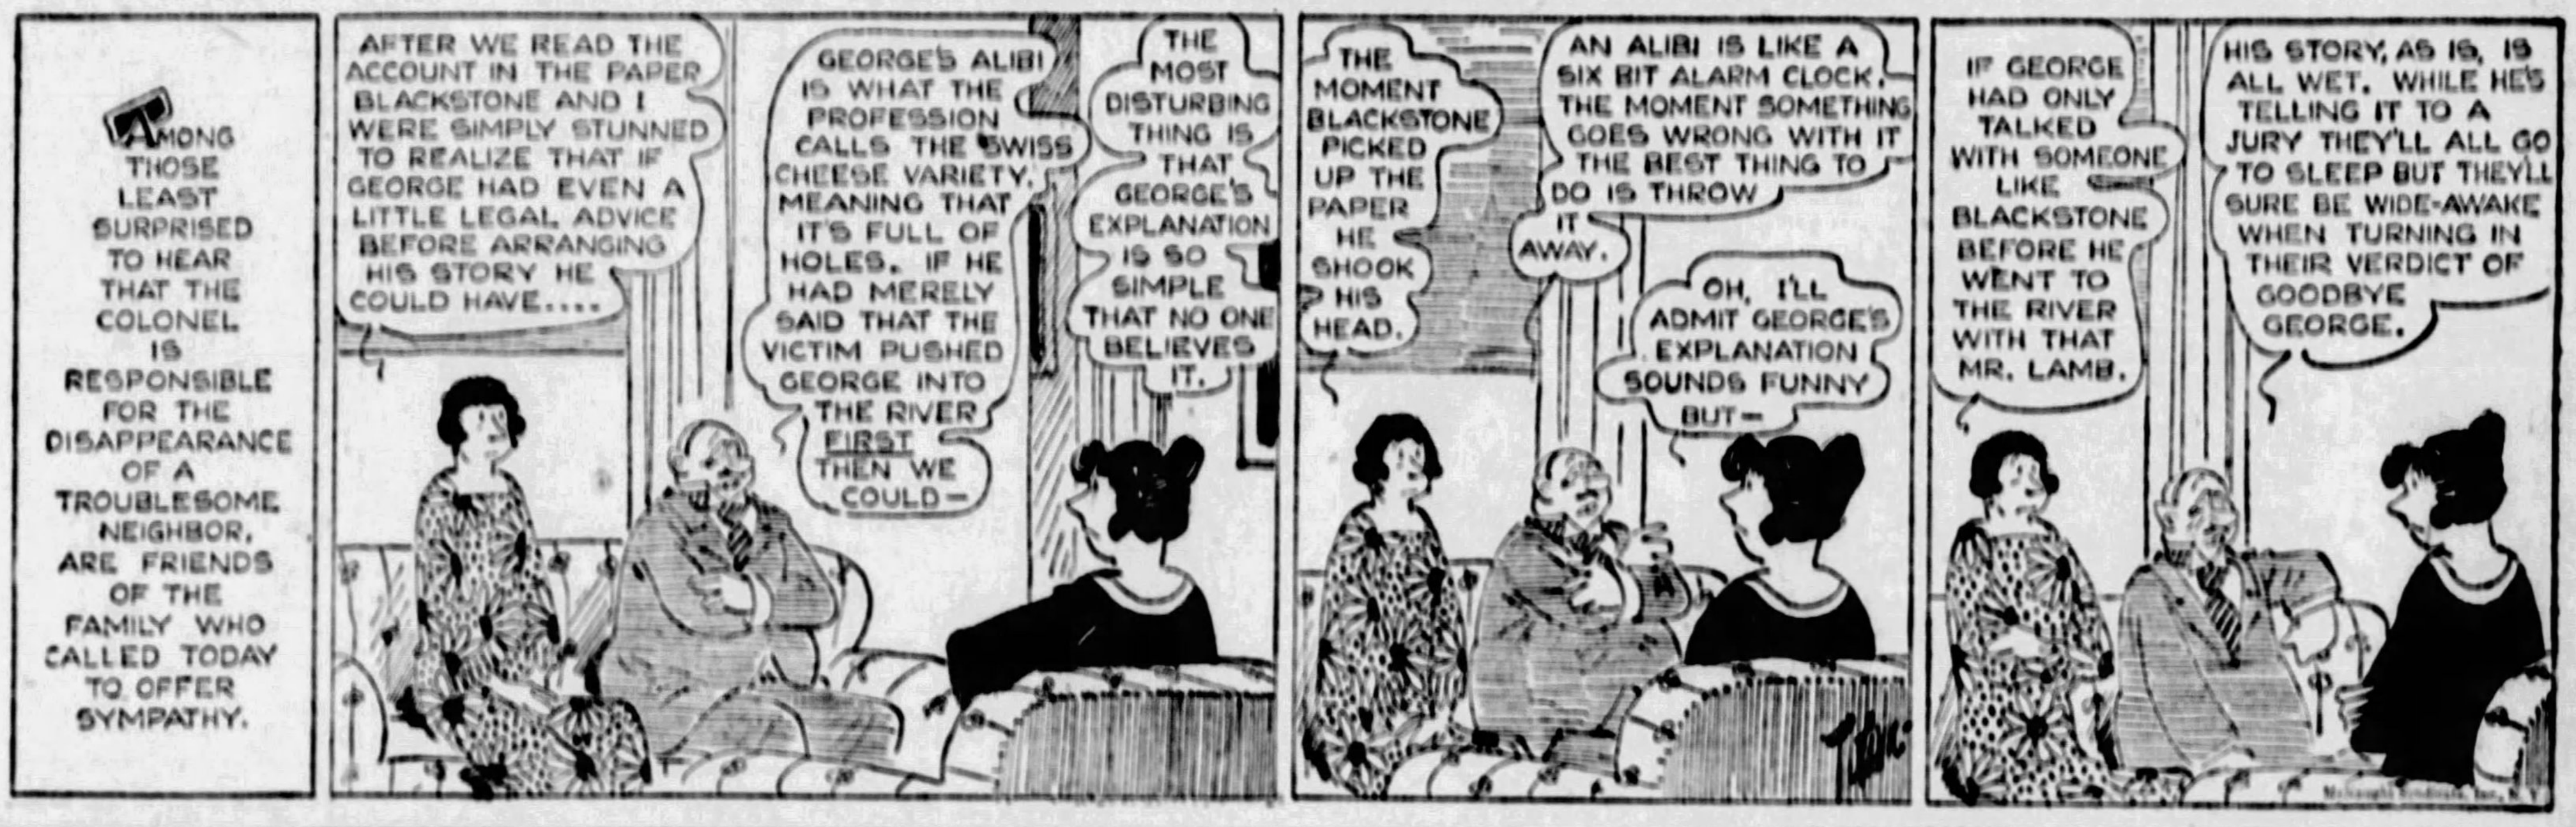
A Friendly Verdict



AMONG THOSE LEAST SURPRISED TO HEAR THAT THE COLONEL IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DISAPPEARANCE OF A TROUBLESOME NEIGHBOR, ARE FRIENDS OF THE FAMILY WHO CALLED TODAY TO OFFER SYMPATHY.
AFTER WE READ THE ACCOUNT IN THE PAPER BLACKSTONE AND I WERE SIMPLY STUNNED TO REALIZE THAT IF GEORGE HAD EVEN A LITTLE LEGAL ADVICE BEFORE ARRANGING HIS STORY HE COULD HAVE....
GEORGE'S ALIBI IS WHAT THE PROFESSION CALLS THE SWISS CHEESE VARIETY, MEANING THAT IT'S FULL OF HOLES. IF HE HAD MERELY SAID THAT THE VICTIM PUSHED GEORGE INTO THE RIVER FIRST THEN WE COULD—
THE MOST DISTURBING THING IS THAT GEORGE'S EXPLANATION IS SO SIMPLE THAT NO ONE BELIEVES IT.
THE MOMENT BLACKSTONE PICKED UP THE PAPER HE SHOOK HIS HEAD.
AN ALIBI IS LIKE A SIX BIT ALARM CLOCK. THE MOMENT SOMETHING GOES WRONG WITH IT THE BEST THING TO DO IS THROW IT AWAY.
OH, I'LL ADMIT GEORGE'S EXPLANATION SOUNDS FUNNY BUT—IF GEORGE HAD ONLY TALKED WITH SOMEONE LIKE BLACKSTONE BEFORE HE WENT TO THE RIVER WITH THAT MR. LAMB.
HIS STORY, AS IS, IS ALL WET. WHILE HE'S TELLING IT TO A JURY THEY'LL ALL GO TO SLEEP BUT THEY'LL SURE BE WIDE-AWAKE WHEN TURNING IN THEIR VERDICT OF GOODBYE GEORGE.

THIS IS THE NOISIEST BANQUET I EVER HEARD EATEN! I WONDER WHO ALL THE SHOUTING'S FOR? THEY WON'T NOTICE ME WHILE THE EXCITEMENT'S AT A PEAK. SO I'LL TAKE ONE!

THIS REMINDS ME OF A BANQUET GIVEN ME BY THE SULTAN OF ZAMBESI, WHEN I WAS THERE LAST FALL—
JUST IMAGINE IT! Ella's looking at John Smith and listening to him—but hasn't an idea who it is! IS THIS FATE—OR WHAT??

BUGS BAER Says

THE annual fall contest between city woodsmen and wild life in the suburbs is a tie game.

Nearly two hundred amateur gunners were lowbrowed in the thick timbers. Some were peppered by strangers, some were salted by themselves, and others just had the usual tough fortune that associates with any man who shoots a squirrel in self defense.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

If we can believe the stories from Maine you can bag more moose with a flivver than you can with a rifle. Many chauffeurs have bumped into moose on the highways when the detours were in bad shape.

A moose is a farmless cow and it is legal to bend fenders out of shape provided that you hold your hand out of the car as a warning.

The moose and elk have not yet become accustomed to the puzzling left turn.

If the gunners would only stay in their cars there would be no accidents except to the deer.

But the urban sharpshooters insist on strolling into the thickets and meeting the rough cattle on even terms.

The result is that eleven snipers will all pop at the same elk. And when the smoke of conflict lifts away the insurance companies pay off on eleven gunners and the elk is still nibbling watercress.

Every state tries to limit the bag of gunners by making them purchase shooting licenses. But these licenses do not state what or who the gunner is supposed to shoot.

Give a man a gun and put him in the woods and he will either shoot all the tassels off the moon or massacre a brother lodge member.

It would be all right if the gunners aimed at each other, for not one of them could hit a barn from the inside. It's when they start turning the muzzles toward the moose that trouble ferments.

A green coat and a red hat is no protection. It's true that you can see a green coat and a red cap for miles in Canada.

But every gunner who is found refrigerated in the sticks is wearing a green blazer and a red top. He has gone North to shoot moose and the first thing he knows he is fighting a duel with a stranger who thinks his ears are antlers.

In the majority of cases the gunner shoots after he sees the green coat and red cap in the bushes.

You cannot blame him. Somebody sold him a gun and a permit. It's his first time in the silent North.

And when he sees the coat and the hat he thinks the moose are dressing differently this year.

Test Nation's Power to Safeguard Oil Supply

It is ridiculous to assert that the Federal Government has no power or excuse to stop the present wasteful methods of producing oil in the United States,

The oil men admit that, if each oil pool were operated in the most scientific manner, they could, before the pool was exhausted, get twice as much oil out of it as they are now getting.

In other words, our present method of production is recovering, for our use, only half as much of our limited supplies of oil as could be recovered. That means that, unless something is done about it, our limited oil resources will last only half as long as they could be made to last,

This being thus, how can the leaders of the oil industry sit back and say that it is none of the Government's business?

On the day when our oil becomes exhausted, as it will become exhausted some day, not a battleship, airplane, tank or motor car can move in the defensive organizations of this country. It doesn't make any difference whether our limit of supplies will last 10 years or 35 years. The point is that their life is being shortened by half.

The present system of extracting oil is imperilling the nation's future and the oil men ought to be patriotically co-operating with the government to find a way to stop this loss, instead of fighting every attempt of the government to find a way to protect the nation,

Now, what is the matter? The highly paid and extremely skilful lawyers of the oil companies say that we cannot do anything to interfere with the constitutional property rights of the various property owners situated over each oil pool. Each of them it is claimed, has the constitutional right to go on drilling just as many wells as he pleases on his land, drawing off the oil and the gas pressure which are the joint property of all the owners of the oil pool, and thus forcing every other owner to drill in mad, competitive haste, lest he miss getting his share of the joint product.

It takes a constitutional lawyer to weep over the threats to the rights of these landowners if by law they were compelled to act co-operatively, drill sanely and scientifically and extract twice as much oil as they are now getting out of the ground! There are very learned lawyers who solemnly argue that, if the government thus doubled the property values of these gentlemen, it would be interfering with their sacred rights guaranteed by the Constitution. Too bad, isn't it?

The average citizen—and, we believe, Congress and the Supreme Court—will brush aside these legal cobwebs spun before our eyes by big oil interests that want nothing but to be let alone.

The average citizen—and, we believe, Congress and the Supreme Court—will be more likely to think of the safety of the Republic and the rights of the hundred odd million people who do not own oil lands—their right to be protected by the national defense organizations as long as oil for those organizations can be conserved,

Today's methods of oil production represent a wicked and indefensible waste of the nation's most precious possession. That waste can be stopped by national legislation, based upon the soundest grounds. Fortunately, the legislation will increase instead of decrease the value of the private property affected.

By all means let this legislation be prepared and put through Congress. If the Constitution bars us from thus protecting ourselves, let's find it out and amend the Constitution.

Supertax on Prize Ring

The House Ways and Means Committee, framing the new tax bill, is to be congratulated on its action regarding the tax on tickets to prize fights.

The present tax is 10 per cent. The committee continues that on admissions costing $5 or less. On admissions above $5 it increases the tax to 25 per cent.

This increase in part of the tax is plainly in the interest of better morals, since it serves as notice of the nation's disapproval of a peculiarly vicious form of enterprise.

It would be a more effective notice if all of the tax were increased as much or more.

A penalty tax on mayhem for pay has justification as one means of deterrence, but additional action by public authority, both Federal and State, is needed.

Congress should ascertain whether it has power to deal more stringently with exhibitions of films of prize fights.

States should be made to see the anomaly as well as public peril in their permitting exhibitions of films which the nation has said may not lawfully be transported across State lines.

Above all, the decent opinion of the American people, irresistible when aroused, should organize, as in New York, to withdraw the sanction of law from these bestial encounters and thus drive them beyond the pale of even the semblance of respectability.

We sincerely hope that the deluge of protests from profiteers in this form of exploited depravity will not swerve either the Ways and Means Committee or Congress.

As All Judges Should Do

Some of the reports indicate that Washington was surprised when Justice Siddons ordered an investigation of his own of the Fall-Sinclair jury tampering charges.

It would have been more surprising had he not done so.

Here, if ever, was a flagrant instance of contempt of court. A trial judge who should leave to other agencies the task of ascertaining the truth and administering punishment where guilt was established would certainly not meet the full demands of his office.

Recently complaint has become widespread that judges facing signs of the breakdown of justice in their courts have taken few steps to inquire or punish. Movements for further legislation abound.

More law will not meet the need unless the law that we now have is administered fearlessly.

Something drastic is required to teach perverters of justice that they are not above or beyond the reach of penalty.

Garrett P Serviss Says:

A Bomb From Space

THAT the fall of an immense meteorite may produce a shock felt a thousand miles away, and resembling an earthquake, is shown by the history of a remarkable discovery recently announced in Russia by the Soviet Academy of Sciences. In a remote region of the Yenesei Province, explorers have found the marks and some of the remains of a meteorite which must have been of enormous size, the fall of which was noted in the summer of 1908, though the place of descent of the giant celestial projectile was not discovered at the time.

This place is almost inaccessible, lying in the midst of a marshy forest. Apparently the great missile burst into many fragments during its fall, before it struck the earth, for the soft ground is pitted over an area more than a mile in diameter with holes, many of which are from 50 to 100 feet in diameter. Besides the forest to a distance of 15 miles from the site of the fall is reported to have been leveled to the ground, the scorched trunks of the trees indicating that intense heat played a part in the phenomenon.

Coincidently with the fall of the meteorite in 1908 the seismological instruments at Irkutsk, 900 miles away, and at Kirensk and Illimsk, which are about 250 miles distant, recorded the shock and tremors produced by it, which were taken to be those of an earthquake. The weight of the fallen mass is estimated to have been nearly half a million tons. The imagination shrinks from the thought of what the effect would have been if that meteorite had descended on a populous district or in the midst of a city!

This astonishing event is not without precedent, for the fall of a similar meteoric mass is believed to have produced the huge crater in the Arizona plateau near Canyon Diablo. In this case, however, the meteorite would seem to have preserved itself almost intact until it struck the hard rock, in which it tore a cavity 4,000 feet in diameter, and which is yet, today, 600 feet in depth. There are reasons, however, for assuming that the mass was probably not composed of a single body even before it entered the atmosphere, but rather of a very compact swarm of heavy meteors. The date of the Arizona catastrophe is unknown. It probably occurred ages ago, for there are no Indian traditions referring to it.

In the recent Siberian case the flying masses must have been more scattered, although, even so, the effects were like those of a compact charge of gigantic buckshot. The intense heat is easily accounted for, because the velocity of meteors is always very great and the rapid retardation by air resistance, followed by the tremendous transformation of kinetic energy by the sudden stoppage of a fast-moving mass of half a million tons, would develop a very high temperature. Flaming gases would be sprayed far around, producing the charring of the forest trees, while the leveling of the trunks to the ground might have resulted from a destructive wind developed by the rushing mass. In the Alps winds have repeatedly been driven before "mountain falls" with such violence as to level small forests and blow houses away from their foundations.

Other indications than the significant Arizona crater and this Siberian crash that the earth is not exempt from an occasional disastrous hit from outer space are known, such as the huge masses of meteoric iron from Greenland and other localities to be seen in the American Museum in Washington and elsewhere. There is no clue to indicate with certainty the place or the mode of origin of these strange masses, nor any rules by the aid of which either scientists or soothsayers may predict the time or place of their fall. We do not know, either, whether they were formed within the solar system or came from regions far outside it, like messengers, or missiles, from the stars.

Be Alert and Learn Daily

NOT enlightened upon any subject a bit more than you were six month ago? Man, it is an awful admission.

The explanation lies in the fact that you have not tried to learn.

Arouse your interest in something; don't just keep jogging along.

When you see something that you want, when something you desire to do presents itself, are you almost uncontrollably tempted to carry out your inclinations?

Then do you think so much about the matter that you are completely dissatisfied until you do get possession of the article or thing you want?

Have you not often had the contradictory experience of not caring much for the coveted object once it came into your possession?

Sometimes these strong desires have caused you to go far beyond your means in an effort to procure it.

Afterward, when you came to realize how unnecessary to you is the thing you worked so hard to get, you blamed yourself for your foolishness.

And you resolved not to give way again to unreasonable desires.

You are a pretty weak individual if you allow yourself to be persuaded against your good judgment.

Old Friends

THOUGH it is often well to get away
From dull routine that rules us, day on day,
When I leave home I miss such faithful friends,
I'm happiest the day my journey ends!

The firelight greets me here when I get back,
Its flames aglow with lights all strange fires lack,
And in my corner of the ingle-nook
I find my well-worn chair, my dearest book.

And here upon the mantel-shelf a voice,
"Tick-tock, tick-tock," that makes my heart rejoice;
The clock, whose steady accents only seem
To add fresh quiet to this tranquil dream.

Old friends they are, friends honest, true and tried;
When I go out to wander far and wide
So much I miss their notes from life's refrain
That I am gladdest when I'm home again

New York Day by Day

by O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—For several seasons now, Broadway has been indulging a sly jest about a motion picture actress who deserted her studio to achieve stardom in musical comedy. She had married a very rich man who was equally anxious for her,

Broadway, in its gossipy way, had the notion her success on the screen—which was in no way spectacular—was due, largely, to the influence and backing of her husband. A thousand and one quips were fashioned behind their backs.

It was admitted the lady had beauty and some charm—but few thoughts she had stage ability. At almost every first night they were in first row seats where she studied the stage and its people. Her leisure time was spent studying elocution and voice culture.

About a year ago she was scheduled for stardom in a play especially written for her and which was to open in a new theater. There were reams of publicity, a few subtle digs here and there and Broadway waited for the long expected event.

At the last moment something happened. Another was substituted in the star role—and Broadway chuckled. As I recall, it was hinted the movie star was not considered adequate for the role and after long rehearsals another replaced her.

All this accentuated the jesting. A few months ago it was announced the lady would make another attempt at stardom. Wise and cynical Broadway went with tongue in its cheek. Actresses at liberty took their fans to titter behind.

The star swept forth in the most gorgeous stage settings the Rialto has seen in many a day. And the audience sat taut—waiting for her to crack on a high note. Instead, the lady achieved a complete personal triumph. And the critics went away to rave. While her musical comedy was not an outstanding hit, she won an individual triumph that permanently establishes her. The lady's name is Hope Hampton.

Ben Bernie took his orchestra to a movie opening as personal tribute to the star. They stood in the foyer and played rousing tunes while the star arrived and motion picture cameras clicked. In the morning Bernie awakened at his usual hour to find it dark. Shortly afterward two of his bandmen telephoned in hysterical alarm they were blind. An investigation proved all had been scorched by the Kleig lights and for several days they appeared wearing dark glasses.

New York's newest building wonder is to span Park avenue with traffic flowing through the arches. This innovation may extend to other streets, it is whispered, thereby blocking off more sunshine for millions who do not get enough of it as it is.

There is a magazine writer who invariably romps in with his stories at the last possible moment. He explained the other evening they were always finished ahead of time but, in keeping the editor in a state of anxiety, it resulted in the editor being more interested in the arrival of the story than the story itself. Tricks to all trades.

The smart night of the week in New York cafes, theaters and supper clubs is on Tuesday. Saturday night is turned over to the so-called hoi-polloi. And having made their weekly splurge, they await the next Saturday splash.

When Mayor Walker enters a public place, the orchestra, to his annoyance, usually strikes up his song, "Will You Love Me in December, etc." And the song, incidentally, due to its revival, is again paying slight royalties.

One of those brisk types of go-getters called this morning. You felt instinctively he was the sort who came out of bed with a bound to touch his hands to the floor 20 times. He was drumming up interest for a new school of exercising at your desk and was so enthusiastic I hadn't the heart to tell him my only exercise was the annual Hallowe'en apple bobbing with the grandchildren.

Substitutes for Wood Again

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

My recent article on "Substitutes for Wood" seems to have aroused considerable controversy.

I have had a flood of letters from people in the wood business, telling me how wrong the article was.

I did not know that I was entering the controversial field when I wrote the article, but it seems I was. Therefore, for the benefit of the reader who wishes to be unbiased I will present some of the wood propagandists' points which they make in their letters to me.

Any other substance cannot have the resiliency that wood has,

Not 40,000,000,000 feet of lumber are destroyed every year to make 900,000,000 ties, and all the lumber cut for all purposes in the United States is less than 4,000,000,000 feet.

Lumber used for ties is rarely good for anything else. If it were not made up into ties it would be burned for fire wood or otherwise wasted.

Substitutes for wood have been tried by railroads and discarded.

England has discarded metal ties, and recently the Los Angeles Railroad has gone back to wooden ties after long use of the other kind.

Newspapers are the great robbers of forests and not railroad tie companies. One Sunday edition of the newspaper recently consumed enough wood to cover 65 acres.

A good creosoted tie lasts 25 years, and not eight.

The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad put in wooden ties in 1911. They are good yet and they expect them to last 20 years longer.

A railroad owned by a steel company recently went back to wooden ties.

Wooden ties are cheaper than metal ties, and they keep fastenings tighter. Steel ties interfere with insulation and in case of derailing, steel ties are of no further use.

The forests are not being depopulated by the inroads for ties, but they will probably last indefinitely.

These items are culled from letters sent to me and I am not responsible for their accuracy, but at least you have both sides of the question.

LISTEN, WORLD!

Human Nature Changes

GRANDPA WEATHERBEE says that all this talk about Modern Problems and the Younger Generation is stuff and nonsense.

"Human nature doesn't change," he says. "Folks aren't really any different than they were in my day. It's just all this fool talk—that's what's stirring things up."

Most of us will agree with Grandpa Weatherbee when he says that human nature doesn't change. We have heard that statement so often that we believe it is one of the eternal verities—like one and one making two. It isn't! Human nature DOES change! And modern youngsters HAVEN'T the same reactions as the youngsters of Grandpa's youth!

It is true that fear and desire lie at the bottom of human nature—whether it be a cave man's nature or the nature of a gentleman of 1927. But the fear and desire are so modified, adjusted and added to the development of the race and the changing of environment, that the original pattern is entirely altered.

The pattern of the cave man's nature was a very simple thing. He lived the life of a brute and felt a brute's reactions and impulses. His whole program was about as complicated as that of a good, lively fish-worm—and his nature was fitted to his program and environment. What use would he have had for a twentieth century psychological equipment? Notta use! He had human nature in the kindergarten grade.

The cave era passed. Society spread out, became intensely complicated. People lived in houses, acquired possessions, formed nations, made laws. With each move, human nature faced new demands and made new adjustments to those demands. It "conditioned" itself.

That phrase "conditioning" is a new term and a good one. It means adjustment to environment. If your environment is simple, you can stay simple. You don't have to adjust very much. If your environment is crowded and complicated, you have to adjust a lot. And sometimes it raises Cain with you.

The cave man was conditioned to bears and storms, cold caves, raw meat and rude neighbors. Life was peevish, but not intricate, and he carried most of his human nature in his legs and fists.

Grandpa was conditioned to ox carts and oil lamps, home-made bread and empty streets after 8 p. m. His human nature had developed to a point where it dealt with these things—and there it stopped.

Then electricity broke upon the world and life speeded up inconceivably. It speeded up more in 20 years than it had in the previous 200 or 2,000. The youngster of today is conditioned to tension, tests and temptations of which his forefathers never dreamed. He isn't the same sort of human being at all—the pattern has entirely changed. Speed and space have been smashed to smithereens for the youngster of today. He must learn to live in the air and under the water as well as on earth. His mind and his spirit must adjust themselves to new planes of existence as well as his body. He can no more use human nature which his grandpa used than he can use grandpa's one horse chaise or great-great-great grandpa's bear skin pants.

Think of that when you try to judge the youngster of today by the rule o' thumb which worked in your youth.
